SLOAN SLAMS CONSTITUTION

Tells President It Is Hodge Podge.

Arizona's Governor Says He's Going Home to Fight Its Adoption.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. Sloan of Arizona told the President today that he considers the new Constitution for the proposed State of Arizona is the worst hodge podge of eccentricities and peculiarities ever turned out and that he is going back to the Territory to begin a fight against its ratification by the people.

Gov. Sloan told the President of the work that has been done by the Constitutional Convention.

The Constitution adopted by it will be submitted to the people in an election within sixty days. If it is adopted as it stands, President Taft might not approve it, thereby preventing the State from coming into the Union until its Constitution is stripped of its curiosities.

"There has been a big change in sentiment since the delegates to the convention were elected," said Gov. Sloan, "and I am confident that the proposed Constitution will be badly defeated at the polls. It is about the worst affair ever turned out and is objectionable to all classes."

INSIST ON RECALL OF THE JUDICIARY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] On a final vote, the recall was placed in the new Constitution of Arizona by a vote of 23 to 9. Tuthill, of Graham county, being the only member who voted in the negative. There had been much preliminary skirmishing over the measure, especially over the inclusion of the judiciary. Baker, a Democrat, moved that there apply be a provision that the Legislature enact a general recall measure. Cassidy, Democrat, moved to recommit as a proposition for separate submission to the voters. Lynch, Democrat, moved that judges of courts of record be excepted. But all of these were lost, the last by a vote of 33 to 15, the Republicans in opposition being joined by Lynch, Orme, Tuthill, Baker, Cassidy and Standage.

The telegram to Webb from Senator Bailey referred to in yesterday's "Times" was read by Baker. Webb had wired asking if the recall, including the judiciary, would, in Bailey's opinion, endanger approval of the Constitution by the President and Congress.

TRICK CONGRESS, IS ADVICE.

Bailey answered: "The provisions you specify are apt to provoke opposition of the President and might invite the disapproval of Congress. I am sincerely anxious to see Arizona admitted to the Union and I advise our friends to adopt a Constitution free

TRIBUTE PAID TO GREAT SOLDIER.

HELEN TAFT UNVEILS STATUE OF BARON VON STEUBEN.

President of United States and Other Noted Men Join in Honoring Memory of German Noble Who Helped Win Independence. Monument Stands in Washington.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Another statue, erected in honor of a distinguished foreign soldier, who helped bring success to American arms in the Revolution, was unveiled today and now the figure of Baron Von Steuben fills the last of the four corners in Lafayette Square facing the White House.

At the other three corners stand the heroic bronze figures of Lafayette, Rochambeau and Kosciusko.

German-Americans gathered from all parts of the country to participate in the imposing military and civil parade and ceremonies today.

President Taft paid high tribute to Von Steuben for his work in bringing efficiency to the American arms, and Miss Helen Taft, the President's daughter, released the American flag draped about the statue.

IMPRESSIVE SCENE.

The scene at the unveiling was one of unusual impressiveness. Lafayette Park lay deep in snow, but overhead a brilliant winter sun was shining from a cloudless sky. An amphitheater of flag-draped stands had been erected about the statue and from scores of staffs, German and American flags were flying. Soldiers, sailors and marines were drawn up in the streets adjacent to the square.

President Taft's advent was heralded by a blast of trumpets, and he was escorted from the White House by a troop of cavalry.

President Taft said: "We dedicate today the last of the monuments which fill the four corners of this beautiful headquarters and which testify to the gratitude of the American people to those from France, from Poland and from Prussia, who aided them in their struggle for national independence and existence.

VON STEUBEN FIRST.

"Lafayette, Rochambeau, Kosciusko and Von Steuben contributed much to the success of the American arms in the Revolution. The assistance of the first three was perhaps more conspicuous and spectacular than that of Von Stuben, but it was not so valuable.

"Von Steuben was a trained soldier from boyhood. He learned his profession in the best of schools—that is, in actual warfare, under the direct instruction of the greatest master of the art of war of the eighteenth century. The character and severity of the drill and discipline and the tactics of the German army were as exceptional in the days of Frederick William and of Frederick the Great as they are today.

"Baron Von Steuben came to this country actuated by the highest motives of patriotism to help us achieve liberty and he brought with him that which was without money and without price and which he infused into the rank and file of the Revolutionary army—discipline and order.

"He began his difficult task with the army at Valley Forge in the winter of 1777-78 and as early as May of 1778

SENSATION.

DRAMATIC OUTBREAK.

Dead Man's Mother Shouts In Court.

"It's a Lie!" Cries Aged Woman as Son Is Exonerated by Lawyer.

Tears Course Down Cheeks as She Hears the Bitter Words Pronounced.

Moore Case Will Go to Jury in Indiana Murder Trial Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VINCENNES (Ind.) Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "It's a lie! It's all a lie!" cried the gray-haired mother of Charles Edward Gibson, as she arose in the courtroom late this afternoon to defend her dead son against the attacks of counsel for Menlo E. Moore, on trial for the murdere of Gibson, a millionaire.

As the tears coursed down her cheeks and suppressing a sob which choked her voice, she left her seat and stepped into the aisle, half talking and half crying:

"That's my son and I know it's a lie. It's all a lie."

Moore is being tried for killing Gibson, whom he charges with breaking up his home.

Four times the aged woman repeated her statement. Clarence B. Kessinger, attorney for the defense, stopped in the midst of a bitter denunciation of Gibson to listen. He made no request for the court to silence the dead man's mother and when she concluded her charges, he resumed his argument.

BITTER ARRAIGNMENT.

"This man Gibson was a libertine, the dirty scoundrel, relentless and determined in his pursuit of Mrs. Moore," he shouted. "He ought to have been hanged higher than Haman. How deep-dyed and how black must have been his villainy. The only thing he cared about was not to get hurt. He got hurt finally and I thank God for one that he did. He ought to have received everything he did receive at the hands of Moore. He knew he ought to die. He knew he was doing things for which men die. Home was nothing more than a harem to him."

Confessing the homicide and the act as being done by Moore, Mr. Iman for the defense asserted that "Moore was of an unsound mind when he killed the despoiler of his home and therefore guilty of no criminal act," and in addition, declared "he killed Gibson under the God-given and man-given right of self-defense, a law unto itself, written in the breast of every human being."

DENOUNCES GIBSON.

Attorney Clarence B. Kessinger spoke for the defense immediately after court convened this afternoon. He denounced Gibson as a man of the blackest character. He denied statements made by Attorney Pritchett of the State that Arna Padgett's reputation was not what it ought to have been before she married Moore. The evidence, he said, has not been introduced to show the statement to be a fact. Kessinger pictured Moore as a nervous wreck, "a fabric frail in its nature and ready to break at first token of danger," he said.

Owing to the fact that Judge Shaw, who will close for the State, is in poor health and will talk slowly, the case will not go to the jury until about 3 of 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The prevailing opinion here is that the jury will acquit on the grounds of insanity, although there is a possibility of a disagreement, or even conviction on a charge of manslaughter. Considerable money has been wagered on the result with the odd favoring acquittal.

ABERNATHY WOULD QUIT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—"Jack" Abernathy, United States Marshal for Oklahoma, an appointee of former President Roosevelt, came to Washington today and handed his resignation to Atty.-Gen. Wickersham. Charges had been preferred against the marshal, but he did not wait to hear what they were. Abernathy came East on a leave of absence to answer charges against him and to see Atty.-Gen. Wickersham. There was a great rush of Congressional callers, and the marshal was kept waiting all morning.

After demanding several times to see the Attorney-General, Abernathy got tired of waiting, wrote out a resignation, presented it to Frank Cole, Mr. Wickersham's private secretary, and stalked out. The marshal announced he was going to New York, where he would see Col. Roosevelt.

"I've got business there," he said, "but of course I'll see the Colonel. I didn't wait to see the charges against me, but I've got an idea of what they are, and if such charges make me incompetent, I don't want the job."

Hattie Le Blanc.
Cape Breton girl on trial in Cambridge, Mass., for murder, whose remarkable statement after her arrest was yesterday admitted by the court.

DRAMATIC.

GIRL'S STORY OF SHOOTING IS ADMITTED BY COURT.

Hattie Le Blanc's Statement at Police Station Makes It Appear That Glover's Proposals Angered Her But She Fled Before He Was Killed.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Dec 7.—At today's session of the trial of Hattie Le Blanc, charged with the murder of Clarence F. Glover, testimony was given concerning statements alleged to have been made by Miss Le Blanc immediately after her arrest, three days after the shooting.

According to this testimony, the accused girl admitted that she had been in the laundry with Glover on the fatal night, that she saw the revolver in Glover's hand, struggled with him when he is said to have assaulted her, heard a noise in the laundry like the rustle of a woman's skirt, and which also attracted Glover's attention, escaped from his clutches and then heard a shot fired.

The testimony was given by Zella Gallant, who said she interpreted the statements which the Le Blanc girl made in French to the police.

Miss Gallant also swore that Hattie Le Blanc said she never shot Glover, that she did not know how to use a revolver, that she was angry with Glover for his conduct toward her, and that she had heard other persons say that some one would shoot Glover.

The defense scored another point today when Judge Bond refused to admit that part of the stenographic report which referred to Glover's alleged dying statement that Hattie had shot him.

Alhough Melville M. Johnson, chief counsel for the defense, was taken violently ill during the proceedings today and was hurried away to a hospital, the trial proceeded with associate counsel in charge of the girl's case.

Mayor Walker of Waltham described Hattie's appearance at the police hearing, saying she looked "just like a little bird that had flown in through a window and against a wall. If you know how such a bird looks you will understand what I mean."

Dist.-Atty. Higgins read to the court Hattie's statement at the Police Station examination. According to this statement Hattie said she was 16 years old and that she had left her home in West Architat, C. B., when she was fifteen. She had gone directly to Mrs. Glover's home in Waltham where she had lived ever since.

On November 20, 1909, the day of the murder of Glover, she said, Glover asked her to meet him in the laundry. There he made improper proposals which she rejected. Then he attacked her, choking her to make her stop crying. Glover had a revolver in his hand at the time but she never touched the revolver. He threatened to kill her if she told what had occured.

Breaking away from Glover, she ran and as she reached the bottom of the stairs, she heard a shot. When she reached the foot of the stairs the door was locked and she went out through a window, going directly to the Glover home, where she hid under the bed in the guest chamber. She remained there until she was discovered on the night of the following Tuesday.

During the time she was under the bed she had nothing to eat or drink, she said, nor did she see Mrs. Glover, Mr. Elmore or Mr. and Mrs. Freeman.

BRITISH ELECTIONS.

YOUNG ASTOR WINS AND REDMOND IS TROUNCED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The standing of the parties at the close of today's polling was:

Opposition: Unionists, 170.

The Uunionists secured six gains in today's polings, the results of which were announced tonight, and suffered a loss of only two seats. They thus return to the position held before yesterday's voting. The Unionist total gains for the four days are 18, the Liberal gains are 11, and the Labor, 4. Among the Nationalists, the O'Brionites hald five seats.

The most notable Unionist victory was in Cardiff, which has gone Unionist only once in twenty-five years. This victory was largely due to the personal popularity of Lord Chrichton-Stuart, who overcame a Liberal majority of 155, winning by 299, and the withdrawal from politics of the old member, D. A. Thomas, who was replaced in the Liberal interest by Sir C. Hyde.

GREATER SURPRISE.

There was an even greater surprise, however, in the capture of Plymouth by Waldorf Astor, and A. Shirley Benn, John Brown's old opponent in Battersea, who took M. Durand's place as the running mate of the young Anglo-American. They proved a good team, and the work that Astor had done in the constituency was shown in his success in replacing C. E. Mallet, financial secretary to the War Office, who is the first minister to be defeated.

Almost everywhere in the country the Labor and Liberal vote decreased and the Unionists were more pleased with their gains here than anywhere else.

The government gets some comfort from London, all the districts of which are now polled. Today the Liberals won Stepney, which was Unionist, and the Laborites gained Bow and Browley. The latter seat was captured by George Lasnbury, an avowed Socialist, whom Chancellor Lloyd George advised the Liberals to support in preference to L. S. Amery, the historian, who is a tariff reformer.

COMPLICATIONS IN IRELAND.

These victories brought the coalition gains in the metropolis up to four, against two losses. The Rt. Hon. Sydney Buxton, president of the Board of Trade, like John Burns, greatly increased his majority.

The success of William O'Brien in Cork and the possibility of his further increasing his following complicates the situation. The Unionists are asking what the government will do if it has to face a stronger Unionist

TROUBLES

PRESIDENT PERPLEXED.

Politicians Want to Name Appointees.

Situation Is of Greater Complexity Than Any Other in Quarter Century.

BY SUMNER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the new session of Congress only three days old there has developed a political situation of greater complexity than any presented for a quarter of a century.

Political involvements with respect to the judicial appointments falling to the lot of President Taft form chief features. Progressive schemes to get control of the Republican organization form another. Democratic strategy is a third factor.

The East, closely in touch with administration affairs, is just awakening to the seriousness of the whole business. In the center of the meeltroom of events appears the administration itself. It is on the brink of a struggle for the mastery of the party machinery—a contest that leads directly into the national campaign of 1912. The skirmishing is on; the opposing strategy boards are at work; there are battles ahead, the true inwardness of which no longer can be denied.

PRESIDENT AND OPPOSITION.

President Taft has tried to bring the opposition into his own camp and the opposition has been lying awake nights to make this attempt a mockery.

However patriotic the effort to keep the judicial appointments divorced from political considerations may have been it has failed. President Taft, by reason of the complications arising, has been forced to recognize the considerations."

In the first instance there arose the demand of the Democratic Senators that one of the new associate justices of the Supreme Court be selected from among men of the Democratic faith. To this demand the President acceded—and thought his troubles were over. Now he finds that he also must hearken to the demands of a faction within his own party, and he is sore perplexed.

It has developed that the little band of insurgent Senators holding what almost if not quite amounts to a balance of power, can embarrass the executive seriously if he does not name justices who meet their full approval. And this situation—further embarrassing the Executive—has aroused the old guard, which is inclined to resent any deference to the insurgents who a few months ago were regarded merely as aggravating factors. In short, the President is between two hot fires.

TENTATIVE SLATE.

It was stated tonight that the President had seriously considered the following slate of Supreme Court selections:

Associate Justice Charles E. Hughes, to be Chief Justice.

Circuit Judge William C. Hook of Kansas, to be associate justice.

Joseph R. Lamar of Georgia, formerly Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of that State, to be associate justice.

But this slate is only tentative. There was a belief in certain circles that the associate justice to be selected from the Eighth circuit would be W. D. McHugh of Nebraska, who is a Gold Democrat. This selection would mean the naming of the second associate justice from some Eastern State and a Republican. It might mean Judge Swayze of New Jersey who has been in the discard the last few years because of the late developments.

McHugh might satisfy the Democratic Senators who have demanded recognition. Lamar would be acceptable to them. Hook would suit the insurgents Republicans but just because the insurgents would be suited by this means, the regulars would not and there you are.

MANY SUGGESTED.

In the search for Democratic material for the Supreme Court it developed today that inquiries had gone out relative to John B. Winslow, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin. Judge Winslow is a close personal friend of former United States Senator John C. Spooner, who had a conference with President Taft today. It is not certain that Judge Winslow would meet the approval of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin should his nomination be sent to the Senate.

It also developed that a large bundle of recommendations for Neal Brown of Wausau, Wis., who for years has been prominent in the Democratic politics of the Badger State, has been received here. It is practically certain Senator La Follette would oppose Brown because of his connection with corporations, especially water power interests.

To add to the many other complications came the announcement from the White House today that the President would consider all the circuit judges in the Eighth circuit who had passed upon the Standard Oil case now pending in the Supreme Court.

Advices State French Soldiers in West Africa Rout Natives With Heavy Losses.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PARIS, Dec. 7.—Official advices confirm earlier reports that Lieut.-Col. Moit, Lieut. Jolly and two under officers were killed in the engagement between a French column and tribesmen in the Ouaial region of Senegal, French West Africa. The French forces repulsed the enemy but suffered severely.

The French column was attacked by 7000 natives on November 9 and the fighting lasted an hour and a half, when the enemy was routed, leaving 600 dead and many wounded on the field. The French lost six officers and twenty-eight tirailleurs killed.

STIRRED THINGS UP.

APPEASING THE EMOTIONS OF THE JAPANESE ADMIRAL.

Latest Developments in the Social Faux Pas Made by a Pasadena Hotel Man—Facts Substantiated by Statements of Two of the Invited Ladies Who Shied at the Proposed Ball—Statement by Mayor Earley.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7, 1910.

After hearing the statements of the management of The Times relative to the sources of information regarding the article published in The Times Wednesday morning, as to the proposed ball to Japanese navy officers, I am convinced that The Times had a basis for the article in question that they thought correct. In saying that the article was "unfounded," the previous signed official statement sent out from Pasadena did The Times an injustice.

THOMAS EARLEY,
Mayor of Pasadena.

Never before have young ladies turned up their fascinating noses at an invitation to a dance with such extraordinary results as in the case of some of the Pasadena girls who shied at going to a suggested ball in honor of the Japanese navy officers.

The only way to avoid international complications seems to be to call in the Mikado to witness the chastisement of the offending belles by their horrified parents.

This not being practical, for several reasons, some of Pasadena's prominent men have adopted the alternative of sending the Mikado's fleet away with a shower of resolutions.

The Mayor of Pasadena assures the admiral that it isn't so, and the Pasadena Board of trade says it isn't.

Also D. M. Linnard of the Maryland hastens to the edge of the foaming billows and shouts after the Japanese fleet to please believe him that it isn't so.

The appearance of Mr. Linnard upon the scene is somewhat amazing. Nobody mentioned Mr. Linnard in The Times article—or Mr. Linnard's hotel, the Maryland. But when it was stated in The Times that "a Pasadena hotel man" had attempted to get up a ball in honor of the Japanese and had failed owing to the unfeeling conduct of the young ladies, Mr. Linnard seemed to know right away at which hotel the incident occurred that he says didn't occur.

When it was stated by The Times that a Pasadena hotel official tried to have a dance and had secretly abandoned the proceedings, covering the whole thing up without the public knowing anything about it, up pops Mr. Linnard and says excitedly "Not true."

"Tut, tut, Mr. Linnard, if no such incident occurred, why so touchy?

As a matter of fact, a Pasadena hotel official become possessed of the happy thought of giving a grand ball in honor of the Japanese navy officers. Some of the Pasadena young ladies were approached on the subject, just as The Times stated. The proponents of the scheme to waltz the Japanese navy officers did invite some of the Pasadena society girls to help along the suggested ball and found that the idea was too new or unaccustomed or something, to be welcomed.

The Times has signed statements from two Pasadena young women who state that they were invited to help orgeat the ball and declined.

Then all protest, however, that no insult was intended to the Japanese.

They merely felt strange about going to a dance as the partners (selected by somebody else) to dance with men of a language strange to them. It isn't the most comfortable situation to go to a ball to dance with a company of strange gentlemen, even if you understand their language and customs.

The Times is in possession of information confirming every fact stated. The episode may have been uncomfortable, but it happened.

The most serious—and the only serious—phases of this affair appear to be two:

First and most dreadful is that somebody seems to have been unconsciously guilty of a social faux pas.

Second is that the feelings of the Japanese admiral and his men may have been wounded.

THE GREAT ADMIRAL.

Admiral Rokuro Yashiro, the commander of the Japanese squadron, is one of the illustrious navy officers in the world. His golden deeds of heroism in the war with Russia will never be forgotten as long as there are navies. One of the bravest of modern sailors, he is one of the most sensitive.

Ordinarily, this incident would have passed almost without comment.

A sailor of our own race would have taken off his uniform again with something of a sigh of relief as a social function mercifully avoided. The Japanese, however, are a people of the most sensitive honor. Realizing which fact, the Pasadena people are greatly alarmed over the prospect of the admiral considering the incident as an insult.

The Japanese residents of Los Angeles who were pleased and proud over the reception accorded by the Americans to the fleet of their nation were distressed and excited yesterday over the possible pain caused the admiral.

Americans, however, are not disposed to take seriously the fact that some of Pasadena's sweetest young ladies didn't want to go to a dance.

At any rate, for the purpose of appeasing the situation, the following letters were prepared yesterday and were sent to the newspapers and to the admiral. The letters were prepared at the instance of Mr. Linnard:

To the Admiral.

DECEMBER 7, 1910.

REAR-ADMIRAL ROKURO YASHIRO, Commanding Offier, Japanese Training Squadron, Cruisers Asama and Kasagi, off San Pedro, California.

Dear Sir: We wish to express to you and your officers our extreme regret at the unfounded report publish in one of the Los Angeles morning papers.

We have inquired into the facts of the matter, and can find no foundation for the untruthful statements contained in the newspaper article.

We can only look upon the report as the work of some unreliable correspondent, anxious to creat a sensation without considering the effects.

We are assured by Mr. Linnard that he has done all he could to persuade you to accept an invitation to a ball at the Hotel Maryland, but that you were unable, on account of previous engagements, to accept the hospitality of the hotel. He further assures us that everybody he spoke to was looking forward with pleasure to meeting and dancing with you and your officers.

Thefreof, you will find copy of the protest addressed to the paper printing the story, and to the leading press associations, signed by the Mayor of the City of Pasadena, President of the Board of Trade, and Management of the Hotel Maryland.

With assurances of our deep esteem, and the hope that we shall have an opportunity of greeting you again, we remain,

Yours respectfully,

(Signed by the Mayor, the President of the Board of Trade, and the Pasadena Hotel Company.)

To the Press.

In justice to a guest of the nation, Rear-Admiral Yashiro of the Imperial Japanese Navy, we wish to protest the untruthful and unfounded story which appeared in the Los Angeles Times this morning, on the first page, stating that a prospective ball to the Admiral and his staff had to be abandoned because the women of Pasadena would not dance with the Japanese. The story further states that a return invitation from the Japanese officers for a dance on one of the Japanese warships was ignored by these same Pasadena women.

The simple truth is that Rear-Admiral Yashiro was invited to attend a ball at the Hotel Maryland on the evening of December 2, 1910. Had he been able to attend the ball, it would have been made a pronounced success, as many had expressed their intention to come. However, because of a previous promise to attend a reception in his honor, Rear-Admiral Yashiro had to decline the invitation. This is shown by letters received, especially the one signed by Mr. D. Neino, for President T. Komuro of the Los Angeles-Japanese Association.

The invitations sent to Pasadena to attend at the Japanese warship on December 5, were sent to D. M. Linnard and a few prominent men of Pasadena. No one of Pasadena remained away for any reason save previous engagement or inability to attend.

As admirers of a progressive people, we most decidedly protest at being placed on record as acting in an insulting manner to the representative of the Japanese government.

UNJUST TO THE TIMES.

The above are the letters which Mayor Earley characterizes in his signed statement published at the head of this article as "doing The Times an injustice."

The whole hub-bub has arisen from the fact that the gentlemen signing the above statements were "rushed." If they had taken the trouble to come to The Times office and examine the evidence in its possession, they never would have signed the statements. Certain representations were made to the signers by interested parties, and the documents were issued without anybody taking the trouble to seek of The Times the facts in its possession or the indisputable evidence upon which it based the article that seems to have offended Mr. Linnard. It was a case of hanging a man first and investigating the case afterwards.

The Pasadena Girls Did Right.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It is with pleasure that I noted in this morning's Times, the attitude you took in publishing the facts of the case concerning certain social events meant to be given in honor of the visiting Japanese. It is preposterous, and an insult to American womanhood to expect our sisters and daughters to meet these Mongolians on social terms. Had it not been for the good judgment and absolute way in which the young ladies met this question, Los Angeles would today be the recipient of the scorn of this country.

It is deplorable that any business man should consider personal gain above the good name of the community. Had this ball been given, no doubt it would have been considered a social achievement, and incidentally would have been an excellent advertisement for the hotel promoting the ball. No doubt it would have been hailed as the connecting link for solidifying the perfect bond of friendship supposed to exist between Japan and the United States.

The manner in which the Japanese wished to reciprocate cannot be considered too forward if we put ourselves in their place. Having been invited, as social equals, to meet our young ladies, why not take advantage of the extraordinary good luck and strengthen the social ties? This is a point they have been hoping for and planning to bring about for years. It is simply strategy and to their commercial interests that they be received, and considered, at least by the outside world, as being on an equal social plane with the Americans.

In these social aspirations of the Japanese lie the dangers confronting California and the whole Pacific Coast. We are forced to admit these foreigners into our State, and then some ingenious hotel manager tries to admit them as social equals. Is it not but a step until we would ratify by public approval their intermarrying with our population? We have had cases of their intermarrying, but so far, thanks to the foresight of our people, we have come far from publicly ratifying these unions.

As it now stands, we allow the Japanese entrance into the United States, while we refuse, absolutely, to accept the Chinese. Our laws emphatically exclude Mongolians, but they are so construed as to mean only Mongolian Chinese and not Mongolian Japanese. If put to a popular vote in this State, the people would rather have the law construed so as to exclude the Mongolian Japanese and admit the Mongolian Chinese, as it is well known that the Chinese makes a far more desirable resident than does the Japanese. At least he knows how to keep his position.

Let us hope that the incident of yesterday will awaken our citizens to the great dangers confronting us, and that this is but the beginning of a movement to teach those Mongolians how to keep their proper station. Let this question be settled by the West, as it is a local problem, and not by the East, or by the Chief Executive. If war must come, and it is predicted by the most prominent men of the nation, let the people be prepared. If the people are prepared, the nation to a great extent is prepared. But above all, let the State of California decide this social problem, as guaranteed to it under the Federal Constitution, and the United States back up this decision even to the extent of using armed force, and thus uphold the honor and rights of the State.

HOBBLE SAVES HUNDREDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The hobble skirt, despised and reviled on two continents, was vindicated today, when Mrs. Laura Louise Scott, who is said to be a very wealthy Kansas City widow, told how her hobble had prevented a chauffeur robbing her of all her money. She said that Joseph Berman, the chauffeur, had driven her to a lonely spot in Jackson Park, pulled down the shades in the taxicab and tried to rob her. He secured $120 from one of her stockings but the exasperating convolutions of the hobble prevented him finding $700, which was in her other stocking. The badly-torn hobble skirt was exhibited in court. Judge Newcomer held Berman under bonds of $4000 for grand jury action.

STEUBEN STATUE.

his influence of good was manifested in the battle of Monmouth and in the other campaigns of that year. Alexander Hamilton, an accomplished soldier, testified to the marvelous effect of Von Steuben's discipline on the action of the American soldiers under fire.

LESSON FOR NATION.

"The effect of Von Steuben's instruction on the American army teaches us a lesson that is well for us all to keep in mind, and that is that no people, however warlike in spirit and ambition, in natural courage and self confidence, can be made with only uniforms and guns a military force. Until they learn drill and discipline, they are a mob and the theory that they can be made an army over night has cost this nation billions of dollars and thousands of lives.

"This history of Von Steuben's service shows him a kindly, considerate, brave and accomplished soldier. An inspector-general, his achievements were not the success of an independent command, but they were the preparation by persistent and tedious drilling and discipline.

"It seemed a thankless task for it had none of the spectacular in it, none of the glory of military triumph. It was the basic hard work without which such triumphs could not be won, but the results inured to the glory of others.

"Von Steuben asked for no award, except that if his services were satisfactory at the end of the war, he should be recompensed for the sacrifices he had made in leaving his home and giving up lucrative rank and office.

WORK OF GERMANS.

"Washington, that calm, sane, just judge of men, recognized fully the debt that he and the army of the people owed to Von Steuben, and it is gratifying to know that he gave his evidence as he laid down his command in a letter full of expressions of gratitude to his comrade in arms, whose important aid at a critical juncture he fully appreciated.

"When Baron Von Steuben came to this country, he found Germans who had preceded him, and who, like him, had elected to make this their permanent home. Since his day, millions of his countrymen have come to be Americans, and it adds great interest to our celebration and emphasizes the propriety of the action of Congress in erecting this statue to know that the German race since the revolution has made so large a part of our population and played so prominent a part in the great growth and development of our country.

"It is particularly appropriate that there is present the German Ambassador, the personal representative of the illustrious successor of Frederick The Great. The Germans who have become American citizens, and their descendants, may well take pride in this occasion, and in this work of art, modelled by the hand of an American of German descent, which commemorates the valued contribution made by a German soldier to the cause of American freedom."

STATE HONORS.

BIG RUGBY GAME OF THE SEASON.

L. A. HIGH AND PALO ALTO TO MEET SATURDAY.

Fast Northern Aggregation Comes With Great Record of Achievement and Individual Prowess. Scored on But Once This Season, and That by Berkeley.

The big Rugby game of the season is to take place at U.S.C. Field, Saturday, when the Los Angeles High School fifteen is to meet Palo Alto's fast aggregation to decide the interscholastic championship of the State.

The local boys earned their right to meet their northern rivals by defeating Pomona by the score of 2 to 0, last Saturday. This game gave L. A. the championship of Southern California. Palo Alto, secured the northern title when it beat Mission High, 12 to 0, giving it the privilege to argue the honors of the State with L. A.

The ability of the Hilltop team is well known. It defeated all comers, including a game with the U.S.C. lawyers. Despite their skill, however, they realize that they have a dangerous opponent in the north champions. Palo Alto's team is reputed as being an aggregate of stars. Its captain, B. Risling, was placed on the All-Star American second Rugby team, by a San Francisco newspaper Rugby expert, the first honor of its kind ever accorded any high school man.

Howe, the center, has the greatest number of goals to his credit on the Coast. The others of the team have the reputation of being the fastest Rugby youngsters in the country.

The northern demons have been scored on but once this season. This occurred recently in a game with Berkeley High School with the score of 8 to 2 in Palo Alto's favor. The latter also defeated the U. of C. freshmen, 8 to 6.

All of which goes to show why the local lads will have the battle of their lives Saturday. One advantage which they have over their opponents, however, is their superior weight. Their rivals average only 135 pounds to the man, while L. A.'s average is considerably more. The latter fact will prove beneficial in the mass plays but will be disadvantageous in the open field, speed usually being the main factor in such work.

The Los Angeles High School boys will receive the Palo Alto squad in most artistic style. Immediately upon arrival, the latter will be hustled into waiting automobiles and after being shown around the city, will be taken to the University of Southern California Field.

APPLICATION.

WIRES INCLUDED IN CARRIER LAW.

Telegraph and Telephone Officials Confer.

Commerce Commission Hears Their Views.

Wireless Members Aver Exemption.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—With a view to reaching a satisfactory determination of the application of the present interstate commerce act to telegraph and telephone companies, the Interstate Commerce Commission gave a hearing today to officials of telephone and telegraph companies which by terms of the law are made common carriers.

Some of the questions presented to the conference were: "What telegraph and telephone companies are subject to the act?

"May such companies issue franks entitling to free interstate service, or may they grant free interstate service?

"Are telegraph and telephone companies required to file with the commission their tariffs of charges?

"Does the law forbidding rebates and undue preference apply to telegraph and telephone companies?"

It was not the purpose of the commission to determine the status of any particular company but rather to induce a discussion of the meaning and application of the law to the new common carriers generally.

Views were expressed by Rush Taggart, counsel for the Western Union Telegraph Company; by Hunt Chippley of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, and by R. H. Overbaugh of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company.

They maintained that the law applied to telegraph and telephone companies doing an interstate business; that while not prohibited in terms from issuing franks or giving free transmission to messages, it obviously was the intent of Congress to prohibit such free service that the provision of law requiring the filing with the commission of tariffs was intended to apply to companies transporting persons or property and not to the transmission of messages, and that the provisions of the act forbidding rebates and undue preference applied to telegraph and telephone companies.

Mr. Chippley pointed out that his company did not engage in the interchange of free service in any way.

A representative of a news association urged the commission to give the law its broadest interpretation in its application to telegraph and telephone companies. His interest, he said, was simply that of a large user of telephone and telegraph facilities. He urged that the companies be required to file not only their rates, but also their important contracts.

The telegraph officials generally favored the application of the law to all alike. Representatives of the wireless systems maintained that they did not come in the very nature of their business, within the purview of the act.

ROAD HEAD AT PORTLAND.

ANGELUS DISCUSS PLAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, Dec. 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] R. C. Gillis, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Mount Hood Railway and Power Company, arrived in Portland last night to give personal attention to a number of important questions that will come up now that rapid progress is being made in the construction of the company's electric road from Portland to Mount Hood. Mr. Gillis is from Los Angeles, where President P. Clark, of the Mount Hood line also resides. One matter that will be taken up during Mr. Gillis's presence here will be the franchise under which the Mount Hood road would operate within the city. Mr. Gillis said he was not in position to discuss this matter in detail, but admitted that one purpose of his presence here at this time, is to look carefully into the matter of franchises. "I do not intend to ask for anything that is not fair and just," said Mr. Gillis, "and all the company will ask from the city is exactly what we require to carry to completion the development project on which we are now at work."

MEXICAN SITUATION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Dec. 7.—Guerrero, the largest city in the State of Chihuahua, with a population of 12,000, is tonight in the hands of the rebels, according to information which has reached here.

After resisting repeated assaults for two weeks, the Federal army surrendered, following a combined attack which took place after the departure of the train bearing the peace officials. The rebels have elected provisional officers to govern the city.

It was first reported that the jefe politico was killed in the final charge on the city, but later reports are to the effect that he and his family are prisoners and unhurt.

The telegraph line between Guerrero and Chihuahua is now in the hands of the rebels.

Following a conference at San Andreas between the peace commissioners and rebels, headed by Castullo Herrera, the soldiers sent out from Chihuahua were halted at El Fortino, near San Andreas, until President Diaz acts on the promise of truce offered by the rebels to lay down arms, providing certain changes are made in the system of taxation and officials in Coahuila. This truce is effective only from San Andreas to Chihuahua, the rebels stating they cannot act for the country from San Andreas to Guerrero.

Following the resignation of Gov. Sanchez of Chihuahua, Secretary of State Guillermo Parras has also resigned in favor of Rafael Alvarez, and other important changes in the State government have taken place. Sanchez was reported deposed because at the conference held in the telegraph office of San Andreas, the Peace Commission, which he headed, informed the rebels that the commission had authority to grant redress consistent with the law of justice.

PERPLEXING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—The most striking feature of today's session of the State Board of Equalization was brought out when the power companies, through John A. Britton of San Francisco, presented the magnitude of the property owned and operated by these companies in this State.

In other sections of the country the ownership extends simply through one or two counties and will not reach more than a short distance. There is no precedence to be found in these for assessments to be made in California.

In this State the watersheds, reservoirs, powerhouses, lines, etc., extend hundreds of miles and through several counties. This complicates matters and brings the board to a new order of things.

It is the intention of the State board to treat these companies in the same manner that railways were treated when it was found that through building of long lines of road and merging of companies, these had gone beyond the stage where county taxation was all that was needed to receive just returns. The power companies will be treated as a new factor, given fair consideration, and it is thought by members of the board that a satisfactory and safe assessment will be arranged.

The men who have been representing the various interests before the board have completed their work, and the board is now in position to take up the work of arranging a bill which will be presented to the Legislature and will make operative the new law. This will not be finally decided upon until after another conference between the board, the Tax Commission and the representatives of corporations interested.

Prof. Plehn and Senator Curtin will take the revised bill after the board is through with suggestions, and will then put it into shape. Another call will then be made for a conference and at this meeting final action will be taken.

DRESS RULE EXCITES FATHER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Joseph Lynch, a well-known business man of this city and a large oil operator of the Midway District, today filed a petition with the Board of Education requesting that a hearing be held in connection with the order of Principal Williams notifying some of the girl students to leave their false curls on the bureau at home and dress correctly. Mr. Lynch's daughter was sent home, it is alleged, because she was not wearing a dress long enough for the schoolroom, the skirt being too short and the collar too low.

The father, who prides himself on dressing his children neatly, objected, and is said to have sent the school to remonstrate with the principal but failed to do so. The matter was then be appealed to the Board of Education to decide whether a father's daughter should be allowed to attend school when she did not wear the dress that pelased the principal.

The board met tonight, and it is expected that Mr. Lynch will be present, but through a misunderstanding he was not present when the matter went over.

CONSTIPATION

from all debatable provisions, so as to secure Statehood without delay.

"After becoming a State the people of Arizona can then adopt such amendments to her Constitution as her people desire without consulting anybody or incurring the risk of being kept in a Territorial condition."

The reading of the telegram provoked a bitter attack by Parsons of Cochise on Senator Bailey, for which he was sat upon by Cundiff, who told of the great service that Bailey had rendered Arizona throughout the Statehood fight.

Several members felt called upon to explain that they voted for the recall because of pledges made their county conventions. This afternoon it was decided that the assistant secretary and two delegates, respectively Republican and Democratic, should work over and correct the English of the official report of the proceedings of the convention, sending typewritten copies to all the members for possible further correction.

ATTACK ON SLOAN.

Additional interest attached to today's session through the introduction of a resolution by Roberts of Cochise county, censuring Gov. R. E. Sloan for the text of an interview in Washington, in which he was reported to have said for publication that the people of Arizona would never approve the Constitution now in preparation at Phoenix. The resolution recited that this action by the Governor is most unfair in that at the time the statement is said to have been made not a single section of the proposed Constitution had been adopted by the convention.

It provided that President Taft and Congress be notified by telegraph of these facts in order that the unjust and partisan spirit displayed by the Territory's chief executive might not influence their action in passing upon the claims of Arizona to Statehood.

The resolution was opposed by Mr. Cunningham, who counseled moderation.

"We do not know absolutely that this was a bona fide interview," he said, "and it seems to me it would be ill-advised to send such a telegram as this to Washington at this time."

Mr. Cobb moved the indefinite postponement of the resolution and the motion prevailed.

SUPPORT HALF-HEARTED.

Yet, from the temper of the radical element, it was evident that keen regret was felt that the recall the Governor dislikes was not already in effect.

Many of the Democratic delegates, however, already are acknowledging that the Governor is a true prophet and only half-hearted support will be given the evolved document.

That there will be strong and organized opposition was decided upon today and the attack will be participated in by influential Democrats added to the full strength of the Republicans.

CONFER ON SENATORSHIP.

NEWARK (N. J.) Dec. 7.—Following a conference today Governor-elect Woodrow Wilson has forced a crisis in the matter of selecting a United States Senator to succeed John Kean of New Jersey. The other party to the conference was former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., who has been invited by the new Essex county Democratic assemblymen to become a candidate for the Senatorship. Notice was served on Mr. Smith and Dr. Wilson that the Governor-elect would not recognize any other candidate than James E. Martine, of Plainfield, the choice of the Democratic party last October.

RATES ENGAGE FRUIT GROWERS.

Deciduous and Citrus Shipments Unchanged.

Stockton Committee Argues That Law Be Invoked.

Distributors Show Prosperity of Post-Season.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

STOCKTON, Dec. 7.—Freight rates were the principal topic of discussion at the State Fruit Growers' convention here this morning. The report of the committee on that subject was presented by its chairman, R. D. Stephens of Sacramento, the other members of the committee being M. E. Angier of Lodi, and C. M. Hartly of Vacaville. The report contained a letter from R. Countiss, agent of the Trans-Continental Freight Bureau in Chicago, dated June 7 last, and announcing that at the request of the committee for the same rate on deciduous fruit as is granted on shipments of citrus fruit it had given careful consideration by the representatives of the interested transcontinental lines but they could not see their way clear at this time to make any change in the current rates. The result," says the committee report, "proves conclusively that it would be useless to continue the struggle along the lines pursued in the past—that is, reasoning based on facts. If relief is to come it must be through the law governing such matters, and we recommend that the law be invoked with as little delay as possible."

The matter will be further considered during a later session of the convention.

The committee on resolutions was appointed this morning. It consists of Marshall De Motte of Corning, George S. Kellogg of New Castle, W. H. Thompson of Lodi, George H. Cutter of Sacramento and E. O. Esig of Santa Clara.

A resolution was introduced by Harry Jacobs and referred to the committee on resolutions. It requests the legislature to enact legislation whereby a petition will be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission requesting the investigation of the increase in trans-continental freight rates effective January 1, 1909, with a view to establishing that the increase was unjust and unwarranted. It also asks for an appropriation for the purpose of making the proper showing before the Interstate Commerce Commission and for investigating the question of local freight rates in this State with a view to securing their readjustment.

F. B. McKevitt presented the report of the California Fruit Distributors, showing that the past season had been a prosperous one for the fruit growers. The total shipments of deciduous fresh fruit to eastern points were 11,923 carloads, which brought an average price of approximately $1100 netting the growers an average of about $613 per carload.

Mr. McKevitt said there was great necessity for more labor at a reasonable cost and strongly advocated the parcels post as a means of enabling the fruit growers to dispose of their products especially dried fruit, direct to the consumers. The report of the California Fruit Exchange by J. L. Eagle showed that it had opened many new markets and had enjoyed a prosperous year.

J. F. Dargitz presented the report of the California Almond Growers Exchange, describing how eleven local associations had united and now controlled about forty per cent. of the tonnage of this State.

An invitation to attend the Northern California Citrus Fair in Sacramento in connection with the meeting of the convention of the Western Fruit Jobbers' Association in February was given by A. A. Martin, who said that provision would be made, also, for exhibits of wines, dried fruits, nuts, apples, figs, asparagus, etc.

SON IS ALIVE.

San Francisco Woman Who Was About to Bury Body Learns Mistake in Time.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. J. Corbett of San Francisco was on the point of burying the body of a man whom she identified as her son, when she received a letter informing her that he was alive.

Mrs. Corbett had not heard from her son since he wrote to her about five weeks ago that he was about to leave Portland bound for the South. As the letter failed by and the boy did not put in an appearance, the mother feared that he had been killed. She heard of a man who was killed near here by being run over by a train and came to Sacramento to investigate. Here she found the body of an unknown man at the morgue. She was about to bury the body when word was received from her son.

HOMESTEADERS WIN.

CASTLE ON WRONG TRACTS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The register and receiver of the Sacramento land office made two important decisions today in cases affecting homesteaders on government land. In both instances decisions favorable to the homesteaders. John F. Jeffery, of Mariposa county, and Marion Shaw of Tuolumne county, filed on government land. They settled on the wrong piece of land and on discovering their error, hastened to correct it. The government charged they did establish and maintain homes on the land in good faith, but for speculation.

WED, THEN DISAPPEAR.

SACRAMENTO COUPLE DEPARTS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Refusing to take their friends into the secret and with an air of mystery that was baffling, Ralph S. Brown, a San Francisco blacksmith, and Bertha M. Doan, nurse in the railroad hospital in this city, procured a marriage license late last night and, according to friends, were secretly married and hurried off to San Francisco. The hospital authorities emphatically refused to give out any information on the matter and notified reporters they would be liable to prosecution if they mentioned anything about a wedding. The affair is still a mystery and the couple has not been heard from.

CUT OUT SALOONS.

SUPERVISORS BAN PLACES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

YREKA (Cal.) Dec. 7.—Carrying out the will of the people as expressed at a special election, the Board of Supervisors has passed an ordinance abolishing all saloons in Siskiyou county outside the incorporated towns of Yreka, Dunsmuir, Fort Jones, Montague, Sisson, Dorris and Etna Mills. The ordinance, which is very stringent, forbidding the giving away as well as the selling of liquor, becomes effective January 1, and will cause the closing of about forty saloons.

VETOES GRAFT EXPENSE.

SEATTLE'S MAYOR CUTS SAW.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE, Dec. 7.—Mayor Hiram C. Gill vetoed today the ordinance appropriating $1800 to pay the expenses of investigating alleged graft in the city government. The investigating committee had heard and given out for publication much heresay testimony reflecting on the Mayor and Chief of Police Wappenstein and petitions asking the recall of Mayor Gill are being circulated.

LOS ANGELES WOMAN ACCUSES HER HUSBAND.

Woman Tells San Francisco Court She Overhears Talk Over Telephone in Office Building Which Led to Uncovering of Her Mate's Duplicity.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Agnes Cecile Haigh, former San Diego society girl and wife of a prominent young physician at Los Angeles, was today granted a divorce after she told of surprising her husband at his office with an affinity six months after their marriage.

With Mrs. Gertrude Tuttle, a friend, Mrs. Haigh said she went to her husband's office one day last April and waited for him in his reception room.

The telephone rang and they heard Frederick, the husband, talking in a cooing voice to someone whom he called "dearie."

On the following eveping, said Mrs. Haigh, she and Mrs. Tuttle went downtown to the Bryne Building, where Dr. Haigh had his office, and hid in the corridor.

After a while Mrs. Haigh said she she saw her husband and a woman walk down the corridor and enter his private office.

She and Mrs. Tuttle waited for fifteen minutes and then walked into the room. Mrs. Haigh said her husband slapped her and swore at her. She immediately left him and came to San Francisco.

An affidavit by Mrs. Tuttle corroborated the wife's story.

LIFTWEIGHT FALLS.

Courthouse Attaches and Passengers Receive Shock as Result of Sensational Stockton Magazine.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dozens of people and large forces of officers and deputies in the courthouse were given a fright yesterday when the big piece of iron that equalizes the weight of the elevator cage parted from the cable and fell three stories, crashing through the platform on the ground floor and tore a large hole in the cement basement.

Had the cage been below the weight, which was forced out of the groove, it would have crushed the cage like a paper shell and killed everyone in it.

Workmen were making some repairs and changes and Tony Marino, the operator, had just stepped out on the third floor after landing two passengers. When the iron fell, it crashed through the two-inch planking on the ground floor platform and the noise caused a general rush toward the elevator shaft.

It was some time before the cage was lowered clear of the floors. The machinery in the basement was badly damaged.

HOT CASE GOES TO THE NORTH.

Los Angeles Pair in Racy Divorce Suit.

Wealthy Oil Man Charges Oil Man; Wife Involved.

Woman Avers Mate Has Numerous Affinities.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The fight for divorce of nearly a year between Alice Taylor and P. C. Taylor, interested in the oil business in Coalinga, has been transferred from Los Angeles to this county and took the form today of a hotly-contested divorce suit.

The chief interest arises from the fact that according to the husband, the wife's affections have been alienated by James A. Ward, a leading director of the Ward Oil Company, with valuable holdings in the Coalinga field, and that several women have been named by the wife as rivals for her husband's regard.

Some of the women belong to one world and some to another, and from witnesses summoned today, the case is likely to consume a week or more.

The wife contends Taylor's legal residence is in Los Angeles, although he makes affidavit it is here.

The wife claims Hattie Hoppeck of good social status in Fresno, Georgia Edwards, Laura Clews and others, are co-respondents.

O. P. Fowler testified Taylor confessed he deserved "all that he got," and had treated his wife "like a dog."

Charles M. Hazard, driller in Coalinga, told of midnight trips to the red-light district with the defendant.

Haiger Neilson, clerk of the Sequoia Hotel, said he remembered Taylor having registered there under a fictitious name, and that "wife" had been written in the register after the name.

OFFICIAL WEDS CLERK.

Newly Elected District Attorney Marries at Woodland—Couple Plan Honeymoon in Los Angeles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WOODLAND (Cal.) Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At six this morning, A. G. Bailey, district attorney-elect, of Yolo county, was married to Miss Clara E. Griggs, formerly chief clerk in Judge Hawkins's office.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. V. Moon of Colusa, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Griggs, parents of the bride. None but relatives were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey departed on a 7 o'clock train for San Francisco, and will go to Los Angeles by steamer tomorrow, to return shortly after Christmas.

FAVOR COUNTY FAIRS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

STOCKTON, Dec. 7.—At a meeting of the District Fair Association here today it was decided to urge county fairs instead of district meetings, as heretofore. There was considerable opposition to forming districts and including counties that never take an interest in fairs, which in years past were conducted in districts without any great success. A committee will urge the Legislature to make appropriations to counties where fairs can be conducted on beneficial lines and will prove successful.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Gillett Pardons Irving.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—Gov. Gillett has issued a pardon to J. W. Irving, who was convicted of second degree murder in Siskiyou county in 1905 and sentenced to twenty-one years in San Quentin. Irving was released on parole in July of last year and his pardon was recommended at a meeting of the State Board of Pardons on November 12 of this year.

Will Increase Capital Stock.

PORTLAND, Dec. 7.—Announcement was made today that the stockholders of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, which owns the electric lighting, power and traction systems in this city, have voted to increase the capital stock from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000. Extensive betterment and construction of additional car lines and plants compelled by the extraordinary growth of Portland, are given as reasons.

Saves Cyclist, Is Hurt.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—To save the life of a cyclist who had lost control of his machine, Miss Vera Debau, daughter of a prominent family, yesterday drove her automobile into a street curbing at San Mateo. She was thrown from the machine and received painful bruises and cuts.

Young Girl Inquires About Uncle.

NEVADA CITY (Cal.) Dec. 7.—Sheriff Walker has received word from Miss Louie Davidson of Porterville, asking for information concerning her uncle, Charles P. Renaud, who owned some rich gold mines in this county in the early days. She would like to know what became of him, and if he is dead where the gold mines are located.

"Drys" Lose Vote.

ANACORTES (Wash.) Dec. 7.—Anacortes will remain "wet" at least another year as a result of the failure of the "drys" to capture the next City Council yesterday.

Buried Alive; Lives, Then Dies.

OLYMPIA (Wash.) Dec. 7.—Mrs. John Sheehan, 76, wife of an aged rancher living south of Olympia, was buried three hours in an old well yesterday, and although alive when rescued, died soon afterward. She was carrying an armful of wood to the house and went too close to the brink of the old well.

MIDWINTER NUMBER OF "THE TIMES."

A Bright, Big, Beautiful, Booming Booster of Nearly 200 Pages.

The Midwinter Number of The Times will make its gala appearance as usual, just as if nothing had happened, except that special pains will be taken to make it, if possible, more attractive and more effective than any of its predecessors. There will be six handsome magazine parts printed in colors, every one filled with readable and telling articles and beautiful illustrations. It will be the THRILLING EVANGEL OF THE SOUTHWEST. It will carry glad tidings to every corner of the civilized globe. It will spread thought waves and heart waves to lure many fortunate ones to the Land of Sunshine. Appealing facts will be presented by new writers in new ways. The Midwinter will spread the theme of the unrivaled growth of Los Angeles—311 per cent. in population in ten years—as no other medium can spread it. It will be the climax of the celebrated anniversary numbers of The Times, issued at the psychological moment. And take notice! Advertisements for this issue should be handed in on or before December 20.

Thousands of Dollars Worth Sacrificed

How can we best impress the readers of this newspaper with the importance and the reliability of the statements contained in this announcement?

We want to put the plain, unvarnished facts before you, so that you may realize that this is an earnest, determined effort to dispose of thousands of dollars' worth of women's and misses' ready-to-wear garments.

The first of the year is Inventory time, and the less merchandise of this character that we have when we take inventory, the better showing the department will make. For the simple reason that there will be that much more free capital in the department, and besides, much of the 1910 merchandise will be discounted when taken in at Inventory, so, you see that it is profitable to a department to dispose of as much merchandise as possible.

Now, then, to move this merchandise quickly necessitates bold and decisive price cuts, which we cheerfully take, as shown by the startling prices that appear below.

Every reader of this paper who reads this advertisement must read it with the assurance that the Broadway Department Store's guarantee is back of every statement. No misrepresentations, no exaggerations, no quibbling or beating around the bush, but straightforward, straight talk, and absolute reductions are quoted.

SIXTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

MR. BALLINGER IS EXONERATED.

Majority Report Clears Secretary of Charges.

Democrat Committee Members Oppose Official.

May Ask Mr. Taft to Depose Department Head.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The Ballinger-Pinchot Investigating Committee, after eleven months' work, made its final report to Congress today.

In the opinion of seven Republican members, a majority of the committee, Secretary Ballinger "honestly and faithfully performed the duties of his high office, with an eye single to the public interest."

In the opinion of the four Democrats Mr. Ballinger has not been true to the trust reposed in him as Secretary of the Interior and should be required by the proper authorities to resign.

Both reports, with the independent report of Representative Madison, "insurgent" Republican, also adverse to Mr. Ballinger, were offered in the Senate by Senator Nelson and in the House by Representative McCall. Their presentation followed a meeting of the full committee.

The Democratic members, led by Senator Fletcher of Florida, agreed to this method of getting the reports before Congress after their motion to substitute their own report had been rejected in the committee.

Senator Fletcher first raised the point of order that the committee had already approved the report that was made public at Minneapolis. This point was overruled by Chairman Nelson. But a motion then was made to substitute the Democratic report for the report agreed upon by the seven Republican members. This was voted down, 7 to 5. Representative Madison voting with the four Democrats. It was agreed after the majority report had been adopted that all three should be presented at once in each house and printed together.

Under this arrangement the dissenting reports are given equal standing with the majority report before the two houses. An order for 30,000 copies of the report was made by the Senate.

Senator Fletcher said later that steps would be taken by the Democrats to bring about action in accordance with the recommendation in their report. The recommendation in question characterizes Secretary Ballinger as "not deserving of the public confidence" and recommends "that he should be requested by the proper authorities to resign his office of Secretary of the Interior."

The reports were accepted in both houses without comment. The plan of action to be followed by the Democrats has not been determined, but it is understood a resolution will be presented to carry out the recommendation for the Secretary's removal. Such a resolution probably will call flatly upon the President to discharge his Cabinet officer.

The Democrats held a conference on the matter today. They characterize the majority report as "weak" while the Republican members of the committee say it has fully answered all charges against Ballinger and has disposed of all testimony presented in the long hearings.

An effort undoubtedly will be made to put the House on record as to its opinion of the majority report. Some of the Democratic members favor demanding consideration of the report at the first opportunity, following up their demand with an appeal from the decision of the chair, should Speaker Cannon rule them out of order.

Officials of the Interior Department declined to make any comment whatever on the majority report.

In case the Speaker permits matter to take their course, it is held by parliamentarians that a resolution demanding a vote would be necessary. Such a resolution would have to go to some standing committee for report and as no such committee would relish the responsibility, the resolution probably would be pigeon-holed.

The general feeling is there would be no action on the report at this session which means not at all, for the report loses its force with the expiration of the present Congress in March.

PROTEST LANE'S APPOINTMENT.

Interstate Commerce Commissioners Want Member to Remain Part of That Body.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Protests have arisen against the suggested elevation of Interstate Commissioner Franklin Lane, to the circuit bench as a Commerce Court appointee.

The demand is that he shall remain where he is. In other words, his distinguished work as commissioner is proving a barrier to promotion. Lane's attitude against the railroads in their efforts to increase rates is the immediate cause of the protest.

The commission is generally regarded as about evenly divided as in the raising of freight schedules. Knapp, Harlan and Cockrell are credited with strong inclinations toward the railroad view, while Clements, Prouty and Lane are opposed.

Clark remains to turn the balance. It has been reported that both Prouty and Lane were to become members of the Commerce Court and those interested in the fight against the railroads' claims are objecting to such a weakening of the commission as regards their side of the fight.

TO IMPROVE HARBOR.

Uncle Sam Will Spend $800,000 on Monterey Bay—City to Contribute $200,000.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After the army engineers reported repeatedly adversely on the question of improving the harbor of Monterey, Congressman Needham finally induced Congress to ask for another report on the subject, intimating that the people of that locality might be willing to contribute part of the cost incident to improving the harbor.

The report of the engineers was transmitted to Congress today and it transpires that the War Department recommends harbor work at Monterey, which will cost $800,000, provided that the people contribute $200,000 of the cost and that railroad communication be established between Monterey and the San Joaquin Valley within a reasonable time. The improvement would consist of a breakwater, 2000 feet long, ten feet above mean low water and fifteen feet wide at the top.

FLINT WIRES BOARD.

Senator Would Learn if Harbor Officials Plan to File Brief Following Adverse Report.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Flint has telegraphed to the Harbor Commission asking whether it wishes to be heard and given opportunity to file a brief, in the matter of the adverse report of the board of engineers for rivers and harbors on the deepening of the outer harbor to thirty feet, as provided in this act of June 25, 1910. The board is willing to grant such a hearing at 11 o'clock, December 27, if desired. In it's report the board said that "until the greater facilities already contemplated have been tried and found inadequate, it does not seem to be advisable to consider an enlarged project.

PLAN FOR FAIR.

CALIFORNIA BOOSTERS MEET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Every member of the California delegation in Congress except Englebright was present at a meeting held in Representative Kahn's office today to discuss the fight for recognition by Congress of San Francisco's claim to the exposition. The meeting was held behind closed doors. Governor Gillett was the only one present not a member of the Senate or House. The situation was discussed at length and after comparing notes, it was agreed that the prospects were good for success. There will be no let-up in the fight until San Francisco and California are returned victorious. The other Californians here are very busy trying to capture Congressional votes.

CENSUS FIGURES.

TEXAS AND OTHER STATES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Population statistics of the thirteenth census were issued by the census bureau today for the following states:

Texas, 3,896,542, an increase of 847,832, or 27.8 per cent. over 3,048,710 in 1900. The increase from 1890 to 1900 was 813,-187 or 36.4 per cent.

North Dakota, 577,056, an increase of 257,910, or 80.8 per cent. over 319,146 in 1900. The increase from 1890 to 1900 was 136,427, or 74.7 per cent.

South Dakota, 583,888, an increase of 182,318, or 45.4 per cent. over 401,570 in 1900. The increase from 1890 to 1900 was 72,763, or 22.1 per cent.

Population of the counties containing the principal cities:

In South Dakota—Brown, 25,867; Lawrence, 19,694; Minnehaha, 29,631; Pennington, 12,453.

Pennsylvania cities: Braddock, 18,-357; Carnegie, 10,009; Duquesne, 15,727; Homestead, 18,713; McKees Rock, 14,-702; North Braddock, 11,824; Wilkinsburg, 18,924.

GOLDEN STATE CLIMBS.

CENSUS FIGURES CITED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It seems practically certain that when the Census Bureau makes known the population of California, which will probably be Saturday, that State will be found to have climbed up from twenty-first, which place it held in 1900, to thirteenth. Careful consideration of figures already announced makes this practically certain.

Passes Consular Examination.

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Louis G. Dreyfus of Santa Barbara, Cal., has successfully passed the examination for consuls held by the State Department.

Equalization Board Rules Corporations Must Follow Strictly Senate Amendment.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—The State Board of Equalization today decided upon an outline of the reports to be made by corporations to the State board, in conformity with the Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 1. These reports vary to fit the different corporations, but all of the provisions are strict and they will bring out every detail in the business of the corporations.

Another matter discussed was "operative and non-operative property" with relation to railroads and power companies. It is the intention of the board to include in their assessments only such property as is actually used in running the business, the balance going to the county or city.

It has been decided that maps shall be submitted to the board by the railways and power companies, showing the operative and non-operative property claimed as such by them, and the board will segregate these as it discusses the rights in the matter, according to fixed rules which will be laid down.

New York physicians have served notice on the public that "telephone consultations" will herafter be charged for at the same rate as office calls. The almost universal use of the telephone, they say, has resulted in large demands upon the doctors' time to answer these calls, and as time is valuable, it must be paid for.

WASHINGTON.

"JACK POT" WITNESS SAYS HE GOT NO MONEY FOR HIS VOTE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Robert L. Wilson, State Representative of Illinois, today denied that he had given money, or anything of value to any member of the General Assembly of that State, either to influence or to pay for a vote for William Lorimer for United States Senator.

Wilson appeared before the Senate sub-committee in response to a subpoena. He said he had gone to St. Louis in June, 1909, not to distribute money to Southern Illinois Democrats in return for their votes for Lorimer, but to arrange a banquet to be given in honor of Lee O'Neil Browne, Democratic leader.

After cross-examination by Alfred S. Austrian, attorney for the Chicago Tribune, the witness was turned over to Judge Elbridge Hanecy, counsel for Senator Lorimer.

Wilson, under questions of Attorney Austrian, said he could not remember what had been said in the room of the St. Louis hotel when he met Representative Shepard. The testimony of Representative Beckemeyer, however, that he had given them "packages" was not true, said the witness.

A reference Wilson made to the third degree methods used on Beckemeyer aroused the interest of members of the sub-committee. Wilson could not tell of any third degree methods that had been used upon any of the legislators and admitted that none had been attempted upon him.

Wilson's absence from Chicago when the Senate sub-committee met there in September was the subject of sharp questioning. Wilson said he had not tried to evade summons, or to escape testifying. His health had been so broken, he said, that it was necessary for him to seek complete rest; and he had gone to Detroit, thence to St. Thomas and Toronto, and had spent most of his absence about Toronto.

The testimony of Representative Wilson concluded the examination of the committee. Senator Burrows, chairman, called an executive session of the sub-committee, and the committee will endeavor to formulate its report within the next two weeks.

MANAGING EDITOR QUITS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Cornelius McAuliff has resigned as managing editor of the Chicago Record-Herald on account of ill-health, and will go to California to spend the winter. He will retain connection with the editorial staff in an advisory capacity. McAuliff is succeeded by Henry Barrett Chamberlain, editor of the Voter, a magazine of politics, and an old-time newspaper man of Chicago. The change becomes effective at once. McAuliff has been an active newspaper man in Chicago for a quarter of a century. He was the first managing editor of the Chicago Evening Post, one of the founders of the Chicago Mail, and managing editor of the Times-Herald, now the Record-Herald, for fifteen years. Chamberlain, besides publishing the Voter, has engaged in special newspaper work during the last few years. He has held various reportorial and executive positions with Chicago papers. He is a native of Washington, D. C., 43 years old.

LAWYER GETS BIG FEE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Judge Cutting of the Probate Court allowed Attorney Clarence A. Knight $95,000 attorney's fees today for his services as counsellor for the estate of the late Charles T. Yerkes, and for Louis Owsley, the executor. Knight had asked a quarter of a million dollars.

CONDUCTS OWN CASE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7.—Rejecting the aid of the lawyer appointed to defend him, Austin Greaves, a carpenter, questioned witnesses and made motions and objections in court today in his trial for the killing of his neighbor, Alfred H. Hunter. The charge is murder in the first degree. The attorney named by the trial judge sat behind his client, but took no part in the proceedings. Greaves heaped the table with notes, taking down every question and answer of the witnesses. When it came his time to cross-examine, he spoke of himself in the third person. The witnesses testified that they did not know of any motive. Once when a witness told of the shooting Greaves interrupted him to say: "You have stated several inaccuracies. You know you are under oath in a murder trial, and you ought to realize the awful consequences if you lie." The witness declared that he had told the truth. Greaves selected the jurors yesterday.

FIGHT WORKERS AT IRON PLANT.

Portland Strike Pickets Are Routed by Police.

Vilification Incenses Independent Workers.

Free-for-all Fights Follow Cowardly Attack.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A riot and pitched battle occurred in front of the Smith and Watson Iron Works this afternoon in a clash between the union and non-union machinists.

About 100 men took part in a pitched battle that was waged on the street until the police reserves finally drove the union rioters away with clubs.

Two of the union ringleaders, John Sharp and Samuel H. Bann, were placed under arrest for inciting a riot.

The trouble began as the workmen were returning to the plant after the noon hour. A crowd of pickets surrounding the entrance began their usual cries. Orrin Moore, one of the non-union men, resented the aspersions. He was set upon by about twenty of the pickets, who soon made it so warm for him that he was compelled to retreat.

Other non-union men went to his assistance and a free-for-all fight followed in which many were injured. The union pickets were armed with clubs and handled the workmen with a viciousness that might have resulted seriously.

Word was sent to police headquarters for assistance and a patrol wagon filled with police made a record run to the corner of Front and Harrison streets where the fight was still in progress.

Upon the arrival of the posse the union pickets were driven far down the street and employees of the company were permitted to resume their work.

For the last few weeks the union strikers have been becoming more active in their fight for a closed shop.

The management of the company declares that the strike is at an end and its shops are open to union and non-union men alike and that many of the former employees have returned to work.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 7.—With the testimony of a single witness—C. W. Knox of the San Jose Commercial and Savings Bank—the defense in the Jackson Hatch embezzlement case closed this morning and Special Prosecutor W. A. Beasley began the opening address for the people.

In his argument in the Hatch case this afternoon, Special Prosecutor Beasley traced the money from the sale of the San Francisco Real property through various banks in San Francisco to the First National of this city and into the private account of the defendant.

He followed a similar course with the rents collected by Hatch and explained to the jury the methods of the attorney in handling these trust funds. He warned the jury that Hatch would put up a technical fight.

Joseph J. Dunne made the opening argument for Hatch and said that under the broad power-of-attorney given by Mrs. Sage, Hatch could make whatever investment of her money he saw fit and that embezzlement could not be shown unless the actual money had been taken. He argued that Hatch had acted on his best judgment in making unprofitable investments.

SUES FOR LAND.

EL PASO (Tex.) Dec. 7.—A suit has been filed against the Southern Pacific Railway here seeking to recover twenty-three acres of land in the heart of the city valued at $1,000,000. The suit was brought at the instance of the Hague and Hills estate and W. W. Mills, a resident. It is alleged that the land, donated to the railway with the provision that it should always be used for railway purposes has been diverted in part to other uses.

Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart of Cambridge, Mass., has been elected chairman of the Executive Committee of the National Municipal League, it was announced at Philadelphia yesterday. Prof. Hart is a former president of the American Historical Association and is professor of history in Harvard University.

MAKES COLD OR GRIPPE VANISH

SURELY BREAKS THE MOST SEVERE COLD AND ENDS GRIPPE MISERY IN JUST A FEW HOURS.

Times Readers Must Surely Try Pape's Cold Compound the Next Time You Catch Cold or Suffer from the Grippe—This Reliable Cincinnati Concern Claims That Quinine is not Effective in Severe Cases.

You can surely end Grippe and break up the most severe cold either in head, chest, back, stomach or limbs, by taking a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

It promptly relieves the most miserable neuralgia pains, headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, running of the nose, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, without interference with your usual duties and with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effect as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Great Atlantic Steamer Puts in at New York Hours Ahead of Time Despite Accident.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

W YORK, Dec. 7.—The Kaiser m der Grosse, which lost a pro- in mid-ocean last Monday, put day several hours ahead of her ted arrival.

accident occurred in fine moder- weather. Capt. Polack says no was struck and there was ght jar. With the dropping propeller, the balance tank with water, which brought the down to the usual bearings. ination showed that the tail was broken off, the stern tube was ripped off and the pro- peller carried away. There was a little excitement among the passengers, which was speedily allayed by Capt. Polack, who explained the accident.

The steamer proceeded under the starboard engines, making seventeen and a half knots thereafter. Although the Kaiser had hoisted two black balls on the forestay to indicate "unmanageable—not under control," the vessel was handled without difficulty in coming into port, and even the assistance of tugs sent out by the company was refused by the Captain.

Among the passengers were Col. J. J. Astor and son, Congressman H. S. Boutell, Count Jean de Kergolay and E. D. Winslow, United States Consul at Stockholm.

MURDER TRIAL DELAYED.

Denver Judge Puts Over Case Against Jap for Day—Prosecution Results.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, Dec. 7.—The trial of Genkyo Mitsunaga for the murder of Mrs. Catherine Wilson goes over another day, Judge Shattuck having adjourned the case this afternoon with the announcement that he would instruct the jury tomorrow forenoon.

Rebuttal testimony for the prosecution was presented this morning. This includes evidence to show that Ridgely Wilson, husband of the murdered woman, had been in Hot Springs, Ark., on the day of the murder.

Attorney Hilton, for the defense, sought to bar this testimony, but the Prosecuting Attorney insisted that the tenor of the defense had been to intimate that Wilson was involved in the crime.

MUSIC AND STAGE.

HAZEL BUCKHAM JOINS BURBANK.

INTERESTING STORY OF LOUISE DRESSER AND FAMILY.

George Beban, Warfield of Stage Italians, Coming to Orpheum. Joseph Fogarty Returns to Hartman Company—Blanche Walsh to Arrive Today.

Miss Hazel Buckham, a clever young actress who has been making a hit in the northern part of California for some months in a variety of roles, has been engaged by Oliver Morosco for the production of "A Message From Mars," which the Burbank company will give next week for the first time by any stock company. Miss Buckham is a petite brunette, and among her most successful parts have been Jen in "Pierre of The Plains," Kate Nesbitt in "The Lion and the Mouse," Beth Harris in "Paid in Full" and a number of leading roles which call for youth and vivacity.

Miss Buckham's character in "A Message From Mars," will be that of a flower girl, a sort of waif, upon whom the mysterious messenger from the other world forces the utterly selfish Horace Parker to bestow a large sum of money. The play is a most timely one for the Christmas season, as its strong story inveighs against selfishness and all that goes with it.

Richard Ganthony, who wrote the piece, is a rich man, and when he first offered it to New York managers he failed to interest them. He was so interested in spreading his propaganda of unselfishness, however, that he made himself an object lesson. He paid all the costs of the production, and Charles Hawtrey played the leading role. It was an immediate success, and has stood as at least one instance of unselfishness bringing a rich reward.

Louise Dresser, who comes to Hamburger's Majestic Theater with De Wolf Hopper in "A Matinee Idol" next Sunday night, is a big favorite in Los Angeles, having played several engagements here at the Orpheum being invariably on the same bill as her former husband, Jack Norworth. Norworth was a monologist, and Miss Dresser always had a few of the best songs of the season. Her beauty and charming manner always won the audiences. Incidentally her first appearance on the stage was in a vaudeville road show under the management of Clarence Drown, manager of the Orpheum, before he came to Los Angeles. Miss Dresser usually sang songs written especially for her by her brother, the noted song writer, Paul Dresser.

It was shortly after her last appearance at the Orpheum here that Miss Dresser and Norworth separated and obtained a divorce. Norworth soon after married Nora Bayes, the famous comedienne, and new they are writing songs together, and are playing a star engagement in New York, and Miss Dresser married Jack Gardner, one of the most popular juvenile leading men in the East.

De Wolf Hopper secured Miss Dresser as his leading woman after devoting a great deal of time to discovering an actress who was beautiful, had a sense of humor and could get it over the footlights, and could sing. All these characteristics are demanded of Miss Dresser in "A Matinee Idol."

The seat sale for the engagement, which opens Sunday evening, will begin this morning at the Majestic box office.

In offering George Beban and his associate players in "The Sign of the Rose" as its stellar attraction the coming week, the Orpheum will proffer one of its finest things, if reports so far received count for anything. Mr. Beban, in his depiction of the Italian immigrant, has been declared the David Warfield of vaudeville. A fine bill will surround this act. Mme. Jewell and her manikins will do a miniature revue; Alf Grant and Ethel Hoag will have some fine songs and dances, and the Asahi troupe of Japanese magicians will astound with their feats, while the Imperial Russian dancers, Mlle. Camille Ober, Felice Morris & Company and the three Kuhns will remain, with new motion pictures, to make up the programme.

Elbert Hubbard, the Fra of East Aurora and the head of the Roycrofters, is now delighting Orpheum circuit audiences. He opened in Omaha last week, and is pronounced "the most unique figure in vaudeville." He is due here some time early in the new year.

Joseph Fogarty, one of the most popular members of the Hartman company, who has been absent from the Grand for two weeks owing to a severe illness, will make his re-appearance next Sunday afternoon as Mr. Downham, the New York solicitor in "The Earl and the Girl."

From the time she made her debut in "Twelfth Night," at the age of sixteen, the progress of Blanche Walsh toward the heights in the world of theaters has been steadily onward. She has been the star in more than a dozen productions, and never once has a play with which she was identified had its career cut short. Her new play, "The Other Woman," in which she will be seen at the Mason Opera House next Monday, has the prestige which her career carries with it. The play was designed to give her the opportunity to display her powers of emotional acting. The role which Miss Walsh has in this play is said to be the strongest in which she has ever been seen.

Miss Walsh herself will arrive this morning and will rest a few days.

The Lyric Club will be heard in concert at Simpson Auditorium tonight, under the baton of J. B. Poulin. An excellent programme, with several soloists, will be presented.

What "Uncle Tom" was to "the road" a decade ago, and what the "East Lynne" repertoire is to the back country even to this day, "Old Heidelberg" seems to the Belasco Theater now and forever. Notwithstanding the approach of Christmas, which is worse than a funeral to a box-office, the requests at the window de Clayton since the announcements of next week's revival have been as fast and furious as though the piece had never been seen in California.

Lyzia Lopowka and Anna Pavlowa are said to be combined with a great ballet, with an orchestra of symphonic proportions, which will tour the United States next year.

Pavlowa was at the Auditorium last week. Lopowka is an Orpheum headline feature this week.

H. J. Ginn, formerly of the Burbank company, will be seen in Los Angeles with Lillian Russell's company, in which he plays an important part. Mrs. Ginn (Maude Gilbert) is now with a metropolitan success.

PASSING OF NOTED SURGEON.

Dr. George Goodfellow, Famous in Army and Railroad Service, Dies Here of Nervous Breakdown.

Dr. George E. Goodfellow, chief surgeon of the Southern Pacific Railway Company for Arizona and Mexico, with headquarters at Tucson, died in the Angelus Hospital, this city, early yesterday morning, aged 54 years. He came to Los Angeles several weeks ago for treatment for a nervous affection, and death was the result of a complete breakdown.

Dr. Goodfellow was a native of Oakland, and in surgery his skill attracted national attention, and his culture and congenial nature won him many friends in club and professional circles.

In 1879 he went to Fort Lowell, Ariz., as a surgeon in the regular army, with the rank of major. Later he resigned from the army to take up private practice at Tombstone. When Gen. Shafter was in command in Cuba, he made Dr. Goodfellow Chief of Sanitation on the island, and after the war, he accompanied him on a visit to Los Angeles, where he was well known. He again returned to practice in Arizona, and was then made chief surgeon under Epes Randolph, Superintendent of the Southern Pacific lines in Mexico.

Dr. Goodfellow was a member of the California Club, of this city; of the Country Club of Oakland; the Bohemian Club, San Francisco; San Francisco Medical Society, American Medical Society and of the Mechanical Arts Society.

He leaves a widow and a daughter, the latter Mrs. H. H. Harvey of Oakland. A maiden sister, Miss Bertha Goodfellow of Oakland, and a amrried sister the wife of Dr. C. W. Fish of this city, survive him.

The funeral will be held at the residence of Dr. Fish, No. 2120 South Union avenue, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, followed by cremation at Rosedale.

AUDITORS TO ORGANIZE.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The attempt to organize the county auditors of the State had progressed so far that an initial meeting for the purpose had been called for December 21 in this city. County Auditor L. P. Williams took the initiative in this movement and it is believed that great good can be accomplished from exchanging ideas regarding the systems of book-keeping employed by this class of officials.

THIRD-STREET TUNNEL JAM.

Pedestrian Congestion Greatly Relieved, But There Seems to Be a Lot of People Who Can't Read Notices.

The efforts of the street department to secure a proper division of pedestrian travel through the Third-street tunnel, have resulted in a great improvement, but there are apparently many people living west of the tunnel, who cannot read.

It is noticeable that most of the men who persist in using the north walk, when coming toward the east, are Mexican laborers, who actually do not understand the notices posted by the city, while most of those who persist in walking westward through the tunnel, on the south walk, are women, in whose interest the agitation was started. They probably cannat read either. However, Director Humphries hopes to eventually see all obey the order to use the south walk coming east, and the north walk going west.

An abominable piece of sidewalk along the north side of Third street, just outside the west approach to the tunnel, is one obstacle in the way of getting people to walk on that side, and the owners of the bacant ground at that point should be compelled to have it repaired.

To let—Stores and Lofts, just north Chamber of Commerce Bldg. Will be finished December 15. M. E. HILLER, Agent, 331 S. Spring.

TROTTING MEN STIR SCANDAL.

Four Accused Men Said to Be From California.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Missouri men and Missouri horses held the center of the stage at the meeting of the board of appeals of the American Trotting Association, which adjourned tonight after a two-day session.

Although 125 cases were passed on, greatest interest was exhibited by horsemen in the "Duvenick" case.

In brief, the trotting association, which is making a searching inquiry, charged that members of the Duvenick family controlled a "string" of horses raced in the season of 1910 on Illinois, Missouri and southwestern tracks.

These horses, the association declares, were entered in races by men who did not own them, and handled in collusion against the rules of the association.

In some instances, it is alleged, that as many as three of the "Duvenick string" started in the same race, ostensibly as the entries of three different stables. The association rules provide that where two or more horses from the same stable start in the same race, that condition shall be plainly specified.

The men involved are H. L. Duvenick, Thomas Duvenick, R. C. Duvenick and William Harrison, all of California; Theodore Christian, Centertown, Missouri and J. E. Robards, St. Louis.

Secretary Knight of the board says the names of other men involved will be brought out before the spring meeting.

Five different cases against the Duvenicks were taken up. The first concerned the handling of the horses, Nathan C. and Raymond B., by J. E. Robards, of St. Louis.

Two of the five cases against the Duvenicks were brought by C. R. Webster of Shreveport, La., in connection with the race meeting at Monroe, La., in October. H. L. Duvenick and Wm. Harrison, with the horses Miss Columbo and Joe Mack, were specified. The board ordered that money won by the two horses at this meeting be returned to the association for redistribution according to the rules.

Further action by the board of appeals in connection with the Duvenick case will be taken at the meeting next May, when it is expected that the history and ownership of the horses involved will have been clearly established.

William A. Posey of Corydon, Ky., was expelled from American Trotting Association tracks for the violation of the rules in connection with the racing of his horse "Sunny Girl."

Harry Palmer of La Crosse, Wis., and Marc Elfah, alias Madge Kennedy were expelled.

B. E. Burton and A. M. Scofield of San Francisco, Cal., were cited to appear before the association in connection with their pending cases.

Permanent reinstatement was granted the Calgary Turf Club and Alexander Storey of the Northwest Territory, Canada. Shepard Chain, C. A. Lee and their bay gelding S. and C. of Coffeyville, Kas., were denied their protest against the Anthony Fair Association of Kansas and J. C. Hamilton of Nebraska City, and his horse Silver H., on the ground that a sixth heat is mandatory in the event of no decision, and their refusal to enter the sixth heat disbarred them from a share in the money.

HA! AT LAST.

CATCHES JEFF CUTTING DAISIES.

Sleuth With Subpoena Gum Shoes for Days Before Surprising Big Fellow—Is Witness in Moving Picture Suit and Will Tell Why Is Prize Fight.

Big Jim Jefferies, late prize fighter and once referred to as the hope of the white race, was found yesterday by Detective Maehl of the District Attorney's office, innocently clipping daisies in his garden on Cyprus avenue, and subpoenaed as a witness in the prosecution of the Arcadia prize fight picture promoters. The trial is set for the 21st. inst.

Jeffries, according to Maehl, had maintained a safe distance between himself and the subpoena-servers since the picture trial was continued several days ago. For days Maehl maintained a lone guard at the big fellow's ranch at Burbank, hoping to serve him with the necessary paper, but in vain. A close watch was kept on the Kipper-Jeffries liquid counter on Spring street, with the same success.

Then word was received that Jeffries had been seen in the gray dawn of the morn, taking exercise walks about the grounds of the family home at Cypress avenue. Thither Maehl hastened—but no Jeff. Many hours the detective shielded his form behind a stout pepper a block away, his eyes glued on Jeffries' home for a sign of his victim.

When he was about to give up the quest yesterday afternoon he heard a distant rumble and saw his man leave his home. Armed with a pair of shears Jeff started to hew daisies. Lightly the detective approached. Then as he stood beside the kneeling giant, he softly spoke his name, and thrust the subpoena into his hand.

Hurriedly glancing over the paper, Jeffries yelled in tones that might be likened to distant thunder:

"Well, what the h— do you know about this? What do those dubs want to make a spectacle of me for. Didn't I get enough"—and a faraway look that told of a giant black and a million wallops came into his eyes. "Guess they want to rub it in," he sadly murmured, as he ascended the steps of his home. The detective beat it for a car. The case in which Jeffries will have to appear involves B. A. Byrne, who attempted several months ago to show the pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Arcadia in violation of the State prize fight statutes. Byrne was arrested and, in the subsequent proceedings, introduced the defense that the film exhibit is not a prize-fight.

Deputy District Attorney Blair, who is in charge of the prosecution, holds that the reproduction of a prize fight is a violation of the statutes. Jeffries, therefore, will be called upon to testify whether or not the Reno fiasco was a prize fight. If he says no, the county's case will fall through, and the opinion of many fight fans throughout the country will have been upheld. But if Jeff swears that it was a real fight, those same fans will say exceedingly raw things about him. So the big fellow is bound to get it going and coming.

Famous Wrestler Declares That He Has No Intention of Going on the Mat Again.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Frank Gotch, world's wrestling champion, who has defended his title successfully against the invasion of foreign grapplers since he wrested the championship from Hackenschmidt in 1908, and who announced his retirement from the mat game when he threw Zbyszsko last winter, arrived in Chicago yesterday from his home in Humboldt, Iowa, to be a spectator at the Hackenschmidt-Westergaard match at the Coliseum tonight.

The first statement Gotch made to several friends who were eager to find out if he would be willing to consider a match with Hackenschmidt was to the effect that he is through with wrestling and that no inducement could bring him back on the mat.

"I am through with the mat game," Gotch said. "I made this announcement last winter, and I am going to show the world that I was sincere in making the statement."

The November statement of the London Board of Trade shows increases of $12,399,500 in imports and $17,878,500 in exports. The imports of food stuffs decreased, but there were gains of $7,500,000 in American cotton and $2,750,000 in Egyptian cotton. Manufactured goods made the largest increase in exports.

OPENS MONDAY NIGHT.

VANDERBILT CUP AT SHRINE SHOW.

Alco Trophy the Center of Interesting Display.

Cars to Be Put Into Place in a Single Day.

Automobile Show to Be Educational and Classy.

One of the striking exhibits at the Shrine Auditorium Automobile Show is to be the Vanderbilt Cup, which Harry Grant won in the Alco car on October 1. This handsome silver trophy is to be the centerpiece of the Alco display which the local agency is to make. The cup will be shown with one of the Alco models, which is an exact duplicate of the winning car in the Vanderbilt Cup Race.

Efforts have been made before to bring this emblem to the Pacific Coast. There has always been difficulty in shipping the cup and the plans have fallen through. This time the cup is to be here for the opening of the Shrine show Monday night.

The exhibit will all be in place by 5 o'clock, when the doors are to be thrown open on what promises to be the most interesting automobile display ever made.

The committee expects to have every car in place on the floor of the Shrine Auditorium Monday evening with only a day to pull off the big stunt. The machines are to be ready, the booth spaces prepared, and the exhibit will then be rushed into place in order to make the opening auspicious.

Among the striking exhibits will be the Kissel Kar, winner of the Los Angeles-Phoenix race. Covered with the same dust and mire with which it finished at the fair grounds in Phoenix, this car is to be shown. The red racer is one of the cars which is certain to command a large share of attention.

COMING HERE.

Dealers who are to show their late 1911 models are busy hustling the machines across the continent. These machines, coming by express, are to arrive the latter part of this week and all should be here in plenty of time for the grand filling-up stunt Monday.

This show is to be educational. Stripped chassis, with motors running encased in glass, and with the working parts exposed, are to be seen in a number of booths. The operations of an automobile can be studied at leisure at the Shrine exhibit. The novice can find out just how and why a car runs.

The National Motor Car Company has taken space in the show. Three of the newest of the cars are to be exhibited. These should arrive tomorrow. The fore-door National, a roadster, and a torpedo type, will be part of the display.

BIG DISPLAY.

The Haynes Company is to exhibit at least three models. A seven-passenger touring car is the largest machine which this concern is planning to show. The Abbott-Detroit Company expects to show a fore-door model, a toy-tonneau, a touring car, roadster, and a stripped chassis, making a complete exhibit. There are to be four Lexingtons in the Burkhard-Crippen booth. The Pioneer Commercial Company is to show one five-ton truck, Reliance truck and two Randolph trucks.

W. J. Burt is planning an interesting Auburn exhibit. His display will include the seven-passenger car, the roadster and a chassis which is to show the working parts of the new Auburn 1911 types. This section of the exhibit is to be classy, and Burt is taking plenty of time to arrange his cars to his own liking. He expects to make a sales record during the week, as he already has had many inquiries from those who expect to take particular stock in the Auburn line.

ROBBERS USE AUTOMOBILE.

Victim Reports Fanciful Stunt, Which Consists of a Sorrow Ride Before Money Is Demanded.

The fanciest footpads so far operating in Los Angeles were reported last night, according to B. F. Wolfskill of No. 3911 South Hill street. Forcing the victim out for an automobile sorrow ride is the stunt they pulled off.

Wolfskill told the police that he had just alighted from a Grand Avenue car at the corner of West Thirty-ninth street early in the evening when he was stopped by two men, one of whom thrust a blue revolver under his nose and commanded him to do as he was bidden. No effort to rob him was made on the street, wolfskill said, but he was ordered to enter a small runabout automobile, ready at hand, in which he was whirled away to the corner of Forty-fifth street and South Park avenue. At this point, always facing the mussle of the revolver, he was ordered out and robbed of $10.50, all the money he carried. The robbers then cleared the automobile and speeded away.

Wolfskill could not give a clear description of the men and had not seen the number of their automobile.

WHEAT CROP AREA GROWS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The area in the United States sown to winter wheat this fall is estimated by the crop reporting board of the United States Department of Agriculture to have been 2.5 per cent. more than the revised estimated area in the fall of 1909, equivalent to an increase of 838,000 acres, the indicated total being 34,485,000 acres. The condition of winter wheat on Dec. 1 was 82.5 compared with 95.8 in 1909; 85.2 in 1908 and 91.3 the ten years' average. The area sown this fall to rye is estimated at 1.2 per cent. less than the revised estimated area sown in the fall of 1909, equivalent to a decrease of 25,000 acres, the indicated total area being 2,138,000 acres. The condition on December 1 of rye was 92.6 against 94.1 in 1909; 87.6 in 1908, and 93.5 the ten years' average. Area and condition by States on the Coast follow:

State.	Acreage Winter wheat.	Condition.
Oregon	552,000	93
California	990,000	80
United States	34,485,000	82.5

The case of James A. Cook, the American railway conductor accused of complicity in the freight car robberies on the Guadalajara division of the National Railways has been closed by the return of the cash bond of 4000 pesos under which Cook was released from the State penitentiary at Guadalajara, Mex., on February 22 last.

On Wonderfully Easy Terms.

THIS house WAS NOT BUILT FOR PROFIT. To start our new tract at "39th and Western," we built four of the finest little homes in Los Angeles. We built them more for models than anything else. We have sold three of them. The one remaining cannot be duplicated in this city (on the same priced lot) for less than $3750. "Regular Builders" do not "put houses together" like this. As we said before, these four were "Models". They are as far ahead of the regular built $3250 houses as the Maxwell is ahead of a five-cent spring picture. REMEMBER—JUST ONE LEFT and it will not last long. The lot is a NORTH FRONT, and close to Western Ave., and only one block from the University Yellow Cars. Surely a home of this improvement, convenience and advantage IS NOW. Will make terms of ONLY $300 cash, (or even $250 cash) balance $30 per month, including interest. If you are looking for a Real Bargain in a Pretty Little Home, THIS IS IT. DON'T DELAY. RESERVE this is the ONLY ONE.

Call at Downtown Office this morning, or at [illegible] Corner "39th and Western" this afternoon.

HOW TO GET THERE—Take University Yellow car on Spring st. BE SURE and take car with upper sign reading, "West 39th st." Ride to end of line. Manager of Tract at [illegible] EVERY AFTERNOON and ALL DAY Sunday.

IMPORTANT—When you go to see this property BE SURE and GO DIRECT to OUR OWN OFFICE as there are NO OTHER AUTHORIZED AGENTS. And—for your protection as well as our own—DO NOT confuse us or our tract, with any other of a similar name.

On Wonderfully Easy Terms.

This house WAS NOT BUILT FOR PROFIT. To start our new tract at "29th and Western," we built four of the finest little bungalows in Los Angeles. We built them more for models than anything else. We have sold three of them. The one remaining cannot be duplicated in this city on the same priced lot for less than $2750. "Regular Builders" do not "put houses together" like this. As we said before, these four were "Models". They are as fine a bungalow for the money as the Manse is ahead of a five-cent moving picture show. REMEMBER—JUST ONE LEFT and it will not last long. The lot is a NORTH FRONT, and close to Western Ave., and only one block from the University Yellow Cars. Every high class improvement, convenience and advantage IS NOW. Will make terms of $500 cash, and even $250 cash. Balance $20 per month, including interest. If you are looking for a Real Bargain in a Pretty Little Home, THIS IS IT. DON'T DELAY. REMEMBER this is the ONLY ONE.

Call at Downtown Office this morning, or at Branch Office, corner "29th and Western" this afternoon.

HOW TO GET THERE—Take University Yellow car on Spring st. BE SURE and take car with upper sign reading, "West 39th st." Ride to end of line. Manager of Tract at branch office EVERY AFTERNOON and ALL DAY Sunday.

IMPORTANT—When you go to see this property DO NOT STOP and GO DIRECT to OUR OWN OFFICE as there are NO OTHER AUTHORIZED AGENTS. And—for your protection as well as our own—DO NOT confuse us or our tract, with any other of a similar name.

New and Beautiful Six and Seven Room Bungalows on Pacific Avenue, Hollywood.

These houses have very artistic exteriors. INSIDE ARRANGEMENT THE BEST, having beamed ceilings, paneled walls, built-in buffet, leaded glass door, plate glass windows, sanitary cabinet kitchen, open fire place, light and airy bedrooms, hardwood floors in two rooms, electric light fixtures the very best, prepared brick mantels—in fact, the houses are just as cozy as could be made.

For the next few days we have decided to make special terms on these properties. If you want a bargain, now is the time to secure one of the most ideal homes ever offered for the money in Los Angeles. These attractive bungalows are located in the center of the rapidly growing residential part of the city, near good car service, fine street work, gas, sidewalks, trees and lawns already in.

Go out to see these houses; agent will be on the tract. Take Hollywood or Laurel Canyon car and get off at Gardner st. Walk one block north.

Just the few minutes necessary to read this brief description will give you a partial idea of the beauty and completeness of this magnificent home. Its surroundings are magnificent—a most aristocratic section of the Wilshire district. Just a short distance north of Wilshire Boulevard you reach the house with its broad lawn sloping up to the very wide cement veranda which extends full width of house with steps to porte cochere at each end; the lower front of house and trimmings are of solid gray granite; through tiled vestibuled entrance with large oak door you enter a reception hall paneled almost to the ceiling in oak with boarder of brown velour and gilt braid; wide archway to a perfectly beautiful living-room paneled high in Peruvian mahogany with imported green silk velour above and touches of ebony on the woodwork; there is a rich brown Gruby tile mantel and elaborate cluster light; on the other side of reception hall double doors open to den or library, handsomely decorated and paneled in Tobasco mahogany, built-in writing desk and bookcases with cut glass knobs, big circle plate window at one end and large front windows; the dining-room is beautifully decorated, oak paneling to plate rail, brown velour panels above that and a hand decorated frieze in grape design in gilt; there is direct at last window one side with five casement windows and windows either side of the fine large buffet; buffet kitchen fitted with cupboards, china closet, broom closet, laundry tubs and cement basement; servant's room opens off screen porch; rear hall; dainty breakfast room in white enamel, hand decorated, mahogany buffet and beamed windows. Upstairs you will find five beautiful bedrooms all in white enamel with mahogany doors and cut glass knobs, dainty rose papers, floors and trim from three in one bed room big windows in each; sun room or sleeping porch has 25 feet of windows; bathroom is tile, has shower bath, built-in dressing case with full length mirror, oval standard lavatory and finest fittings throughout; stairway to attic finished off for billiard room; splendid hardwood floors throughout house; in the rear yard is a complete Japanese scenic garden all in miniature with miniature lake and mountains and Japanese dwarfed pines, firs and shrubs. The home with grounds laid out complete has just been finished and is all ready to move into.

The price is extremely reasonable and will no doubt suit you as well as does the house itself.

FOR SALE—
ARLINGTON SQUARE.
CITY CAR SERVICE.
CONVENIENCES—IMPROVEMENTS.
This town grows some! The census figures tell the story! Nowhere is it growing faster than in the southwest—right in the Arlington Square district where hundreds, yes hundreds, of homes have been erected within the last year—where a closely built up residence section is sending the value of property higher and higher. Arlington Square is in the very midst of this substantial growth, served by several car lines, all with a five cent fare. It has great natural beauty, and lies a little south of the West Adams district. It is improved with graded and oiled streets, cement walks and curbs and wide parkings planted to large shade trees. It's an ideal home place. Lots can be bought today at $725 and up and all you need is a little cash—just pay in small monthly payments. Go see this property. Take Inglewood car to my tract office at Arlington street and Santa Barbara avenue. Fare, five cents. Or go to 2112 West Jefferson st., where Mr. Potter, with his automobile, will speed you the property.

Country Property.

FOR SALE—

A 40 acre tract one-half mile from Livingston; highly improved; 16 acres in full bearing apricots, 4 acres prunes and samonas, 15 acres peaches, 5 acres raisin grapes, 5 acres alfalfa, one-half acre oranges, one-half acre yard and barn lots. Trees and vines all thrifty and in fine condition. Soil sandy loam.

Every acre has water right, canal and laterals, all in good shape. Besides the ditch water for all irrigation purposes, there is a fine well in the yard of the residence furnishing abundance of finest water for domestic use, gardens, chickens, barns; water piped to troughs for stock and chickens, house, yard and garden. New wind mill and tank. A fair house of three rooms. Barn for four horses and hay.

There goes with the place a fairly good span of mules, 24 Plymouth Rock chickens, a good farm wagon, two new harrows, two good plows, a mowing machine, one Fresno Scraper and various other small tools and farm implements.

This is a fine income property now, and being young trees will grow better each year. With proper management the place will produce the coming year $100 per acre, a total of $4000.

Everything ready to move right in and go to work. Plenty of places not as good, miles from a railroad and town, selling for $300 per acre.

Fine climate. Almost adjoining a live and rapidly growing little town; a ten thousand dollar school house being built in less than a mile from the place.

Terms $4000 cash; balance in one and two years.

FOR SALE—

$25.00
Acre.

We have just had listed with us two of the best pieces of alfalfa, fruit and grain land in the San Joaquin Valley. One is 320 acres and the other 240 acres. They are four and five miles from the main line of the Santa Fe Railroad, within one mile of a school-house and within 4 miles of the growing town of Wasco. An abundance of water for irrigation can be had either from pumping or artesian wells. Wells in the vicinity thoroughly demonstrate the water proposition. This land is close enough to the newly-developed oil district in Kern county to make a good market for all kinds of produce. We can make reasonable terms on this property.

FOR SALE—CALIFORNIA—
We have 620 acres in Glenn County, near Willows, the county seat, the livest place in the State today, having doubled its population in the last ten months; is the only town in the County of any notice and getting all the trade and business of the County; now has 4000 people and is an up-to-date city in every respect.

The streets of this bustling city are now opening up to our tract, which is only a mile—or may be a little more—from the Court House and the High School.

There is not a more beautiful or richer and more productive tract of land in the State than this land. Abundance of water near the surface to irrigate by wells. No better land for alfalfa, all kinds of fruit, nuts, vegetables, berries and all round farming. Eighty acres was in barley last year and raised twenty-eight sacks to the acre. The whole tract, except this eighty acres, is being sown to grain and with an average season should make thirty sacks to the acre, or 16,000, or $16,000.

Land no better than this and less than a mile nearer to town is selling at $300 an acre, and being put in alfalfa and fruits.

Our price for the section as a whole is $65 per acre; for half section $70; for quarter section $75. It will sell in small subdivisions of twenty acre tracts at $100 per acre and up, readily. But we will not sell less than a quarter section at a time.

Terms, one-third cash, balance in one and two years.

FOR SALE—

SUCCESS
IS A CERTAINTY
ON THESE RICH LANDS.

Don't buy where you have to scratch along for a living. Put your money and your labor where a rich reward will crown them. My Fresno Valley lands assure you this. Just south of the city of Fresno—rich, abundantly watered land that will grow splendid crops of alfalfa, corn, tobacco, peaches, apricots, figs, walnuts, grapes, vegetables and berries—where you can do well at general farming, dairying and poultry raising. The Southern Pacific and Santa Fe Railways both cross this property, and each has a station there. This means successful marketing of your crops. The soil is rich. Ditch water now on hand, per acre per year. Water for pumping is had at only 16 feet from pumps already installed—the water goes with the land. There is a good town right at the property with schools, stores, telephones, free rural delivery, etc. The big city of Fresno is only a few minutes' ride by train. You can buy this land planted to alfalfa or other growing crops, if you like, or without crops. The price now is $150 per acre cash. All you need is a small amount of cash. The balance can be paid over four years' time. Come in and see my exhibit of products. Get my booklet and learn about my free excursions.

Every Man Read This

This treatment is said to have acquired a wonderful reputation throughout the East, owing to its peculiar propensity to fortify the nerve force and generate health and a consequent personal magnetism, so essential to the happiness of every normal human being. It is claimed to be a blessing to those who are physically impaired, gloomy, despondent, nervous and who have trembling of the limbs, dizziness, heart palpitation, cold hands and feet, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing and general inability to act rationally as others do. Also of vast benefit to writers, professional men, office workers and the victims of society's late hours and over-indulgence in wines, liquors, etc.

By preparing the treatment at home secretly, no one need know of another's trouble, while the ingredients are much used in filling various prescriptions, so that even the purchase of them separately need occasion no timidity.

If the reader decides to try it, get 3 ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound and 1 ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand 2 hours; then get 1 ounce compound essence cardiol and 1 ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom); mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at night.

This contains no opiates whatever and may also be used by women who suffer with their nerves with absolute certainty of prompt and lasting benefits.

FIND MASONIC PAPERS IN MINE.

Strange Experience of Five Americans in Mexico.

Safe in Chamber Holds Old Documents.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 3.—Masonic demits that were issued from Ireland to Philip Roseman more than 115 years ago have just been unearthed by prospectors who roam the hills of Zacatecas, Mexico. The mouldy documents, obviously prized as cherished treasures by their owner whose memory has passed from the knowledge of anyone now resident in this republic, were exhumed from a hidden chamber in dilapidated and caved-in workings of one of the old Spanish mines.

A while ago a little group of American miners bought a deserted antigua near the town of Fresnillo, thirty miles northwest of the capital city of Zacatecas. The only apparent virtues of the ground lay in dubious croppings of gold ore and the legend among the neighboring Indians that Spaniards had wrested fortunes from that domain more than a century ago.

Jack McCormick, a practical miner who had been among those present in the boom days of Dawson and Nome and Goldfield fell in with the Gringos who had bought the old Spanish mine of Fresnillo. The Americans needed a prospector and McCormick needed the grubstake.

While negotiations were pending there blew into the city of Zacatecas an old-time prospector-pal of McCormick, one Hans Nielsen, whom he had met at Bingham and Park City, Utah. The two hied themselves to Fresnillo, assembled the requisites of camp life and pitched their tent on the croppings of the old Spanish mine. They remember their fourth day as the date of their strange discovery.

Excavations had made accessible an ancient working tunnel by which, according to all the earmarks remaining, the pioneers of the diggings had probed their treasure vault. Back in the mountain this adit led to stopes, upraises and winzas, from which the picture ore had been gutted.

On the memorable fourth day McCormick and Nielsen came upon a face in a side drift which they first took to be a solid breast of ore. A little more candle light and a few more taps from their picks, however, convinced them that the obstruction was only an ingeniously built wall of rock solidified by time and cemented into an apparently solid mass by water dripping from the roof of the tunnel.

Breaking through the three-foot partition, the prospectors found themselves in a chamber of irregular shape, approximating in size about twenty by thirty feet, with gouges of ten to twenty feet on either side made in evident pursuit of fat streaks of gold ore and at the nether end a continuance of the old drift for a length of sixty feet.

Back in one of the recesses of the chamber, dug into solid ledge matter that assays well into auriferous values, the miners found an old rusty iron safe of great size, evidently handmade, provided with primitive locks and hinges. Because of its dilapidated condition there was little difficulty in breaking it open.

Apparently the strong box had served chiefly as a receptacle for high-grade bullion and cash, since there was nothing inside except badly decayed buckskin sacks and jewelry two centuries old, except a rusty iron box, measuring five by three inches by a half-inch thick, roughly soldered.

The prospectors opened the iron flask and found two papers, each bearing legible writing on the first page of the old-fashioned foolscap that was in vogue in England 200 and 300 years ago. Although the paper was badly decomposed and ready to fall apart while the ribbons and seals forming parts of the documents are decayed almost beyond recognition, the ink with which the text is written stands out as clearly as though the writing were only a few days old. One of the demits deciphers as follows:

"To All whom it may concern. We do hereby Certify that Brother Philip Roseman is A regular registered Master Mason in Lodge No. 472 Held in Ballinamore &c During his Stay with us Behaved himself as Becometh An honest Br & as Such we recomend him to all Regular Lodges Round the Globe Given under our hands &c. Seal of Our Lodge & in Our Lodge room this 12th day of June 1795 & in Masonry 5795. Admitted the First day of June 1794 Declecared off the 12th day of June 1795 JOHN LITTLE Master Wm. MAHON Senr Warden EDW PRYCE Junr Warden PETER CORMICK Seetry."

Such is the evidence of credentials Philip Roseman received from his blue lodge in Ireland. His Royal Arch paper, of which a photograph has been taken and an engraving made, is literally translated below:

"We the High Priest &c &c of the Royal Arch Superexcellent Encampment of No. 472 Held in Ballinmore &c on the Registry of Ireland &c.

"We do hereby Certify that Brother Philip Roseman Past Master of P. Lodge was by us Initiated & Installed In the most Noble & Sublime Degrees of R. A. S. E., Masonry he having with Due honour & fortitude To the Royal Comunity freely Suported the Amaising Tryals of Skill & Valour Attending his Admition.

"And as such we recomend him to All Royal Arch Superexcelent Masons Round the Globe Given Under our hands & Seal of our Grand Charter this 12th day of June 1795 five &c in R. A. S. E. Masonry 5795 five.

"JOHN LITTLE H P
"Wm. MAHON C. G.
"EDW. T. PRYCE G. M.
"PETER CORMICK Seety."

These two papers were written and executed, signed, sealed and delivered 115 years and six months ago. A glance at the handwriting would convince the casual investigator that the man who prepared them was not only a trifle lacking in education but was bent with years. It is fairly safe to venture that he was born a century and four score years ago. Presuming that the bearer of the papers was only thirty-five years of age when he gained possession of the old Zacatecas mine, he must have been born in Ireland a century and a half ago.

The iron receptacle and its long-guarded Masonic papers were turned over to the Mexican Masonic Journal for safe keeping, and this magazine holds them subject to the disposal of anyone who may be able to identify them and lay proper claim to possession.

The fighting between O'Brien and Redmond, the strongest candidates of the respective factions of the Nationalist party, to represent Cork city, resulted in a sweeping victory for the leader of "All For Ireland League." Mr. O'Brien not only heads the poll with a majority of 628, but takes with him Maurice Healey with a majority of 523 over Redmond. Sixty-four members were voted for today, but only thirty-six results were announced. Most of the other contests were in counties where the polling places are scattered so the outcome will not be known until tomorrow.

DUBLIN AND LIMERICK.

The results in Dublin city and Limerick city will also be announced tomorrow. With the present feeling increased a declaration of the polling in these places at night was considered likely to stir up trouble.

Speaking at Wrexham this evening, Mr. Balfour practically admitted defeat and implored the government, if it did not like tariff reform, to reconsider the whole situation before the next colonial conference and suggest some other method of meeting the impending danger, which was dependent upon the position of the government and its obligation "to the line."

It was clear, he said, the nation could not be trusted in the keeping of the Liberal government, and, he declared, before long another appeal must be made to the country.

Premier Asquith, addressing his constituents at East Fife tonight, took up Mr. Balfour's challenge to discuss home rule. He had never given any uncertain sound upon home rule, he said, and recalled a speech which he made on this subject in Albert Hall a year ago.

NEW WORLD'S RECORD.

Barrier Travels at Nearly Ninety Miles an Hour, According to Report.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Dec. 7.—Rene this afternoon when he flew more than sixteen miles in 10 min. 55 1-5 sec., thereby winning $5000 offered by the Memphis Commercial Appeal. He outwinged John B. Moissant, who blazed the way over the course by nearly eight minutes. Both used Bleriot monoplanes.

Barrier traveled at an average of 87.93 miles an hour. The previous record over a closed course was established by Leon Morane, at Rheims, last August. In this flight 65 miles an hour was attained.

Weather conditions were perfect. The air was cool, but a bright sun was shining and there was just the suggestion of a breeze.

Charles K. Hamilton, in his heavier biplane, missed death narrowly and in his effort performed a spectacular feat of airmanship. In an exhibition flight he had reached a height of 200 feet when his motor went dead. Then he started to glide, eventually striking the earth with a thump, his machine a wreck but his bones whole.

Roland G. Garros, who sustained a broken nose and other hurts when he fell several days ago, demonstrated his pluck today. His face still bandaged, he went aloft for ten minutes.

DARING.

ROBBERS BIND AND GAG CLERK IN WOODWARD HOTEL; ROB SAFE.

TWO robbers, evidently old hands at the business, robbed the safe of the Woodward Hotel, No. 421 West Eighth street, early this morning, after gagging and trussing the night clerk, H. A. Lee. They obtained $60 and made their escape long before Lee was found and released from his bounds.

The robbery was well planned. The robbers waited until Lee, who had gone upstairs, descended in the elevator and stepped out. He was seized, thrown on the floor, his feet tied with a rope and a gag thrust into his mouth. Dragging the body out of the line of vision from the street, the robbers forced the safe and took the cash. Lee, suffering agony, lay in his bonds forty minutes until the night porter, H. B. Hamman, entered the hotel.

When he saw the bound form on the floor behind the desk, he was paralyzed for a moment. Then it was the work of a minute to cut the rope that bound Lee's legs and remove the gag, but it was several minutes before Lee could give an account of what had happened to him. As soon as possible the police were notified, but meantime, the robbers had a good start with little chance of getting them.

The Woodward is prominently situated, on a well-traveled street. The hold-up convinces the police that they have old and bold men to contend with.

HAS HIS TROUBLES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—As chairman of the Jockey Club, and leader of the racing interests in New York State during the years when this sport was under the hottest legislative fire August Belmont was asked today to furnish the missing links in the chain of evidence adduced from minor officers of various racing organizations by the committee that is seeking proof of legislative corruption.

Mr. Belmont was recalled at his own request, but after he had carried out his purpose by emphatically denying any implication that he was concerned in alleged questionable opposition to the race bills, he was obliged to withstand a fire of questions by Lynn Bruce, attorney for the committee.

At the end of an hour, the witness absolutely refused to testify further. He declared that Judge Bruce's questions were not asked in good faith, but for the purpose of confusing him and leading him into a misstatement. The committee's attorney said he had no such purpose, and not only suspended his examination, but told the witness he would have the opportunity to look over his testimony and make any corrections he might desire.

Mr. Belmont added little to the information already gathered.

Generally, the questions were designed to interpret former statements made by treasurers and secretaries of racing clubs, who had been able to tell the committee what sums they expended and when they spent them, but failed when it came to a question, "What for?" Mr. Belmont was asked to give a more itemized explanation of the expenses which the former had said were incurred for "legal" or "publicity" purposes.

He told who performed the Jockey Club's legal work, but gave no details of their methods. A personal check for $250 which he gave to Amasa Thornton, a New York lawyer, for publicity work, was the only specific sum the final destination of which he ever suggested.

Mr. Belmont testified Thornton knew several clergymen who believed the racing associations were conducting racing in a respectable manner, and this money was used to spread their views.

Mr. Belmont said Judge E. S. Coyne had been recommended by former Congressman James W. Wadsworth as a man well fitted to guard the interests of racing clubs.

Coyne devoted all his time to the legal side of the racing matters, and for his services for five years, received about $40,000.

"For what purposes was the fund of $40,000 raised in 1908?" asked Mr. Bruce.

"To promote a proper understanding about racing and to promote the sport" said the witness.

He could not remember any item in the bills presented for this work.

OUT FOR WORLD MARKS

OLDFIELD READY FOR GREAT RACE ON ASCOT PARK TRACK.

THOUSANDS expect to see Barney Oldfield at Ascot Park Saturday and Sunday when the master of monster motors is to try to smash all world records. Oldfield is circling the track at terrific speed and yesterday showed his class as a racer. When the meet is over, Oldfield, who soon expects to visit Australia, should have several more world marks chalked up to his credit.

The Ascot track is in splendid shape for fast work. Oldfield is in condition for the race of his life. He is going out to tear all the marks to shreds that he can get at. The Benz is working perfectly and Oldfield expects to make a successful circuit of one mile against the world mark.

Entries continue to come in for the big meet. Oldfield and half a dozen other star pilots will battle for the handsome trophies hung up by the management.

The latest machines to be added to the list of entrants are the Parry and the Cutting cars. The former is owned by Edward H. Bechtel, a young German pilot who is staying in Los Angeles this winter and who expects to drive the car. He has had his car overhauled and tuned up to try and secure Oldfield's scalp in the stock events.

Bechtel's machine is of the regular Parry stock design and capable of developing a burst of speed. The car has never been seen on the Coast and its work will be watched with interest by the auto fans.

The Cutting entry was made by Louis Arms who will also drive the machine. It is a regular stock model but as the car was designed by a former star speed performer on both the motorcycle and the bicycle, C. D. Cutting, it is regarded as being capable of traveling faster than most machines on a circular track. It will be recalled that the Cutting car driven by George Clark on the Motordrome track ran second to Barney Oldfield's world's championship Knox stock car and established a world's record for its class in the hour race.

Arms has entered his car in all the events in which it is eligible and will probably quit the two days' racing with his share of honors.

THE CAT'S OUT.

WRIGHTS SHOW THEIR HAND IN BIG AVIATION LITIGATION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Receipts of the recent international aviation tournament at Belmont Park, approximating $198,000, have been tied up by a suit instituted against the Aero Corporation which managed the event by the Wright Company.

An injunction restraining the Aero Corporation from distributing the proceeds of the meet was granted today. The money is held by the Equitable Trust Company.

At the same time an attachment for $15,000 was served on the Aero Corporation. It is on this attachment that the suit hinges, the Wrights alleging this amount, in addition to the payment of between $30,000 and $40,000, which already has been made to them, is due them for services at the meet.

The original contract of the Wright Company with the Aero Corporation called for payment to the company of 25 per cent. of the gross receipts for not interfering with the meet and later they agreed to accept $25,000 cash instead of this percentage and at the same time to furnish five machines and five aviators for the meet. They performed their part of the contract. The Wright Company alleges, however, that there also was an oral agreement by which the company was to receive $15,000 more, provided the receipts warranted it.

The claim of the Wright Company was denounced today by officials of the Aero Corporation as outrageous.

CRAZED?

FIRES HOUSE, TAKES CHILDREN TO HILLS.

Hollywood Woman, Lately Released From State Institution, Lights Piles of Oil-Soaked Rags In House and Disappears.

A DESPERATE CLIMAX to years of semi-insanity, unhappiness and discontent came to Mrs. Minnie Spencer yesterday morning when, with her two little children awaiting her in the front yard, she set alight great heaps of oil-soaked rags and paper in her tiny home at No. 4312 Santa Monica avenue, Hollywood, and fled from the place, locking the door behind her.

The blaze was discovered almost immediately, and extinguished before great harm was done, but in the meantime the woman and her children, a boy of 7 and a girl of 10, have disappeared utterly. The fact that she is known to have been subject to fits of frightful rage that amount to insanity and to have threatened the lives of both her husband and the children, gives color to a grave fear as to their safety.

After leaving the house, she was seen to go northward toward the Santa Monica hills, leading the children. The fact that she had very little money is taken to mean that she is near by, and a vigorous search of the hills and canyons is being prosecuted by the county authorities. It is feared that the children, neither of whom was strong, will become exhausted and die before they can be recovered, even though no violence be offered them by the supposedly half-crazed mother.

As strange a phase as any that the case presents is the apparent indifference of the husband and father, Arthur R. Spencer, employed as a toy salesman at Hamburger's. The firing of his home by his wife occurred at about 10 o'clock. After it had been extinguished by neighbors and the Hollywood fire department, Spencer was at once notified by telephone of the occurrence and of the triple disappearance. He expressed no surprise and when asked if he would come out at once and assist in the search, replied that he could not leave the store until 5 o'clock.

In the meantime the matter was reported to the local authorities by Patrolman Windsor, of the Hollywood police, and Deputy Sheriffs Dan Crowley and Frank Cochran were dispatched to the scene in the sheriff's automobile. The remainder of the morning and the entire afternoon was spent in a vain search for the missing woman and children. Up to a late hour last night nothing had been heard of them.

HUSBAND SAYS LITTLE.

Seen last night, Spencer was reluctant to make known what he knew of the facts immediately preceding his wife's act and her disappearance. He said that the last he had seen of her was when she came to the store, Hamburgers, at about 4 o'clock, in the afternoon before. Apparently there had been a quarrel, for the woman's message, to the effect that she was going north to her relatives with the children, was written out and sealed in an envelope. This Mrs. Spencer would not even give to her husband herself but handed it to the little girl, Victor, to take to her father.

"I was very busy at the time," said Spencer. "I spoke politely to my wife but did not talk with her. I read the letter, which stated that she and the children were going North at once. I kissed my little daughter, Victor, and my 7-year-old boy, Albert, and told them all goodby. They went out and that is the last time that I have seen them. They were gone when I arrived home that night and I supposed that they were already on their way to San Francisco, where her parents live."

Inquiry in Hollywood developed the fact that the woman had tried to borrow money of the neighbors, saying that she was going away. She also telephoned to one of the local truck and storage companies, asking them to come out and get the furniture of the house, which she wished to sell. The request was complied with but not until after the attempt to fire the house by the woman herself.

She and the children were seen to take a car toward Los Angeles before dark Tuesday. They were gone all night in order, it is thought, to create the impression that they had left for San Francisco. At 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning they alighted from a Los Angeles car and went immediately to the little house, about a block distant.

Ten minutes later she sent her little daughter to Richard's grocery to purchase 10 cents worth of kerosene and a pie.

RUNS AWAY, HOUSE SMOKES.

A little later, Mrs. Spencer reappeared, leading the children out through the pretty little front garden of their home and seating them upon the steps leading to the street. Then she went back into the house and stayed for some time. All at once she was seen to run out at the front door, lock it and hurry along the front walk, looking back as she ran. She snatched the children by the hand and hurried them westward along Santa Monica avenue. When last seen they were going rapidly along Avery avenue toward the hills.

A few minutes after a neighbor, Mrs. L. W. Wiseman, saw smoke curling out of the crannies in the ill-finished siding of the house. She hurriedly despatched her daughter, Grace, for help and T. M. Richards and a man named Morton were summoned. They broke in the front door, which was securely locked, and found that the house had been fired in four places, all by means of heaps of oil-soaked rags and paper piled against the outside walls. These were scattered and extinguished without great difficulty, though not until a part of the weatherboarding had been burned entirely through in the front entry.

The neighbors of the Spencers have no hesitation in saying that she is insane, telling of numerous instances of strange conduct that seems to justify the belief. Several different times, they say, she has left home and has had to be brought back almost by force by Spencer. Violent threats from her have been overheard and on Monday night there was a quarrel between the two, said to have culminated in her again leaving the house in anger.

As a matter of fact, the supposed currence was therefore no surprise to him. While he claims to have believed her on her way to San Francisco, he admitted that it was perfectly possible that she might be out in the hills near their home.

Though refusing to be specific, Spencer made it evident that their home life had been very far from happy. He said that his wife looked down upon him because of his position in life, though herself of the middle class and without means. Incidentally he cited his knowledge of the law as one reason that he had never beaten or abused her, plainly inferring that he considered that he would have had justification for so doing. He added also that it was at the suggestion of Mrs. Spencer's parents that she had been incarcerated in the State institution, saying that he would not have treated her so for the cause given.

The Spencers have been married twelve years. She was 35 years old and was born in San Francisco, her father's name being J. Riordan. There Spencer met and married her, "in good faith," he says, implying that he was not aware of the eccentricities which she later manifested.

After the birth of their second child, Mrs. Spencer seems to have become violent and, says Spencer, she was put under confinement by the Dior-Riordans for the next seven years. Unable to care for the children himself, he took them East and left them in the care of his mother, who lives in Pennsylvania.

Last March it seemed to Spencer that his wife was sufficiently recovered to return to her home and at his request she was released, though not as cured. Almost the first thing that she did was to make the long trip to Pennsylvania and bring back her two children, refusing all invitations to remain for any length of time in the East. Since her return the family have lived together in the Hollywood home, which Spencer owns and has occupied for the past year.

At the time of her disappearance, Mrs. Spencer was dressed in a gray suit, a dark hat and a black veil. She is a tall woman, rather slender and stoop-shouldered. Victor, the girl, was wearing a red hat, a short frock, brown stockings and black shoes. She was carrying a large doll, dressed in blue. The boy wore a black overcoat, brown stockings, black shoes and was carrying a lunch basket.

Children and Home of Mrs. Arthur Spencer,

Santa Monica boulevard, Hollywood. Yesterday morning she set fire to her house and later disappeared toward the hills with the children. She had been recently released from a State hospital for the insane and has, her husband says, threatened the lives of both the children and himself. Deputy sheriffs are scouring the Santa Monica hills for the missing trio.

WILL EXPLOIT ISLES.

Party of Local Men Have Formed Company to Develop Industry. Plan Later to Purchase Steamers.

What is said to be one of the greatest deposits of guano discovered in this century has been secured by a local company of capitalists and the work of exploiting it is about to start.

A total of seventeen islands lying off the shore of the peninsula of Yucatan, in the Gulf of Campeche, and also on the west coast of Mexico have been secured by the Los Angeles men. It is estimated that millions of tons of the fertilizer are available.

The plans of the company call for the establishment of a line of steamships between Mexico ports and Hamburg, which is the greatest guano market in the world. The boats are to run to Pacific Coast cities after the completion of the Panama Canal.

Yesterday, Dr. J. Ziegner, a director of the company, left for Mexico City to complete final arrangements. He will make the first steps in the purchase of steamers to convey the product.

Capt. James Frieth, who discovered the famous guano island of Clipperton and the equally famous island of Laysan in the Central Pacific Ocean, will leave on the 15th inst., accompanied by W. M. Ford. Both are connected with the new company. They will join Dr. Ziegner in Mexico.

Several high officials of the Mexican government are connected with the new company and concessions have been secured for the exploiting of the seventeen islands. Photographs of the islands received here show the surface of one of the islands, Triangulus, to be literally covered with millions of birds.

"COALS TO NEWCASTLE."

OUR WINE WILL GO TO ITALY.

Big Shortage There, and in France and Spain.

Local Company Is Asked to Forward Samples.

Brandy Also in Demand Upon the Other Side.

Some exporters of Southern California wine are considering whether they ought to request the Premier of Italy to ask why his Minister of Agriculture is a knocker. The gentleman has said that our wine is poor stuff. However, Italian grape growers and wine makers of this city state there is no need to pay any particular attention to the assertion. It is manifestly absurd and was made merely for political effect. It is probable that Italians at home will soon get an opportunity to judge this for themselves, for arrangements are being made to ship quite a quantity of California wine from Los Angeles to Italy.

A commercial house in Milan has already entered into negotiations for a consignment of the fermented juice of the grape and if it proves acceptable, as it undoubtedly will, more will follow.

The first lot ordered from this section as a kind of trial shipment consists of 10,000 hectoliters, or about 264,170 gallons. It was ordered by the Milan firm because there is an alarming shortage in not only Italy but France and Spain, and Southern California is the only section which can be looked to to make up the deficiency.

DID HE EVER TASTE IT?

Competitors of the Milan firm "viewed with alarm" this action by their more hustling rival and appealed to the Minister of Agriculture for protection. Signor Rainerl, who, local men say, probably has never tasted the wine of Southern California and therefore knows nothing of its quality, sought to quiet the alarmed growers by issuing an official statement saying that "it is not good and is not likely to meet the taste of Italian consumers." Here is the full text of the curious announcement by the Cabinet Minister:

"The Italian government has ascertained that the vintage of California is limited and does not allow of exportation on a large scale. The prices are so high that when California wine is brought to Italy it cannot be sold short of 35 cents a gallon. Its quality is not good and it is not likely to meet the taste of Italian consumers. As the importers will probably try to mix it with Italian wine in order to increase its alcoholic strength the government has taken strict precautions to prevent 'doctoring.'"

As Los Angeles is the headquarters of the California wine industry such a statement, published officially, could not be allowed to go unchallenged. However, the leading Italians here who are interested in the wine industry smile at it and decline to take it seriously. Officials of the Italian Vineyard Company of this city, who own a vast acreage in vineyards at Cucamonga and Guasti, stated yesterday that the announcement was merely issued for the purpose of seeking to allay the fears of some of the growers in Italy. A. Alberti, of the Italian Vineyard Company, speaking of the matter said:

"The Europe crop is exceptionally poor in France, Italy and Spain this year. The wine makers here in California have been crowded with requests from the other side for quotations and samples and some have actually received orders for wines and brandies.

CALL FOR SAMPLES

"This company, among others, has been asked to forward samples and to dispose of some of its product in Italy. I cannot say yet whether it will pay us to export. We have to consider duties, shipping charges and other matters connected with the question. We are investigating the matter fully and may make some shipments. It certainly looks as if California will supply a certain amount of wines and brandies to make up the shortage in the three countries I have mentioned.

"Italy relies to a large extent on its agricultural products and among these that of grapes is one of the largest. The government is strongly protectionist and seeks in every way in its power to protect the industries and prevent importations from other countries which may adversely affect them.

"It is evident the Minister of Agriculture does not know much about California wines. I don't suppose he ever drank any. There is no question that some of our wines can compete with the highest brands of Italy. California cannot compete with France in its very best champagnes, but it can and does do so in all others. The best California wines may be said, generally speaking, to be as good as any others on earth."

Mr. Alberti intimated that seeing they drink more wines and brandy in Italy, France and Spain than Californians do, and seeing that this State is the only other section of the world which produces wines on a large scale, those countries have to look to this section for relief. Italy has over 9,200,000 acres under vines, France 4,000,000 and Spain 3,140,000 and the production runs to billions of gallons of wine. This has been materially curtailed this year, in fact this is the worst season the grape growers of Europe have known for a long time.

DAUGHTERS MAKE 'EM COME.

Girls Insist Upon Living Here, So Parents Have to Give Up Their Home in Iowa for Los Angeles.

James James had to give up his home in Des Moines and come here with his wife because their daughters wouldn't live anywhere else but in Los Angeles. He said yesterday that after having passed eight weeks here "spying out the land" he is glad the girls were obdurate.

The eldest daughter came from Iowa first, on a visit. When she went back she told her parents she couldn't stay in Des Moines any more. 'Twas Los Angeles for her. She gave such glowing descriptions of this favored section that when she announced she was coming here to live, her sister insisted on accompanying her.

That left the old couple all alone in Des Moines. "What could the old folks do but come to Los Angeles also?" asked Mr. James yesterday. "We sold outs and came to Los Angeles right weeks ago and here we are to stay. We dont' wonder now that our daughters fell in love with this city. We have done the same thing."

IS HE A TACK THROWER?

Labor-Union Messenger Accused of Puncturing the Bicycle Tires of Boys Who Are Willing to Work.

Harry Murray declared by the police to be the worst mischief maker among the labor-union messenger boys was arranged in the police court yesterday morning on a charge of having violating the traffic ordinance. Murray is accused of having thrown tacks in front of the bicycles of messengers willing to work.

A messenger company reported to the police that its boys were greatly hampered in their work by continually puncturing the tires of wheels. The boys spent a large portion of their earnings keeping their tires in repair, and the attention of the company was finally called to the great number of punctures.

At first it was thought nails or tacks might have fallen from a passing wagon, but the police decided to investigate.

The tacks were found in great number in the roadway, but it was noticed that they were only along the curb where the wheels were left.

The boys did a little detective work themselves and the attention of the police directed toward Harry Murray. Sufficient evidence was secured. Officers say to warrant the arrest of Murray, and Patrolman Browning was sent after him a with a warrant.

In court yesterday Murray seemed at a loss whether he should plead guilty or not, but after consulting with an attorney decided to plead not guilty. He emphatically did not want to be tried by the court, and declared he would wait until time could be decided upon for a jury trial.

JAILED DANDY STILL JAUNTY.

SMILES GENIALLY AT HIS TWO HANDSOME WIVES.

After Mad Career Along Primrose Path, in Which He Wins Love of More Than One Woman, Henry Hums a Song as He Crosses Threshold of Jail.

"Victor lives in a mad whirl. Dances, parties, theaters and dinners following each other until good resolutions are lost."—Mrs. Victor C. Henry, No. 1.

"Victor is a rusher. He pours his gifts upon you. That's the way he won me."—Mrs. Victor C. Henry, No. 2.

This explains the peculiar element of Henry's nature that makes feminine conquests easy. He is a fount of good nature, laughing at every little flick of misfortune that crosses his horizon. He is an original optimist.

Yesterday, when held to answer to the Superior Court by Justice Baird for bigamy, and despite the fact that he has three other criminal actions for forgery and false pretenses pending against him, he did not lose his poise.

As he crossed the threshold of the County Jail, on his way to his cell, he was whistling "I love my wife, but, oh, you kid," in the shrillest tones. He saluted the turnkey genially when questioned concerning the action of the court in the preliminary proceedings. And as he was whirled up in the elevator to his cell, the hollow airshaft re-echoed his jaunty salutes to his various "confreres."

Henry has taste in choosing brides. The first wife is an exquisite blonde, intensely interesting, affable and echoing every maternal element of her sex. Mrs. Henry, No. 2, is a beautiful brunette with big soulful eyes, lashes that have the rich coloring and length of the woman of sunny climes, and eyebrows arched and broad. Her features are exceptionally classic and betoken the student.

"Victor was a rusher," said "No. 2," formerly Jeane Whitney Reese of Santa Barbara, yesterday in explaining the peculiar power that her husband held over her. "He moved so rapidly that he did not give one time to think of the right and wrong of things. He lived a life of wild abandon from the standpoint of Puritanical ethics. An impulse, and he was gone on the wings of fancy, where, he knew not and cared less."

According to the first Mrs. Henry, the bigamist was an artful wooer. The day following their introduction he sent her violets. Then tickets for the opera reached her. The usual dinner followed, and then more dinners.

"Oh, I don't just know," said she in discussing the topic. "His nature bubbled over with good things. I suppose there was some lure in him, and at times I believe that it amounted to a spell."

And through it all Henry smiles and whistles, and paints mental pictures of autos and pretty women on the damp ceiling of the County Jail.

GIRL ARRESTED IN POSTOFFICE.

Charged With Having Raised a Money Order She Breaks Down and Confesses, According to Officials.

Accused of having raised a money order from $2.50 to $22.50, Miss Emma A. Ruiz, daughter of a well-to-do ranchman of Santa Paula, was arrested yesterday at the money order window of the postoffice by Inspector Knox, and locked up in the County Jail. Forgery is the specific charge against the girl.

According to Inspector Knox, Miss Ruiz received the money order from her sister, Mrs. Mary Robles of Santa Paula, yesterday morning and several hours later went to the postoffice and endeavored to collect it. The figures substituted for the original sum—$2.50—were easily detected by the Federal attaches, and while one kept her in conversation another summoned the inspector.

The officer escorted her to the office of the Assistant Postmaster and there, it is understood she broke down and confessed. She stated, according to Knox, that she was anxious to return home, and not having the money, did not wish to write for the necessary funds.

For several weeks Miss Ruiz has been residing with friends at No. 690½ Gladys avenue. She was employed up to a few days ago in a local department store, but owing to failing health was forced to resign. Last night the girl was reported by the County Jail officials in a weak state. She sobbed bitterly throughout the long nocturnal hours, and begged that her people should not be notified.

Women in the Oil Field.

Rather a unique party will leave this city Saturday morning for Sulphur Mountain to inspect the property of the Atlanta Oil Company. Miss Shelton, a school teacher, will head a party composed of four other women. The fair investors, it would seem, do not take the word of any man but want to see for themselves.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Council Welfare Committee heard from men yesterday who urge larger industrial areas in the city as help to greater progress.

Several automobiles narrowly escaped going to jail yesterday for driving their machines at an excessive rate of speed.

Police Judge Rose suspended sentence on an unkempt vagrant yesterday because it would overpunish the others if confined with him.

Elizabeth Smith told in Judge Hutton's court, yesterday, how she had been abandoned by her husband, who represented himself to be a rich mine owner. After thirteen days of married life a friend paid her way back to Los Angeles.

The first annual account of the administrators of Bartolo Ballerino, filed yesterday, shows that there is no money on hand to pay claims against the estate. The court was asked to order the sale of the real estate.

W. H. Jay, convicted of swindling in connection with a mining read, was released on probation, yesterday by Judge Willis. He promises to quit dealing in mining stocks.

AT THE CITY HALL.

MAKE PLEAS FOR NEW INDUSTRIES.

RESTRICTIONS OPPRESSIVE AND HINDER EXPANSION.

Council Welfare Committee Hears From Men Who Believe the Repression of Factories Is Inimical to the Great Progress City Hopes for in Next Decade.

Pleas for industrial opportunity were made to the Council Public Welfare Committee yesterday afternoon by many who are now feeling the oppressiveness of the present paternal system of managing everybody's affairs. The committee is instructed to find a way to revise the boundaries of the industrial and residence districts so there will be a real basis for stimulating manufacturing enterprise. Expressions of those who know the oppression of the laws yesterday indicate that the city must open the doors to industry or it will suffer.

Talks for less restriction on factories were made by C. S. Young, W. Ross Campbell, C. C. C. Tatum and many others. Young pointed out that it was now extremely difficult for any new enterprise to find a location in the city where it could gain the power facilities necessary for its beginning and subsequent expansion. He told of a visit to the East recently, where he found not only the most liberal treatment of all industries but a keen competition to get them.

"If it came to a choice between the smoke of the industries or their creation in Cleveland or Pittsburgh, the people would vote for the smoke," said he.

He did not advocate throwing the doors wide open and invading residence districts, but he did believe the industrial district should be made so large that there will be ample room for all without uncertain and annoying restrictions as to power privileges as now obtained.

Chairman Stewart said the hearing was on general, not specific questions, and the rest of the afternoon was spent in listening to citizens, what time "Uncle Jerry" Andrews was not asking long tedious hypothetical questions and answering them himself. The talks indicated that the property owners and would-be manufacturers know the situation as it is and that they were alive to the necessities.

W. Ross Campbell, who deals exclusively in industrial property, told the committee that he has to turn down deals constantly because of the restrictive legislation. The industrial district is so condensed and the liberties so few that capital passes the city by. A small manufacturer, he said, recently found a suitable location, but later found that he could not get a permit for a ten-horse power motor in the district. Los Angeles lost that enterprise.

Another factory made a contract by which a building was to be erected for its uses, but the contract wasn't executed until a clause was inserted providing for cancellation whenever the spur track was taken up. This was necessary because neither the owner or the lessee could say what moment the powers of government might take away the track privilege.

An ice cream factory from Chicago is willing to begin business here, but finds the power permit feature a menace. If the power permit is revoked or the law ended, it might destroy the business, which could not move. A similar situation prevented a new laundry on Towne avenue.

"The other cities of the West and South," said Campbell, "are offering all kinds of inducements to industries while we are meeting them with restrictions that are uncertain and hampering. They find a suitable location only to learn that they cannot possess the power necessary there. And in a district where power may be obtained they find the price beyond their means. We are giving them scant courtesy by our system of legal control."

Campbell also said he thought all opportunity for monopoly of industrial sites should be destroyed by the new district lines and latitude given for the encouragement of all kinds of industry. Unless this is done he said the city would have a hard time making the industrial strides it expects to before it has a million people.

He said a district with unlimited opportunities, possibly east of Los Angeles street, would be a boon, and that it should go as far south as Washington street.

Councilman O'Brien asked what he thought of the proposal to make segregated small regions that would sacrifice the homes of the thrifty through such an invasion. Campbell said there might be some cases of this sort but the industrial progress of the city could hardly be stopped by such considerations.

C. C. C. Tatum called attention to the limitation of horse power on Main street and pleaded for the increase of the classification of 10-horse power to 25-horse power and beyond. He said the restriction was particularly hard on the automobile interests which are denied power on Main street. Also many small industries were hurt by the power district lines and limits as to volume.

Howard Robertson, Deputy City Attorney, suggested that three districts be created. One north of Fourth street, as possible and make condition sidebetween the River and Main street, should be for foundries, soap works or any business of that class, requiring steam boilers. South of Fourth street and north of Washington, a second district could be reserved for the lighter kinds of steam plants, while south of Washington street the electric power classes could be installed. Tatum agreed that something of this sort is advisable.

But he urged that the less restrictions we put on industries the more hope we will be for a harbor.

"If the millions we are spending to make a harbor are to bring benefit we must make the things that ships will call for. That is the fault with our commerce now. Protect residence districts from invasion, if they want it, but leave the industrial area as free as possible and make conditions desirable for industries."

The committee admits it has a knotty problem because of the established policy of the government in resisting the encroachments of business. The whole subject was taken under advisement until further information is received.

WATER RIGHTS.

CITY'S IS PARAMOUNT.

Answering a request from the Water Board yesterday, City Attorney Shenk gave an opinion that the city has the paramount right to all subterranean waters of the San Fernando Valley. The board asked advice because recently wells have been driven on the Lankershim ranch, and the board expressed a fear that there might be a diminution of the supply which the city requires. Shenk states that, if investigation shows that the wells do affect the supply or diminish it, the city may stop taking water.

His decision is based on the Buffington, Hunter and Los Angeles Farming and Milling company cases, in which the city's right to all subterranean water as a part of the Los Angeles River is upheld. In those cases injunctions against taking water were issued but the city never enforced them and the drilling of the new wells makes no change in the legal situation.

If it were to find occasion to interfere with the taking of water, which is highly improbable, in view of water officials, it would interrupt the privileges enjoyed by Burbank, Tropico, Glendale and other populous places of the big valley. There can be no discrimination and if pumping is stopped in one community it must be in all.

Only a few wells have been driven, it is understood, in the Lankershim ranch. The use of water necessary for domestic purposes cannot be restrained.

STREET NAMES.

CHANGES ARE ADVISED.

After a year the City Engineer has reported a map to the Board of Public Works showing changes in street names in the city that are intended to remove the confusion due to duplication, most of which resulted from annexing new territory. Streets in Hollywood, Colegrove and San Pedro bore the same names as in Los Angeles, and a year ago the City Attorney called attention to the need of revision. Since then the engineer has attempted to reconcile districts to proposed changes but without success and yesterday he reported all his work to the board with the request that it ask the council, through its streets committee, to co-operate with the board in making the changes by ordinance.

Hollywood, through its Board of Trade, is particularly insistent and among other changes it asks that all the streets north of Hollywood boulevard be changed to words that will begin with the letters of the alphabet in sequence, the initial letter indicating the number of the street.

The board adopted the report and will ask the council's co-operation.

Ballona Road Funds.

The City Auditor reported to the Board of Public Works yesterday that his investigation of the Ballona road tax fund, jointly with the Supervisors, has resulted in showing that the sum of $9464, which was offered the city as a settlement of the amount due through annexation, was incorrect, and that there is really due $15,583, with $2094 additional in doubt. The Auditor says a suit may be necessary to determine whether the last amount belongs to the city or the county, as it is already transferred to the road funds. The Supervisors are to pay $7000 of the indisputable amount at once and the remainder after the distribution of the November tax collections.

No Santa Monica Boulevard.

The Board of Public Works yesterday adopted a recommendation of the City Engineer yesterday that the petition of Leon Labonde and others for the opening of Santa Monica avenue from Agricultural Park to Main street to a width of 100 feet and making it a boulevard, be denied. The petitioners wanted the street paved, ornamented with electroliers and planted with date palms. The cost they asked assessed against the same territory that is now asked to pay for the enlargements of Agricultural Park. The engineer says the opening would entail enormous expense, would disturb many industries now along the route and would be an added burden on the district chosen for assessment. He says the time is not ripe for such a large project.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

SOON DESERTED, SAYS THE WIFE.

TELLS COURT PITIFUL STORY OF HER HONEYMOON.

Says Husband Robbed Her of Scanty Savings and Abandoned Woman He Had Sworn to Cherish—Through Kindness of Friend She Was Enabled to Return Here.

The heartless desertion of his bride of two weeks, by William Clark Smith, a Seattle gambler, was told in Judge Hutton's court yesterday. The plaintiff was given a divorce on the grounds alleged.

Elizabeth Smith, the wife, is a Virginia girl. During the exposition at Seattle, she met Smith, and became infatuated with him. He represented to her, so testified yesterday, that he had large mining interests in Nevada and California, and was a man of affairs in Seattle.

They were married here. After spending some days in the city the couple took the steamer at Redondo, for the north. En route Smith got drunk and robbed her of two diamond rings and about $90 in money, so testified. At San Francisco he attempted to kill her, she declared.

When they reached Seattle, the wife says she found that he had no mines anywhere; that he had no home, and that he was nothing more than a "card shark" who made his money fleecing the innocent.

On Christmas eve, just thirteen days after the ceremony, he abandoned her she alleged and she was compelled to seek assistance of a friend there to get money for the trip back to this city.

J. R. Morgan, who was in business in Seattle at the time, testified to being called to the rooming-house where Smith had abandoned his wife. He said he found her very ill and called in a doctor to attend to the penniless woman, and afterward took upon himself the task of raising money to pay her passage back to Los Angeles.

CONDEMNATION SUIT.

INVOLVES WIDENING STREET.

The second step in the programme of making a grand boulevard to San Pedro by the Main and Moneta streets, was taken in Judge Hervey's court, yesterday. Objections were heard to the report of the referees appointed to fix the damages caused by the widening of Moneta avenue from Thirty-sixth place to Slauson Junction.

The protestants were John X. Thill, Sarah Gore, Ed Cotter, S. D. and A. W. Brode, Pauline Rausch, S. Schaloss, C. W. Brockman, and Albert Cappel. The plan is to widen Moneta avenue in the territory named from eighty to 100 feet, and the estimated cost is about $100,000. All of the objectors to the report of the referees testified. The court took the matter under advisement.

THROUGH WINDOW.

GIRL SEEKS TO ESCAPE.

Odessa Williams, a colored girl made a desperate attempt to get out of a window in Department Eight yesterday, after Judge Wilbur had ordered her sent to the Florence Home. Bailiff Strohm captured her and pulled her back into the courtroom.

The Williams girl and Fanny Peterson, were charged with beating Clara Brown. It was alleged that the Brown girl had interfered in some of the love affairs of the accused. The Peterson girl was sent to Whittier by order of the court. The girls are sixteen years old.

JAY REJOICES.

MINING MAN RELEASED.

"I am going out of the mine promoting business, your honor; my brother and myself propose entering the contracting business. I find that the selling of mining stock does not pay in the long run, and I am out of the game."

The speaker was W. H. Jay, a mining broker of this city, aged 64, in Judge Willis' court, yesterday, on his petition for release on probation. Jay had been convicted by a jury of selling $560 worth of alleged worthless stock in what is known as the Baxter Mine, located in Inyo county, to G. W. Robbins, an old watchmaker of this city. Jay had represented to Robbins according to the evidence, that J. Ross Clark had made an offer of $75,000 for the mine, but the price was too low and he had refused to sell.

The court granted the petition for probation, on the promise that Jay would repay to Robbins the $500 as soon as he was able to earn it. The probation period was fixed at three years, and Jay is to report to Probation Officer Dodds every month. The convicted man was able to furnish many excellent recommendations by business men who had known him before he got into the mine promoting business.

BALLERINO ESTATE.

FIRST ACCOUNT FILED.

Thomas L. Winder and John M. York, administrators of the estate of Bartolo Ballerino, filed their first annual account in Judge Rives's court yesterday, and the instrument was approved. The court also ordered the administrators to pay certain claims that had been presented for allowance, with the moneys on hand or yet to come to the officers of the court.

The report showed that the inheritance tax amounting to $10,194.49, had not been paid, on account of the lack of funds. On this latter subject the administrators informed the court that none of the real estate belonging to the Ballerino holdings had been sold, from the fact that during the pendency of the contest of the will instituted by Jennie Lhal, investors did not care to have anything to do with it. It was also shown that of the two suits brought by the woman, one had been dismissed by the court, and the second had been withdrawn by the plaintiff.

The total charges of the estate against the administrators, amounted to $146,232.99, the credits were $146,161.67, both items including the appraised value of the real estate; leaving $72.32 still in the hands of the administrators. The judgment obtained by Caries T. Roop against Ballerino, as the result of Roop being bitten by a vicious dog belonging to the old man, amounting to $5,126.64, was presented for payment. The sum of $2,611.60 was allowed, to be paid when funds come into the hands of the administrators. It is declared that all of the ready money has been consumed in the settlement of taxes and assessments.

TOOTHSOME TALE.

GETS DAMAGES FOR MOLARS.

According to the judgment rendered in Judge Hutton's court, yesterday, it cost Leo J. Goodman $25 for an attack he made on C. H. Israel, a business man at 438 South Olive street, March 26, last. In addition Goodman had paid a fine in the court of Police Judge Rose for the same offense, and the trouble was all about an alleged overcharge of $1.75 in a bill for doing a bit of tailor work.

Goodman testified that he only owed Israel $3 for the job, but Israel figured it differently, and made out the bill for $4.75. He also placed the bill in the hands of his attorney for collection. It is alleged Goodman met Israel near the California Club and proceeded to knock him down several times, and Israel insisted, dislodged two gold-filled teeth in his opponent's upper jaw.

While testifying Israel fairly shouted to the court: "They were real gold-filled teeth, your honor; they cost me $35."

Goodman acknowledged that he had hit the man and knocked him down, but denied the tooth proposition and declared that he had only struck Israel when the latter called him a bad name.

Judge Hutton in passing judgment took occasion to remark that he took little stock in the story told by Israel, but as he was away from his business several days he would award him nominal damages, because no matter what the provocation Goodman had no right to hit the man.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

TO SAN QUENTIN. Judge Willis, yesterday, sentenced E. J. Josslyn who had pleaded guilty of stealing a watch from Ira L. Sitton, to San Quentin, for three years. The offense took place October 17, last.

SUIT FOR INJURIES. Action was brought, yesterday, in the Superior Court by Rosa and William J. Staeuble against the Los Angeles Pacific Company, for $14,000, alleged to be due on account of an accident that occurred at Boyer's Grove Crossing, on the line between here and Venice, September 18, last. Mrs. Staeuble, in company with two ladies, while driving in a buggy along the right of way, were struck by a fast-moving train, and the plaintiff was severely injured.

ALLEGED FRAUD. James R. Cegan, yesterday, instituted a suit against W. B. White, et al., involving a rooming-house at No. 444 South Spring street, and the prayer of the petition is for a recession of the contract for the sale of the property to White. Cegan alleges that White has refused to pay a note for $5000 as part of the purchase price and he wants his property back again.

NEW CITIZENS. In Judge Bordwell's court, yesterday, the following persons were admitted to citizenship: Gustave Zudack, Charles Carlston, C. L. Jepsen, Charles C. Leary, Edward Boyd, George C. Musters, Jack Hild, Adolph C. Kremer, Dave Fredkin, John L. Priss, David C. Davidson, John Lapiort, G. Allegrette, Fritz W. Johnson, Carl Peterson, M. J. O'Callaghan, Junto Frank and Joseph Reich.

ADOPTION MATTERS. A petition was filed in the Superior Court, yesterday, by Clarence and Augusta Barry, asking that they be allowed to adopt Willis D. Roberts. The child will be known as Roy Berry, if the prayer of the petitioners is granted. Anna B. Orton filed a petition praying for the adoption of Katherine Jones, who will be known as Katherine May Orton.

DAMAGE ACTION. A suit was brought by the A.G.F. Club against the Goldberg-Bosley School of Dancing, asking damages in $1688.60, for alleged infringement of a contract in relation to the occupancy of the hall.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the San Pedro Canning Company, capital stock, $50,000, incorporators, John A. Anderson, Ulric D. Ried and M. A. Parker, subscribed, $30; American Monrovia Investment Company, capital stock, $100,000, incorporators, C. H. Ainlyn Charles Anderson, F. N. Patterson, W. M. Baird, Charles C. Browning, August Adams and F. N. Hawes, subscribed, $700; Mellen Investment Company, capital stock, $10,000, incorporators, W. D. Gibbs, E. A. Beck and Anna M. Gibbs, subscribed, $2; Kellogg Oil Company, capital stock, $50,000, incorporators, F. R. Kellogg, G. J. Symington and S. R. Roseberg, subscribed, $30.

SMALL ESTATE. A petition was filed in the Probate Court yesterday, by Ella Pietn, praying that the will of her husband, F. P. Pietanfi be admitted to probate. Pietan died in this city November 22, and left an estate of $17,000.

UP IN COURT.

Former City Clerk of Santa Monica Is Arraigned on Charge of Embezzling Tax Receipts.

J. C. Hemingway, realty dealer of Ocean Park, and former city clerk of Santa Monica, was arraigned before Justice Stephens yesterday, on the charge of felony embezzlement. His preliminary examination was set for the 12th inst. Bail was placed at $1000. Hemingway is charged by W. H.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

NEW PLANS OF BIG COMPANY.

Palmer Oil Feels Necessity for Pipe Line.

Consolidation of Holdings May Come Soon.

General News of Interest From Oil Fields.

The authoritative announcement has just been made that the Palmer Oil Company, operating in the Santa Maria district, expects in the near future to extend the Coast Oil Transport Company pipe line. The engineer of the Palmer Company has just completed a detailed report of the cost of the proposed extension to the eastern Santa Maria field, and to selected terminals at several points on deep water.

The Board of Directors of the Palmer Company is now engaged in carefully going over the reports of the engineer, and is finding them very favorable to the project. Photographs and surveys have been made of the terminals, and additional reports are being prepared for the guidance of the officials of the big company. One of the latter said in a recent statement: "Everything is now favorable for an early announcement calling for bids on the work."

Another matter under consideration that will prove of great interest to oil men is a proposition to consolidate the holdings of the Palmer Oil Company, the Palmer Junior Oil Company and the Palmer Senior Oil Company into one great corporation. The combined holdings of the three companies aggregate 2710 acres, and such tracts as are not yet proven are pronounced by eminent geologists and engineers, also oil men, to be identical with those on which the Palmer gushers are producing all the way from 1700 to 8000 barrels of oil a day each.

That these companies will soon require a pipe line for their own use is now recognized. The Palmer Oil Company alone is increasing its output rapidly by bringing in new wells, and there seems to be no doubt that well No. 1 of the Palmer Junior Company, soon to be finished, will be a big one. The wells in this territory are all big producers, and there are no dry holes.

That the production of the Cat Canyon district of the Santa Maria field will amount to within five years cannot be estimated, but judging from the increase in the past two years it will certainly run into millions of barrels annually.

ADMINISTRATION'S POLICY.

LEASING SYSTEM FOR OIL.

For the benefit of oil men who may not read the President's message, his recommendations for the future handling of government oil lands are herewith given:

"That the law should allow a prospector for oil or gas to have the right to prospect for two years over a certain tract of government land, the right to be evidenced by a license for which he shall pay a small sum; and that upon discovery a lease may be granted upon terms securing a minimum rental and proper royalties to the government, and also the conduct of the oil or gas well in accord with the best method for husbanding the supply of oil in the district. The period of the leases should not be as long as those of coal, but they should contain similar provisions as to assignment to prevent monopolistic combinations."

VISIT MIDWAY PREMIER.

EXPECTED TO SAND UP.

On last Sunday the officials of the Midway Premier Oil Company took a large party from Bakersfield to witness the performance of the gusher on the company's property. Upon their return to Bakersfield the members of the party gave it as their opinion that the well was getting ready to sand up again. However, it was making from 1500 to 2000 barrels of oil a day which tested 33 gravity, the oil running with the sand dump to the sumphole and water from a mountain stream.

The derrick and everything about the camp show the effects of the bombardment of rocks and sand which the well threw out in the first strenuous days of its eruption. Sunday was the twenty-first day since the well came in and it had flowed continuously except for one brief intermission of a few hours.

The Midway Premier is getting rigs up for three more wells, each of which will be in as good a location as far as surface indications are concerned. The drillers are now engaged in cleaning out the Midway Five Oil Company's big well nearby which sanded up after a recent spell of gushing.

MINERAL COLLECTION.

CHAMBER OF MINES AND OIL.

The Chamber of Mines and Oil has made a number of additions to its mineral collection in the past few days. One has just been placed on display in a complete set of specimens of vanadium ore from the Cerro de Pasco District, Peru. These specimens were received from the American Vanadium Company, which controls the deposit. The U. S. Geological Survey reports that during 1908 the United States drew its supply of vanadium ore mostly, if not wholly, from Cerro de Pasco. The mineral has been named Patronite, after A. G. Patron, superintendent of the smelter at Huruaschaca, who discovered the deposit.

The specimens on display at the Chamber should prove of material assistance to mining men for comparative purposes, inasmuch as they are wholly different in appearance from the vanadium ore found in San Bernardino and Riverside counties. The survey classified the ore as a carbonaceous sulphide of vanadium. The exhibit from the American Vanadium Company also includes specimens of ferro-vanadium, the manufactured product used by the Eastern steel mills, which is valued at $2 per pound.

A large group of quartz crystals from Southern California has been donated to the chamber by Messrs. Wade & Wade, assayers; and a handsome specimen of crystallized stibnite, (sulphide of antimony) has been received from Comstock & Staples, assayers. These specimens have been placed in the mineral collection.

NEW TOWN OF SYNCLINE.

MUNICIPALITY IN FACT.

The new town of Syncline, located one mile from the property of the Range 16 Oil Company, Vallecitos district, is going to be a town in fact. A tract of twenty acres has just been surveyed and subdivided into lots, and these are being rapidly sold to business men and others who are coming in every day. The hotel, recently enlarged, is having another addition built 40x60 feet, and new stores are going up.

The Range 16 Oil Company is making good progress in drilling its first well. The Vallecitos Development Company will soon spud in. The Sussex Oil Company is hauling material for several rigs to its ground and already has up a good camp.

Natural Gas for Oil Fields.

The California Natural Gas Company, capital $10,000,000, in addition to its plan for supplying Bakersfield with gas, is preparing to carry its product into the Kern River oil field in competition with oil in the furnaces of the oil producers. Pipes are to be laid to the field at once.

Oil Strike Is Denied.

Officials of the Associated Oil Company have denied the report that oil was struck recently on section 26, 30-24, far to the north in the Elk Hills district. The company, however, has five rigs in the Elk Hills field.

Guaranty Ready for Work.

The Guaranty Oil Company, section, 21, 32-24, Midway field, will begin active development of its property next week. The property adjoins that of the American Oilfields which has been having trouble with its gusher, recently brought in. The local office of the Guaranty received word yesterday that the big well has again been nearly cleared of sand, and is expected to shoot out the oil again at any time.

Offer Is Turned Down.

The Los Angeles Midway Oil Company, located in section 6, 31-22, Midway field, has received an offer for its eighty acres from a Philadelphia syndicate, but refuses to sell. It will begin active development work at once. With the coming of the winter, California oil lands are in more demand than ever. Scarcely a day passes but one or more parties of Eastern capitalists appear who are looking for this particular kind of investment. As a result, oil lands are soaring in price.

INDUSTRIAL SLAVERY OR FREEDOM—WHICH?

A crisis is upon this State and this country, scarcely less important than that which existed in 1862, when the policy of abolishing negro slavery was under consideration. The question is, shall industrial freedom—freedom of both employer and employed to lawfully contract as they choose—be promoted, or shall industrial slavery—slavery of the manufacturers to the closed-shop laborites, and slavery of the workers to their grafting bosses—be nourished, and suffered to grow, and extend its despotic scepter by acts of lawlessness, violence and rapine?

In the act which Congress will be called upon to pass, fixing the site of the Panama Exposition at San Francisco, provisions can and should be made that will prevent the control of the great national and international exposition from falling into the greedy clutches of the San Francisco labor leaders. It should be made impossible for them to use their rapacious fingers to effect a strangle clutch upon the workers and the exhibitors who, if left free to act, will make of the Panama fair an exhibit of the freedom as well as of the progress and power of California, and of the nation.

Locally, politically and industrially, San Francisco is today ruled by Tvietmoe, Gallagher and McCarthy. These men have no more sense of justice than a trio of hungry hyenas speeding to the destruction of a deer, no more sense of patriotism than a band of coyotes famished for mutton, no more sense of moral responsibility than so many yowling, roof-prowling tomcats. They will, if they can, ruin the exposition by turning it into the most gigantic closed shop tyranny of the age. They will, if they can, issue orders that no foundation of the main building or of any collateral building devoted to exposition purposes shall be laid except by union masons, with stone cut by union stone-cutters, or brick burned in a union kiln, and with mortar mixed by union mortar mixers. That no lumber shall be used unless it was sawed in union mills and shall be put in place by union carpenters; that no material shall be hauled to the ground unless the driver of the vehicle that brings it is a member of a union, and that no painter, plumber, decorator or other craftsman shall be permitted to work in or upon any fair building, unless he is a member in good standing of a trades union and has a union card.

The bosses may, if they have the power, decree that no article shall be admitted to a place in the exposition without the exhibitor first producing proof that it was made by union labor, and that no article shall be unboxed or put in place except by a member of the Unpackers' Union.

The history of the past performances of the San Francisco closed-shop laborites gives warrant to the belief that they will, if they can, impose the restrictions we have suggested, and many more if they have the power.

The constitutional amendments adopted in aid of the fair contain no provisions protecting the public and the non-union laborers of San Francisco from outrages such as we have described. Unless protection be provided for by Congressional or State legislation, or both, it is quite possible that many of the San Francisco subscribers to the $7,500,000 fund may refuse to pay their subcriptions, and the fair thereby be to an extent crippled financially.

The only apparent way to guard against the calamities we have depicted will be by legislation. Congress, for instance, might, as a part of the act locating the fair at San Francisco, provide that in the employment of men in the construction and conduct of the fair, no discrimination shall be made against any competent American workman, skilled or unskilled, "organized" or unorganized; that a commission be appointed by President Taft to co-operate with a similar commission, whose members shall be elected by the California Legislature to supervise the conduct of the exposition. And, if it satisfactorily appear to the commission appointed by Congress, at any time during the construction of the fair buildings, that this provision is being violated, then Congress reserves the power to cancel or repeal the law fixing the exposition at San Francisco, and to designate by law some other place.

It is due to the people and the taxpayers of California, including the independent, non-union workers, and not excluding those persons of devious descent, the union-labor despots of San Francisco, headed by Pinhead McCarthy and Olaf Tvietmoe, that the "boosting" committee now at work in Washington, including Gov. Gillett and Joseph Scott, should make this phase of the case thoroughly known to members of Congress, Senators and the President.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

In his message to Congress, President Taft has demonstrated himself to be a patriotic, progressive statesman and a sagacious President, leader of the great party which honored him, and which two years hence will, unless all indications are illusive, again honor him by retaining him in the Presidency.

The President wisely suggests that the present session of Congress, which will terminate on the 4th of March next, will not afford time or opportunity for a general revision of the tariff, if, indeed, a general revision is desirable. The plan of revision by schedules so as to remedy noteworthy defects which President Taft suggests and recommends is entirely just and fair. It removes from the arena of discussion, and from the practice of legislative bargaining, which has always existed in tariff legislation, the consideration of schedules, each of which should be treated separately and on its own merits, and not as a matter of contract between legislators representing the divergent interests of communities having no common motive of action. The Congressman representing the New England manufacturers of cotton or woolen goods should not be suffered to insist upon the retention of excessive duties upon those goods as the price of his support of an adequate tariff rate on California mines and citrus fruit, and the representatives of the western sheep raiser should not be compelled to yield to the Congressman from Pennsylvania an excessive tariff on steel goods, in order to save his wool-growing constituents from bankruptcy.

President Taft's wise and honest plan is to have every tub stand upon its own bottom, and to make that bottom not the crazy and disastrous Democratic doctrine of a tariff for revenue only, but the Republican principle of protection to each industry which has caused this nation to grow from poverty to affluence, from stagnation to progress, from a land cursed with slavery and rent with civil feud to be the greatest industrial power in all the world.

The method indorsed by President Taft of placing and keeping the principle of protection in working harness is to ascertain through the investigation and determination of a scientific commission as nearly as possible the exact difference between the cost of producing a manufactured article abroad and the cost of producing the same article in our own country, and then adjust the tariff on that article so as to cover the difference. The process will be a simple one to follow with each article, although the number of articles involved will require the commission to labor for a long time. Take, for instance, a woolen shirt. In the Argentine the wool grower, who pays his herders and clippers $10 a month, produces wool at one-third the cost of production by the American sheep owner who pays his hands three times as much. The South American wool is admitted in free-trade England without duty, and so the spinner in Manchester begins his labors with a textile that costs him less than half the sum paid by the spinner in New England. The commission next ascertains the wages paid to the English operative, and finds that they are one-half as much as the wages paid to the American operative. From the information gathered by painstaking investigation the commission finds that the English-made woolen shirt costs its manufacturer when landed in New York, say, 40 cents, while the American-made shirt costs its manufacturer 80 cents in the same city. Both garments, being alike in weight, texture and quality, the commission recommends a duty of 40 cents on woolen shirts. Some people may prefer to purchase the English shirt and some may prefer to purchase the American shirt. The interests of revenue for the government and of protection to the American manufacturer are both efficiently guarded in this manner, and there can be no complaint except from those revenue-reforming purchasers of woolen shirts—happily, few in this patriotic land—who are so selfish that if they could buy woolen shirts 40 cents less by remitting all the wool spinners of America to half their present wages and a consequent lower order of existence, they would be willing to do so.

It would extend this article to limits that would weary the reader if we were to consider other and possibly not less important recommendations of the President's message. Those will be the subjects of future discussion. Suffice it now to say that the message, in whole and in every part, is worthy of the great statesman and jurist who penned it.

FAITHFUL CORRESPONDENTS.

THE OLD LINE-UP.

Judging by the election results at present to hand, the referendum has not been so successful in its appeal to the British voters as the leaders of the Unionist party fondly imagined. The Conservatives, by their vacillation and incertitude have lost their opportunity of gaining the ascendancy over the combined forces of Liberalism. For all practical purposes the country might have been spared the expense and confusion of the present election. A temporary rise in the decayed vegetable and over-ripe egg market is all the palpable result of the latest death-grapple between lords and commons.

One vital point, however, has been emphasized, and that is the paramount necessity of finding some satisfactory solution of the Irish question. The House of Lords, according to Rosebery, has already made a death-bed repentance; no matter which political party had won at the polls, the principle of hereditary legislation in England was doomed as a glaring anachronism. But Redmond and his fighting brigade are very much alive and decidedly up-to-date; "King John" is still the dictator of the British empire.

Now Home Rule, with a central Parliament in Dublin, will never be accepted by the men of Ulster, according to the fiery threats uttered by their representatives. Then why not carry the system of devolution a step farther? Why not give Ulster, Munster, Connaught and Leinster each a separate Legislature and direct control of their own local taxation? The Irish leaders under any system of Home Rule would probably wish to retain their seats in the Imperial Parliament, so, supposing that John Redmond was willing to accord to Ulster the same privileges which he demands for the rest of Ireland, the Irish question might thus be satisfactorily set at rest.

The Irish are not revolutionary, nor essentially radical in their views; with their own affairs placed fairly in their own hands, they would be an additional bulwark to the whole empire. In opposing the rights of Irishmen, the Conservatives are playing into the hands of the forces of national disintegration. Winston Churchill has openly shown his contempt for the crown; Keir Hardie is an advanced Socialist; Lloyd George is a dyed-in-the-wool single taxer; Premier Asquith is but a footstool for the ambitious feet of these uncompromising radicals. If the Conservatives would patch up their ancient quarrels with the Irish Home Rulers some good might be evolved from this political chaos. Under the present line-up the prospects for a joyful coronation day next July must look about as dazzling as a view of the North Pole at midnight on the 21st of December.

"PLAY THE GAME!"

"Come, come, boys, play the game!" How often in our early schooldays has such an incentive, uttered in good-humored tones, cleared away the frowns and straightened out the wrinkles in the angry faces of unreasonable boys involved in a childish quarrel! Perhaps it was some wrangle about the making of a third base, or an offside play at football, or an unfair start in the 100-yard dash; tempers have risen quickly, discord and strife are in the air, and then some honest, hearty voice calls out, "Come, boys, play the game!"—and, as if by magic, peace and harmony are restored. If we could follow the career of the owner of that cheery voice, we should be safe in picking him out as one of the winners in the battle of life.

To play the game, honestly, courteously, simply, courageously, that is the golden rule in all human affairs.

Is it in the mimic warfare on the college stadium? Press your adversaries for all you are worth; make your strength and speed tell at every point; be resolute never to yield an inch fairly won, but always be straight—play the game! Is it in the fierce competition of business? Press your rivals as closely as possible; let no weak sentimentality swerve you from your determined course; be as shrewd in your bargaining as your wits will allow—they were given you to use; be vigilant, pushing, inexorable if necessary; but always be honest—play the game!

Is it in the larger arena of politics that you would play a part? Be loyal to your leaders and party pledges, even though your views may sometimes clash; be eloquent and fearless in exposing the fallacies of your opponents; cut out all personal prejudice and local bias; be outspoken in voicing your convictions; don't be a straddler, play the game! Or is it in the subtler emotions of the soul? Go in and win the girl, young Romeo! Employ all the wealth of sentiment and magnetism with which nature for that very purpose has endowed you; be inspiring and impassioned in laying siege to the heart of your Juliet! but never be led astray by the fallacious sophistry, "all's fair in love and war;" keep your honor as unsullied as Sir Guyon's shield, observe the rules of knighthood, play the game!

Sometimes, in spite of our best endeavors, our enterprises will miscarry; sometimes fate seems to be unfairly prejudiced against us; the race, for some unaccountable reason, has not gone to the swift or the battle to the strong; then don't dispute the umpire's decision; waste no time in foolish repinings; never indulge in unavailing "ifs"—that dreary pastime of feeble intellects; gird up your loins, make a better start, tighten your grip, and once more play the game. The man who meets defeat with a cheerful countenance, and is always ready to try another throw with fate, can never be classed among the failures. Better to be a good loser than a bad winner; if the bad can really be said to win or the good to lose.

The old world has a fund of affection for the man who has always played square. Of such an one, when the last battle has been fought and the last race has been run, a host of faithful friends will say in grateful memory, "Good-by, old comrade! You made some mistakes, you did some foolish things, you never quite realized your ambitions; but you were always a true sport, you always played the game."

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher.

Where is the stately Mr. Grimes, the noblest man of modern times, whose apple soothes and pleases? He surely is a crackerjack; I'd like to pat him on the back, and hold him on my kneeses. I'd like to fold him to my breast, and say: "Your apple is the best that ever grew and ripened; I think so much of you that I would share with you my pumpkin pie, my taxes or my stipend." O let the good old name of Grimes be sounded by the evening chimes, and blazoned on the boarding; his apple drives dull care away, and makes each heart seem light and gay, down here where I am boarding. O let the noble name of Grimes be handed down to future times, embalmed in song and story; his apple cheers, inspires and thrills, incites to splendid deeds, and fills our boarding-house with glory. 'Twould be the foulest of all crimes if nevermore the name of Grimes should be on earth paraded; for he has brought a new delight—an apple that the gods would bite—and has old Burbank faded. O Grimes, I lack the poet's speech, or I would tell you what a peach you are, you dear old lummix! You've poured some balm upon our smarts; you've surely reached the people's hearts, and reached them through their stomachs!

LOVE AND THE DOCTORS.

BY JAMES DOUGLAS.

The faddist is usually a person without a sense of humor. It is, therefore, well to laugh at him. The most amusing faddist is the man who wishes to establish a veto on marriage. The latest notion is that marriage bureaus ought to be set up in the Labor Exchanges. These bureaus would be in charge of medical experts. The man who wants these bureaus is himself a medical expert. If he had his way the taxpayer would have the pleasure of paying thousands of doctors to make life miserable for everybody who wishes to marry. It would mean an enormous endowment fund for doctors. They would joyously investigate your family history and your personal history. This would certainly add a new terror to marriage.

Let us try to imagine what life would be like under the medical Inquisition. A young man falls in love with a girl and proposes to her. The girl walks into the marriage bureau next morning, and the expert starts to investigate. He reports that the young man is weak-minded, and refuses to give him a certificate. Two young hearts broken. It is hard enough to get the consent of the girl's father to the marriage, but if, in addition, Romeo were forced to get the consent of the doctor, marriage would be a very complicated business. It would be a dreadful blow for a girl if the doctor informed her sweetheart that she was feeble-minded. Romeo might call the doctor an idiot. Juliet might declare that Romeo was not in the least weak in his wits. But the doctor would be scientifically indifferent.

It would be useless to plead for mercy to a stern and unbending expert. His word would be law. Doctors are not infallible. They make mistakes. But they would have the power to blight love's young dream. They would be able to stamp a man or a woman as an imbecile. They would be able to label anybody as a degenerate. The lot of a girl who had been vetoed would not be very joyful. All her friends would soon know that the marriage bureau had rejected her as unfit for marriage. What a time the gossips would have! What opportunities there would be for scandal! And what a revolt against marriage there would be. Before long there would be two classes of marriage—the legal and the illegal. Human nature would defy the doctors and ignore the marriage bureau.

The faddist fancies that he can impose his views upon the rest of the race. But marriage is the one thing that he cannot regulate, for if a man and a woman are in love with each other, all the doctors on earth could not compel them to give each other up. If they are forbidden to marry, they will defy the prohibition. If they are rich, they will get married in some other country. If they are poor, they will dispense with the ceremony. If the State makes it too hard to marry, it will also make it too easy to do without marrying. People do not marry for the sake of posterity, and no power on earth can force them to do so.

I am prepared to back human nature against all the cranks in Christendom. Human nature will endure a faddist so long as he does not interfere with things it prizes. One of these things is the right to select its partner for life. If a man loves a girl he is not going to give her up because she happens to have been in a lunatic asylum or an uncle who has epileptic fits. If a girl loves a man she is not going to jilt him because his grandmother died of consumption, or because his grandfather was a dipsomaniac. There is some sort of lunacy or disease in every family history, and thousands of men who have been sentenced to death by doctors have nevertheless lived to be eighty.

The doctors tried to make vaccination compulsory. They failed, because a stubborn minority rose in rebellion against them. But vaccination is a feeble compared with eugenics. The eugenist proposes to regulate marriage in the interest of the race. But men and women do not marry in the interest of the race; nor do they marry to provide the army and navy with a supply of strong soldiers and sailors. Poor folk do not marry to produce stalwart dock laborers and coal miners and railway porters. They marry to please themselves. No crank can alter that ancient fact. You can improve the physique of the poor by abolishing slums, by raising wages, and by education. You cannot improve it by sentencing hordes of them to the penal servitude of celibacy. The poor are very stupid and very meek, but they are not so stupid and so meek as that.

It is at the poor that all these cranks are aiming. No crank, however mad, would venture to forbid a feeble-minded earl to marry a weak-witted chorus girl. Why? Because the earl would drive his coach-and-four through the Marriage Veto Act and his motor-car through the marriage bureau. Dr. David Walsh, the editor of the British Medical Journal, mentions pauperism as one of the heritages of the union of unfit persons. He told the Divorce Commission that in more than one American State the Legislature had arrived at the logical conclusion that it was right to prevent, by means of simple surgical operation, certain lunatics, criminals, and weak-minded persons from reproducing their kind! And the medical experts select the weak-minded persons. This may be logical, but human nature is not governed by logic and never will be.

The cranks want to stamp out insanity. It strikes me that if they had their way they would drive a good many people out of their reason. Imagine the effect on the mind of a young man or young woman who was officially prohibited from getting married! In some cases it would lead to suicide. In others it might lead to murder. I do not envy the doctor who would hand out the marriage vetoes. His life would be short and eventful. Another great thought tickles me? What would be the qualifications of the veto experts? Would they all be alienists? If so, are there enough alienists to go round forty millions? And what would happen if the forty millions decided to treat the mad doctors as dangerous lunatics? Perhaps they would collect all the eugenists, male and female, ship them to a desert island, and leave them there to put their own theory into practice.

A Just Verdict.

"You say your automobile didn't touch this man, and yet he was dead when you picked him up?" shouted the prosecuting attorney.

"And you were driving not over twelve miles an hour."

"Not over twelve miles and—"

"And you saw this man start to cross the street?"

"Yes."

"Did you blow your horn?"

"I did."

"What sort of a horn is it?"

"One of those new-fangled clatter boxes that create a sound that is a cross between a shriek and a dying wail."

"That explains it. You simply scared the man to death."—[Detroit Free Press.

EXCELSIOR.

ADOPT ELEVATED CODE OF ETHICS.

Association Sets Standard for American Lawyer.

State Urged to Adopt Uniform Negotiable Act.

The convention of the California Bar Association, which was brought to a close in this city yesterday, selected Sacramento as the next meeting place. Santa Cruz, Del Monte and Fresno each extended an invitation.

Lynn Helm of this city, was selected as president, to succeed Curtis H. Lindley. The other officers selected were: Vice-presidents, M. K. Harris of Fresno; William J. Hunsaker of Los Angeles, and L. D. Hatfield, Sacramento; secretary, T. W. Robinson, and treasurer, H. C. Wyckoff of Watsonville.

The session yesterday was a mixture of set speeches, real oratory and debates over the course which should be pursued. It was not brought to a close until resolutions had been passed which the greatest lawyers in the State believe will elevate everything that has to do with the legal profession.

The delegates deliberated over each phase of the vocation, and vigorously set about to remedy every evil which they could grapple with. As a result of their resolutions, recommendations will be presented by leading lawyers to the next Legislature with a request that they shall be adopted.

If the lawmakers see fit to adopt the suggestions of those who apply the laws, the next codes issued will be amended in many respects.

In order to equalize the methods of administering justice in criminal cases and to simplify the civil practice, many changes in both the criminal code and the code of civil procedure are sought by the lawyers.

Much time was devoted to find means to raise the mental and moral status of the bar. The result was that the Legislature will be asked to enact laws providing that no person shall be admitted to an examination for the bar until he has studied three years in college or in an office. They also passed a provision for an examining committee, which shall be composed of three lawyers to relieve the District Court of Appeals from this duty.

Upon the suggestion of Dean Frank M. Porter, of the College of Law of the University of Southern California, a provision was incorporated so that no instructor in a law college can be a member of the board. Porter stated that he desired to have the board so constituted that it will be above the suspicion of favoritism.

ADOPTS HIGH CODE.

The question adopted a high code of legal ethics, suggested by Charles E. Wheeler of San Francisco. Wheeler treated the subject ably in an address on "Distinctive Character of the Ethical Obligations of the American Lawyer."

The association voted the recommendation that this State shall adopt the Uniform Negotiable Instrument Act, which is the law of negotiable papers in practically the entire English-speaking world.

The recall had no champion in the convention, but there were several who expressed their opinion of it yesterday.

"It is nothing more than the Grecian custom of ostracism," declared John E. Richards of San Jose. "They sent Demosthenes into exile because the noble had grown weary of hearing him called 'The Just.'"

Richards spoke on "Oratory, the Lost Art of Our Profession." He declared that it was with regret that he had to admit that the art was on the decline, and urged that efforts should be made to regain it.

William Denman gave an address on "The Election of Judges." He strongly opposed the destruction of the system which made it necessary to seek office through the present political method. He agreed with Oscar A. Trippel, who scorched the recall the day before, in this respect, but said he could not accept his ideas on the appointment of the judiciary.

Denman advanced the idea of the bar associations putting forth candidates. He declared that the public should harken to the advice of the attorneys in selecting the judges. He declared that all attorneys, whether members of an organization or not, should combine in choosing candidates. Towering head and shoulders both, physically and oratorically, over his fellow members of the association, was Charles S. Wheeler, of San Francisco. On Tuesday night, at the banquet at the Hotel Alexandria, he held his audience spellbound with his eloquence which turned to a light vein for the occasion. Yesterday he was no less eloquent, but he had a more serious theme in mind. He dwelt on the ethics of the profession.

No greater compliment could have been paid to his mastery of oratory than was the demand that he should proceed at noon, although the luncheon hour had arrived when he received the call to take the platform. He was entreated to waive the opportunity on account of the lateness of the hour. He declared that the ethical obligations of the American lawyer are mountain high when compared with the barristers of other countries, because of the greater freedom of practice in this country. He sought to impress on his hearers that it is their legal duty to see that they maintain a high standard and never fail to champion the cause of the oppressed because of personal considerations.

GRAVES'S STRONG TALK.

An extremely interesting paper was given at the banquet by Jackson A. Graves, vice-president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, upon reminiscences of the San Francisco bar in 1873. He obtained his legal education in San Francisco and related interesting incidents which brought laughter to the lips of his audience. In part he said:

"The leading lawyers today are the legal business agents of corporate interests. Business methods have changed. Credit is not so freely granted by wholesalers to retailers as in the old days. Comercial failures of great magnitude, out of which lawyers sometimes made fortunes, no longer occur. The old-fashioned lawyers would now be out of place. Time has become too valuable for either the courts or juries to listen to days of argument. Litigation has increased, but its nature has changed.

"One of the strongest bulwarks of our liberties is a high-minded, honest, courageous bar, and an incorruptible, untrammeled judiciary. When we cease to forget the laws of God, our written Constitution and the principles upon which this government is founded, when the excesses of conscienceless agitators threaten us with anarchy, and incite multitudes of misguided and deluded wage earners to violence and bloodshed, when any political party, drunk with power, or corrupt with success, is ready to trample under foot the rights of the people; when predatory corporations would loot a defenseless public; when demagogues rule and rogues follow their lead in attempting to set aside the wishes of the general public, or pass laws which violate contractual rights, our greatest safeguard is a judiciary, firm, honest and untrammeled, assisted by a bar high-minded, conscientious and law-abiding."

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

(The Times freely publishes the views of correspondence without holding itself responsible for writers' opinions. Be brief, write plainly, state clearly. The space of 250 words, on the average, is sufficient for the point. Well-written letters are liable to be declined merely on account of their length.)

Suggestions for a Name.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We have been informed by The Times that on Saturday afternoon, December 17, with elaborate ceremony the corner-stones of the great Exposition and Museum buildings now under process of erection in Agricultural Park will be laid, and at the same time the park is to be christened with a new name. Now, if the name is not yet actually decided on, may I claim a little space to suggest that to the many residents in the vicinity of the park there is just one name that is historically significant, thoroughly logical at the present time, and prospectively appropriate for all future years. The place almost names itself, it is "University Park."

University Park preserves the name of the town annexed years ago to Los Angeles and still commonly employed by many citizens. As we have University railway depot, University express office, University fire house, and University churches of different denominations, why should we not have University Park? One of the largest branches of the city street railway system is University line, which will carry throngs of visitors to this splendid park in the near future. In the immediate neighborhood of the park is the University of Southern California, the greatest educational institution of the Southwest. Just beyond is the great new Manual Arts High School; on several sides are large grammar school buildings; and it is possible that the new Los Angeles Normal School may be located in the vicinity. Considering these facts, in the light of the strong cultural and educative features of the park as already projected—the Academy of Science, the Historical Society, the Fine Arts League, the perpetual State exhibits, and the rest—what could be more fitting than to follow the logic of the situation and dedicate University Park?

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

Starts Gushing Again.

Officials of the Midway Five Oil Company in this city received word yesterday from their superintendent in the field that well No. 1, which recently came in a gusher, had broken loose at a rate variously estimated at from 20,000 to 40,000 barrels a day. The well had sanded up and the work of cleaning it out was proceeding. The well is located near the gusher of the Midway Premier.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations voted today to recommend to the Senate the approval of the treaty between the United States and Mexico by which the dispute over the Chamizal zone at El Paso, Tex., will be submitted to arbitration.

Offers a Holiday Special

Made-to-Measure Tailored Suits for $38.50

If the possibility of saving ten or fifteen dollars, just at this time of year, upon an article which is so much of an absolute necessity as your tailored suit, appeals to you, we shall certainly have your order.

Or if you prefer to buy a Merchandise Certificate, it may apply upon the purchase of a suit to be made up later—a most convenient arrangement, surely:

For These Suits at $38.50 We Ordinarily Ask $45 and $50

because into them we shall put the identical materials and linings and finish that we use in the higher-priced garments.

There is but one reason for so generous an offer—and that is, to keep our tailors busy through the holiday season; the offer is limited to a few days.

WE MAKE OUTER COATS TO MEASURE.

From newest and most acceptable materials we will make coats to measure in correct styles, Skinner satin linings throughout, complete, for $35.00

Events in Local Society

IN a bower of beautiful blossoms Mrs. J. Ross Clark of No. 710 West Adams street presided yesterday afternoon at an elaborately-appointed tea party, with which she entertained in compliment to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Walter Miller Clark, and her young niece, Miss Sally Bonner, who was formally introduced to a large number of guests. Mrs. Clark was attired in a handsome creation of gold and gray brocaded satin, draped with chiffon embroidered in crystals, and Mrs. Walter Miller Clark was attractive in white satin, lace trimmed. She carried a shower of lily of the valley, while Miss Bonner, who wore a girlish frock of pink flowered chiffon veiled in pink, carried a shower of Cecil Brunner roses and lily of the valley.

Particularly notable were the decorations. In the reception room which is decorated with Louis XV style, Chatney roses and ferns were effective and in the hall yellow chrysanthemums and palms were banked. The library was canopied with asparagus fern and about the room and banked on the mantel were hundreds of American beauties. The den was beautiful with white roses and the dining-room was gay with red liberty roses which formed the center piece for the table and a background about the room. The ceiling was festooned with green Chiffon ribbons and ferns which, with the beautiful pink Killarney roses used in the breakfast-room completed the beautiful scene.

Mrs. Clark's assistants were: Mrs. Adna R. Chaffee, Mrs. I. N. Van Nuys, Mrs. Milo M. Potter, Mrs. Frederick A. Wann, Mrs. E. F. C. Klokke, Mrs. Michael J. Connell, Mrs. Alfred Solano, Mrs. Frederick A. Stevens of Buffalo, Mrs. Cameron Erskine Thom, Mrs. Godfrey Holterhoff, Mrs. William E. Ramsey, Mrs. William May Garland, Mrs. Joseph K. Clark, Mrs. Wesley Clark, Mrs. Joseph A. Lewis, Mrs. John H. Norton, Mrs. Hamilton Bowman, Rollins, Mrs. Earl B. Millar, Mrs. Charles Modini-Wood, Mrs. William A. Clark, Jr., Mrs. Walter Scott Newhall, Mrs. A. H. Naftzger, Mrs. Frank W. Burnett, Mrs. Harry A. D'Acheul, Mrs. William G. Kerckhoff, Mrs. Guy Cochran, Mrs. Titian Coffee, Mrs. Guy Barham, Mrs. Robert Elmore, Mrs. William Richards, Mrs. Victor Stewart, Mrs. Henry Owen Eversole, Mrs. A. M. McDowell, Miss Annie Van Nuys, Miss Kate Van Nuys, Miss Elizabeth Wood, Miss Florence Wood, Miss Gretchan Stevens, Miss Lucille Clark, Miss Jane Rollins, Miss Amy Marie Norton, Miss Mildred Burnett, Miss Nina Jones, Miss Katherine Stearns, Miss Juliet Borden, Miss Katherine Banning, Miss Sally McFarland, Miss Marjorie Utley, Miss Emma Conroy, Miss Gladys Letts and Miss Edna Letts.

Smart Affair.

Mrs. Charles Hart Barry of No 1225 Forest avenue, Evanston, Ill., entertained yesterday afternoon at her eastern home with a luncheon in compliment to Mrs. Charles H. Mears of Pasadena, who is her house guest.

Tea Party.

At her beautiful home on Pasadena avenue yesterday afternoon Mrs. Fred Lawrence Baker entertained a large number of guests in honor of her two daughters, Misses Earlda and Marjorie Baker, who were formally introduced. The decorations were artistic and elaborate. In the dining-room pink Chatney roses were used in profusion. Over the table a shower of roses and delicate ferns was erected and on the table a radiant centerpiece of the blossoms added to the pretty arrangement. American beauties were used in the hall where Miss Ouellet rendered harp selections from a cosy corner made of palms and large clusters of the roses. The living-room and music room were gay with pink roses which were banked in every available nook and corner. The Indian-room was attractive with yellow chrysanthemums and ferns. Above stairs different colored blossoms adorned the rooms. The guests were received by Mrs. S. C. Bogart, Mrs. R. C. Carlton, Mrs. W. P. Dunham, Mrs. Frank Gibson, Mrs. Arthur Kinney, Mrs. E. S. Pauly, Mrs. Mathew S. Robertson, Mrs. Vickrey, Mrs. Fred Wood, Mrs. George Reynolds, Mrs. Charles Wier, Mrs. Warren Kennedy, Mrs. Ethel T. Kennedy, Mrs. Harriet L. Baker, Mrs. Milo M. Baker, Miss Bessie Atwood, Miss Ellen Bent, Miss Hazel Ball, Miss Irene Bonham, Miss Lillian Carlton, Miss Clara Estep, Miss Ruth Rivers, Miss Galetta Mushet, Miss Irma Taggart and Miss Bell Baker.

Mrs. McKinley to Entertain.

Complimentary to Miss Mildred Burnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Burnett of Beacon street, and also for Miss Emma Conroy, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Conroy, Mrs. J. W. McKinley will entertain today with a debutante luncheon at the California Club.

Miss Wadilove's Party.

The date for the musicale to be given by Miss Carrie Wadilove and her sister, Mrs. Eugene Elsworth Smith at the California Club is the 20th inst. By mistake the wrong date appeared on the invitations.

Fashionable Party.

Mrs. William Bayly, Sr., will be hostess Friday at probably the largest luncheon given this season. Mrs. Bayly will entertain her guests at Hotel Alexandria and there will be covers for 300. Mrs. William Bayly, Jr., formerly Miss Catherine Polk Garner of Denver, Colo., will be the honored guest and the receiving list will include Mrs. E. L. Doheny, Mrs. Willitts J. Hole, Mrs. John V. G. Posey, Mrs. Edward D. Lyman, Mrs. W. S. Hook, Jr., Mrs. Chester Montgomery, Mrs. Hugh K. Walker, Mrs. W. J. Davis and Miss Agnes Hole. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Bayly Sr. will entertain the assistants and their husbands at dinner at the hotel. There will also be present Mr. and Mrs. Allison Barlow, Mrs. L. W. Powell and Lieut. A. Staton.

Honeymoon Ends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wall who for the past seventeen months have been enjoying an extended honeymoon trip have returned to this city and are registered at Hotel Fremont.

At Redlands.

Mrs. A. B. Van Wormer and daughter, have gone to Redlands where they will join Lieut. Van Wormer where he is stationed on Military Way duty.

A gift of $50,000 to the Tuberculosis Preventatorium for Children at Farmingdale, N. J., by Nathan Straus has just been announced, and the erection of the buildings will be begun at once. The location for the institution was given by the estate of Albert Brisbane. The preventatorium is not to be a hospital to cure tuberculosis, but to prevent its appearance in children. Already 212 children, ranging from 4 to 14 years, have been treated, the average stay at the institution being three months, during which they gained from four to fourteen pounds each.

Daniel Knapp, thirteen years old, lost his life, but succeeded in saving his playmate, Joseph Barr, from being crushed to death by the Boston express on the tracks of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, in New Rochelle, N. Y.

The boys had spent the afternoon in the woods near New Rochelle and were walking home on the railroad tracks, near the Jerusalem bridge, when they heard the whistle of the train behind them. Looking back, young Knapp saw the engine of the Boston express bearing down upon them. He grasped his companion by the arm and pushed him from the track, but before he could follow the locomotive struck him. He was terribly mangled.

Miss Emmons Blaine of Chicago has informed the citizens committee of the United Charities of that city that her annual contribution hereafter will be $3800. Of this amount $1800 is to be set aside for statistical study in an effort to arrive at the underlying cause of poverty. The data of the society have been preserved, but no fund has heretofore been available for collating and making a thorough analysis of the records.

Bandannas and Christmas

TODAY'S "Western type" of American is the same alert—sincere—fearless Gringo who rode the Pony Express in mission times—only Shorn by Modern Civilization. No "pueblo" to soften his daily difficulties. A man of Realities—outspoken and generous—cares not for Tomorrow—and asks nothing from the emergencies of his actual life. His tested soul is drenched with Golden Sunshine—the Smell of Flowers—and the Fleeced Blue above. His big heart is full over with Romance, of the Spanish blood and broken, humbled Indian.

And if Society gave her consent, he would still "be-neck" himself in fluttering Red Bandanna. Instead he wears a tie.

—the Tie

Make Your Man's Christmas remembrance a tie-gift, from Silk Colors of a California Dawn—tones of gold, gray, blue, gold, red—the purples, browns, tans and taupe of her Desert Mountains—and the scribable combinations of her Sunsets.

Ties that are different of rich, imported stuffs—the latest shapes and patterns. Wide-ing, graduated four-hands, tapered ends and square across. French four-in-hands—novelties—combination sets of tie and kerchief.

All have graduated and "slide-easy"

A tie exclusive, to critical taste—and to him—a price to fit pocketbook—expert men to help you in choosing.

FACTS FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN.

By Clive Gray.

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: Some authorities say that the hair should not be washed too often as the less soap and water used on the hair and scalp the better. They advise instead the dry shampoo. A prescription given is as follows: Put in a quart jar or any handy container four ounces of powdered orris root and four ounces of therox. Stir and shade until thoroughly mixed, sprinkle a tablespoonful of this mixture on the head and then brush it well through the hair. If you can, have the hair-dresser do this as it is tiresome work, like that of cleansing the hair with soap and water. There are several good dry shampoos upon the market.

One of the big Broadway stores has remarkably ingenious window; and id that it is appreciated, the crowds thered before it every day and until e in the evening testify.

Sugar.

With all the talk about abolishing sugar from the diet if you would do away with superfluous flesh, it is maintained that sugar is instrumental in lessening fatigue and that it acts almost immediately upon tired nerves, stimulating without reaction. If this is true, and it seems to be undisputed, hurrah for the Christmas candies!

It was found by experiments in the army rations that a certain amount of candy was of great value in enabling men to endure long marches.

With so much to the credit of the candy account, do not let us feel that to yield to the craving for candy is a fault. Of course, like all good things, candy eating may be overdone.

Fashion Favors.

The bonnet of our grandmothers but with certain touches which modernize. For instance a "bonnet" which comes well down over the ears, is braided all over in tarnished gold and has two bewitching tassels of the same material just behind the left ear and dangling low upon the white neck.

The very intense blues, greens and purples have a tendency to deaden a white skin so that its pallor becomes almost ghastly.

In the chic semi-princess dresses the new models maintain the slender silhouette and the body-and-sleeve-in-one idea prevails.

The metal and crystal beads are used a great deal, especially with the metal gauzes, and the effect is very splendid and magnificent.

Delicately colored buttons in soft blues, pinks and purples—known as Dresden—will be used on silks and chiffons, as well as crystal ball buttons.

In the new satins and crepes many of the delicate, intricate designs of the old India shawls are given in contrasting tones by the weave of the material.

Many black velvet dresses are trimmed with three different kinds of lace. Gold and silver laces are frequently combined on satin of delicate colorings.

The combination of two materials still is used by the majority of modistes. With the black and white-striped velvets there is generally used black or white cloth.

VERY ANCIENT MANUSCRIPT.

Preserved in a Vienna Bank and Alleged to Have Been Written by Christ Himself.

In the vaults of a Vienna bank, carefully preserved between two sheets of glass, is a small slip of yellow parchment about six inches long and four inches wide, covered with twelve lines of quaint characters of the ancient Hebrew language, which the owner believes were written by the hand of Jesus Christ, our Lord. It is dated in the eighteenth year of the Roman Emperor Tiberius, which was about the time of the crucifixion, and is addressed to His disciples, who were evidently hiding, and asks them to come to Him at once, as He had an important message for them, writes William E. Curtis in the Chicago Record-Herald.

This manuscript was found in the attic of an old house in an obscure village of Transylvania, formerly the Roman province Dacia. It is very much soiled and stained, and was cleaned with vaseline because it is so brittle that it would have crumbled under the touch and would almost dissolve in water. It was submitted to the curators of the Semitic departments of the libraries of the University of Vienna and the University of Berlin, who found it very difficult to decipher because the Hebrew characters are mixed with Arabic. The experts who have seen the manuscript are convinced that it is very old, and probably dates from Roman times, but there is not a particle of evidence to sustain the pretension that it is an autograph of Jesus. In the first place there is nothing to compare it with, although we know from the gospels that Jesus was able to write.

The owner is a poor, illiterate man, and some one has evidently imposed upon him. He values the manuscript so highly that he demands $1000 even for a photograph, and wants $100,000 for the original.

Filled Him With Emotion.

W. D. Nesbit, the newspaper poet, was born in Xenia, O., and always had a great love for that pretty town. Some of his poetic effusions are better understood, by those who knew Xenia and its environs.

"One of my old friends and neighbors visited me," says Nesbit, "and in the course of conversation about old times and old timers he said:

"'Nesbit, you remember that little old house in Main street where you were born, don't you?'

"Of course I remembered it, all there was in it, and about it, the neighbors that my mother loved, the neighboring boys that I played with, and 'every loved spot that my infancy knew.' So I replied with emotion that I remembered it perfectly.

"'Well, Nesbit,' said he, 'the folks have gone and put a tablet on that house.'

"I was almost melted to tears," says Nesbit. "The fact that my fame had reached my old home, and that I was thus remembered by my old friends and neighbors, was very gratifying. After a deep reverie, I asked my friend:

"'What does the tablet say?'

"'Main street,' was the reply."—[Sunday Magazine.

Girls and Sentiment.

"Girls are not the sentimentalists they use to be," said Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt at a dinner in New York. "Nowadays girls can look out for themselves."

The brilliant leader of the woman's movement smiled and added:

"In the past, when a man jilted a girl, she took it to heart. Now she takes to court."—[Detroit Free Press.

INVESTIGATE.

ARMS OF LAW DRAG HIM BACK.

MAY PROVE TO BE NOTORIOUS LONDON MURDERER.

After Release on Insanity Charge, Henry Shaw, a Self-Proclaimed "Jack the Ripper," Is Again Arrested on Warrant Alleging Battery on a Little Girl.

Henry Shaw, a self-proclaimed "Jack the Ripper," of the Whitechapel district, London, is again in the toils. He was arrested by Police Officers Sweeney and McAuliffe of the East-side station just as he was leaving Superior Judge Bordwell's courtroom, Tuesday. Shaw is now in the City Jail under a charge of battery and may be charged with murder later.

The case has been one of the most darkly interesting police stories of recent years ever since the tragic death of the prisoner's brother, Frederick Shaw, whose mangled body was picked up at the bottom of an elevator shaft in the Citizens' National Bank building on the evening of September 29, last.

At the time it was given as an accident. Jacob Detterer, the janitor of the building, who was cited as a witness declared that Shaw, who was an elevator operator, stepped out of his car on the fourth floor, under the impression that he had left it at a standstill. It was stated that he failed to turn off the power and realizing his mistake, tried to stop the car by jumping at it and holding on until his head was caught between the edge of the elevator and the ceiling of the floor.

A day or so later, however, Miss Edith Tyson, through a charitable organization, intimated to the police that Henry Shaw had been instrumental in the death of her half-brother, Fred Shaw. The girl made most sensational charges, complaining of mistreatment on the part of the man she charged with murder and accusing him of having deliberately pushed Fred over the edge of the elevator shaft.

Henry was arrested November 29 by two deputies from the Sheriff's office. When locked up in jail he began such a lurid tale about himself that, at the instance of Deputy Sheriff Hutchison of the County Hospital, he was charged with insanity.

The hearing on the charge of insanity was in Judge Bordwell's court, Tuesday, the result being that Shaw was pronounced sane and discharged from custody. At the time, however, the court took occasion to declare the defendant is a dangerous man to be at large and declared that the discharge would not have been granted were it not that officers were waiting outside to arrest the defendant on another charge.

This, it is said, is one of battery on the person of Marian Haynes, a 12-year-old girl living with her parents at No. 213 Fayette street, Garvanza. The little girl, it is said, was pounced upon by Shaw, who tried to drag her away. The child screamed and Shaw, realizing that she was not his sister, Edith Tyson, who had been accorded an asylum by the Haynes family, dropped her and escaped.

Miss Tyson is positive that his talk of being the long-sought-for "Jack the Ripper" is to be taken seriously, instead of as evidence of insanity, as was done when the prisoner was sent to the County Hospital.

SENDING OUT SIX HUNDRED.

Political Equality League Mailing Invitations for Remarkable Banquet, Which Members Look Upon as a Rally.

If a tornado struck Kansas before it could get into a cyclone cellar, it would perhaps present no busier scene than did the headquarters of the Political Equality League yesterday when a band of women prepared for mail 600 invitations for the remarkable banquet they are to give at the Hotel Alexandria Friday evening of next week at 6:30 o'clock. Out of this number they expect at least 300 acceptances. Thus will their first attack upon the General Assembly of California be one of brilliance and high pleasure.

"And the wonder of our invitation list," said Mrs. Berthold Baruch, member of the governing board of the League, "is that it is not only composed of some of the most prominent persons in the State, but every prospective guest is a stanch friend of suffrage.

"Really, it is more of a rally of friends around our banner than it is a charge upon the Legislature. It is true that we have invited every member of the Assembly, and it is true that scores of them will attend, but even this good fortune does not mean that we have overstepped the list of our friends by a single name.

"Nor does the League stand alone in this splendid effort of entertainment, for we shall be assisted by at least 100 prominent persons of Los Angeles who will include representatives from the ministry, the bar, and the business world.

"Of course, we frankly reckon upon the affirmative influence which such a gathering must have, both with those who are present and on the public at large. When the members of the Legislature who are already interested in our cause see the number and the character of the persons here who are eager to secure the enfranchisement of women, we know perfectly well that they will hold the position which they have already taken in even a higher respect than before."

COMPLAINT DISMISSED.

Local Real Estate Man Proves His Innocence of Criminal Intent in a Justice Court Case.

At the conclusion of a brief preliminary examination, yesterday, for the felonious embezzlement of $35 in a desert claim transaction, T. J. Watson, a local realty operator, was discharged from custody by Justice Baird, and the complaint dismissed.

According to the testimony in the case, Watson had acquired a desert land claim near Coachella in the Imperial Valley, and in disposing of it to J. C. Koop, was charged by the latter with failure to credit him with the payment of $85 for the same. Watson proved, however, that the transaction was legitimate in every way, and the charge against him was dismissed by the court.

FAILURE TO PROVIDE.

W. T. Roberts, a structural iron worker, was arraigned, yesterday, before Justice Baird for failure to provide for his wife and female child, and his examination was set for the 12th inst. Bail was placed at $1000. Roberts being unable to provide the necessary amount, was remanded to the County Jail.

ROB SALOON.

W. C. Johnson, manager of the Waldorf Annex, No. 521 South Main street, reported to the police yesterday that the saloon was entered Tuesday night, and about $70 taken from the cash register. Entrance was gained through a door leading into the saloon from a poolroom.

Stewart voted no, Amsbury, Hoag and Keck—Yes. The place where the business will be carried on is in the center of the town in the old Postoffice Building now owned by James Mills of Riley street. The license is $1200 a year.

Earl T. Ellis was also granted a druggist's permit and a permit to serve vinous and malt liquor with warm meals at the Elsinore Hotel.

The Anti-Saloon League of Elsinore presented a bill for services of detective for $131.35. H. H. Langstaff speaking for the bill said that as the city had received three hundred dollars in fines for evidence gained by this detective he thought it no more than right that the city pay the bill. It was laid on the table until legal advice can be obtained.

Another point of interest was a communication from Walter C. Maloy asking for an adjourned session for Tuesday night to consider an application for a gas plant franchise to be presented by M. C. Cambern.

Mrs. M. A. Gardner, who has large property interests in Elsinore is making preparations to bore for gas on her property near Lake Elsinore and below her new residence on Spring and Library streets.

COLTON.

COLTON, Dec. 7.—A. Hulburt, a business man and orange grower of this city, passed away suddenly of heart failure yesterday morning. Mr. Hulburt was starting for Highgrove with a load of oranges when the team of horses became a little restive, thus exciting the driver. Bystanders noticed Mr. Hulburt fall backward and rushed to assist him, only to find him dead. He had been troubled with his heart, but since his arrival here years ago, the affection seemed to disappear.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cooley of East Colton have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mabel Cooley, to Frank Dodson, son of J. H. Dodson. The wedding will be held the last week of this month.

The liquor element of the city Monday night at a regular meeting of the City Trustees, presented a petition, asking for another city election on the wet and dry question. The petition presented by W. S. Bullis of Los Angeles, who accompanied it with a speech, which was replied to by Rev. David B. Loofbourrow, for the drys. The petition was tabled and no satisfaction given as to its disposition. W. E. Vaughan presented his resignation as street superintendent, which was accepted. City Engineer W. L. Brown was asked to take the position in connection with his other duties. He took the matter under advisement.

RIVERSIDE.

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 7.—New officers elected Monday evening by Sunnyside Lodge No. 112, Knights of Pythias, were: Charles E. Johnson, Chancellor Commander; J. W. Wells, Vice Commander; J. Kenneth Dickerson, Prelate; C. E. Newcomer, Keeper of Records and Seals; C. E. Brouse, Master of Finance; C. W. Waite, Master of Exchequer; S. F. Murphy, Master at Arms; eGorge M. Southwick, Inner Guard; George Vear, Outer Guard; Grayton Norton, Master of Work; W. P. Russell, Trustee.

Canton Riverside No. 25, I.O.O.F., elected as its new officers: A. A. Rouse, Captain; R. T. Labadie, Lieutenant; William McIntyre; Ensign; K. S. Carlton, Clerk; Charles Watkins, Accountant.

BANNING.

BANNING, Dec. 7.—While automobiling in this locality C. A. Wing, retired capitalist was severely injured by the auto turning turtle over a steep grade. The accident was caused by a soft road. Mr. Wing was driving and was carried over the embankment with the car. With him were his son, and G. M. Fountain and Earl Sevier, all of whom jumped without injury. The auto was not injured to any great extent.

A special agent of the government has completed an examination of the accounts of local Indian affairs, such accounts having been booked during the administration of Superintendent Clara D. True on the local reservation. When Miss True resigned a satisfactory settlement was not made of accounts of local merchants and others against the government, for supplies furnished, and the inspector having finished his work, finds there was no irregularity in the administration of the lady superintendent. A happy ending of the case is the announcement that the government will shortly pay the above mentioned bills. Miss True after retiring from the Indian service, took up ranching in New Mexico.

Superintendent W. T. Sullivan, of the Malki Indian reservation has returned from Thermal, where a conference of several Indian agents was held.

Settling the Doubt.

The two hopes of Britain, who had secured half-price tickets for the local dog show, looked very perplexed as they stood surveying the winner of a first prize.

Their gaze was bent upon a fine specimen of the Skye terrier, which possessed such an abundance of hair as to give it more the appearance of a woolen hearthrug than a worthy member of the canine race.

"Which is 'is 'ead, Bill?" queried the red-haired boy of his companion, after having made a critical examination.

"Blowed if I know!" replied the other. "But I tell you what—I'll stick a pin into it, and you watch an' see which end barks!"

And the problem was solved.—[London Express.

Seven Aged Women.

Seven women, the oldest of them 87, three of them more than 80 and the others between 70 and 80 years old, occupied the same pew at a recent service in a church at Danville, Pa. All of the women were widows.—[Philadelphia Record.

THE ORDEAL.

HEARS CHARGE WITHOUT TEARS.

Mrs. Devito, Held for Murder, Caresses Children.

Must Stay in Jail Until Case Is Disposed Of.

Damaging Evidence Hinted by Prosecution.

After stuffing the mouths of her four little children with soda crackers to keep them from crying, Mrs. Angela Maria Devito, who shot and killed Abele Bove on a street car about three weeks ago, listened stolidly in Police Court yesterday afternoon to the reading of the order which bound her over to the Superior Court for trial on a charge of murder.

Mrs. Devito's attorney made no attempt to defend her. He decided to present his evidence at the trial. Hence the woman's examination was brief. Neither she, her friends nor relatives were placed on the stand. She sat beside her attorney and not once during the hearing did she whisper a word to her counsel nor did her gaze wander from the witnesses called to testify. Frequently her hand caressed the faces of her little ones who hung to her skirts, begging her to take them home.

Mrs. Devito must remain in jail until her case is disposed of in the Superior Court. Her attorney asked that she be released on bail because, he declared, her children needed her to take care of them. Police Judge Fredericksen, who heard the case, denied the application.

In conducting the prosecution Dep. Dist.-Atty. Veitch hinted that communications had passed between Mrs. Devito and Bove which would be aired in the Superior Court. The statement made by one of the detectives that at the time Mrs. Devito shot Bove, she exclaimed, "Well, I got you first," will play an important part in the prosecution.

This statement is declared by Mrs. Devito's attorney to be connected with her charge that Bove had threatened to kill both herself and her children; in saying she "got him first," she meant she had shot him before he could carry out his threat.

When she was taken back to her cell in the matron's department of the City Jail, Mrs. Devito appeared to be as unmoved as the day she quietly told the detectives how she killed Bove.

She seemed yesterday to be incapable of showing emotion. When her husband spoke cheeringly to her in the courtroom, she turned a face as blank as a wall, gazed at him an instant and then glanced back at the witness on the stand.

During the hearing one of the children toddled over, and clutching her skirt in his tiny hand looked appealingly at her, and murmured, "Mamma, come home." She looked at the child an instant and then turned away. The child tugged and tugged at her dress, and finally was taken away by his father. The only time she seemed to see that her children were near her was when they started to whimper at the close of the hearing, and she stuffed their mouths with crackers.

Bright Children of Mrs. Devito, the woman who was held for trial yesterday on a murder charge.

Holliday, president of the Merchants' National Bank of this city, with embezzling a check for $106, which had been sent him in payment of a tax redemption certificate. The lot on which the taxes had been levied is on the ocean front of Ocean Park, and belonged to a client of Mr. Holliday's.

The transaction occurred several months ago while Hemingway was acting as city clerk. He has admitted the incident, but lays it to his poor bookkeeping system, the officers say. Efforts are being made by Hemingway to raise the $1000 bail.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

NARROWLY ESCAPE STRAIGHT JAIL SENTENCES.

Drive Machines About Twenty-nine Miles an Hour; Police Judge Warns Them One Mile More Would Have Put Them Behind the Bars for Christmas.

"Just one mile from the stone pile," observed Police Judge Rose, yesterday morning, as he looked over the top of his glasses at four speeders, captured by the motorcycle officers.

The law requires that any autoist driving his machine thirty or more miles an hour be sentenced to jail, without the alternative of a fine.

"This is just a warning, gentlemen," continued the court. "It will be $25 each now, but if you come in again or if any other speeder comes in here for driving more than thirty miles an hour he will spend the festive holiday season on the stone pile."

William J. LaCasse, L. Woods, J. H. Parker and D. W. Davidson were the men referred to. They paid their fines.

For violating the traffic ordinance in "cuting corners," twelve other automobilists paid fines of $2 each. Several tried to excuse themselves by asserting they were newcomers here and were not versed in the ordinances governing the operating of automobiles.

"I am very sorry that it is necessary to teach you in this way, but since you are here I will give you your first lesson," remarked the court. "Don't 'cut corners' but drive around the center of the road when making a turn. This lesson costs you $2. Please pay my clerk. I think one lesson will be all you will need, but if any have not learned thoroughly come back for a post-graduate course. The latter bit of information, however, will cost you more."

Among those who paid fines was Hoxsey, the aviator. The others who paid $2 fines are: John Loef, D. M. Alexander, J. H. Hart, W. S. Richards, C. A. Winshot, J. H. Myers, H. N. Newton, William Townsend, John Wanding, L. H. Johnson and Adolph Hilderbrand. H. B. Siberell asked for a jury trial and his case will be heard this afternoon.

MUST LEAVE CITY.

HE PROMISES TOO MUCH.

D. E. Hindman, who inserted an advertisement in a local newspaper in an effort to get working women to register with him for land in New Mexico, was told to get out of the city yesterday morning by Police Judge Rose.

Hindman was warned that if he was found inside the city after today he would be sent to jail for six months. He could not show that registering with him would benefit the women. Detective McCann, who investigated the case, said that Hindman tried to induce the women to pay him a fee on the promise of securing land for them which they could afterward sell to a railroad.

PINGREE IS TOO ARDUOUS.

W. H. Pingree, with six years' growth of hair and beard, appeared before Police Judge Rose yesterday morning on a vagrancy charge, and was given a suspended sentence of ninety days.

"It is very clear to the court that you weren't arrested in your boudoir," the judge remarked. "I will suspend your sentence because I don't want to inflict any cruel or unusual punishment on the other prisoners."

Looking like a Rip Van Winkle the old man shuffled out of the room as quickly as his unbuttoned shoes would permit.

SHE WAS TOO PREVIOUS.

The Girl Who Did Her Christmas Shopping Too Early and Its Unexpected Result.

[Specially Contributed to The Times.]

"Oh, well, what's the use anyway," said the tired-looking girl to whom fate seems to be constantly turning the cold shoulder when favors are distributed. "Last year, owing to financial stress, I put off my Christmas shopping until the last moment, and it was only by putting forth the utmost exertions that I managed to come through by Christmas eve, too tired and exhausted to participate in any of the pleasures of the occasion.

"I made the usual resolve to 'start early next year,' and to my credit it may be said that I carried it out nobly. Before they had a chance to put things away I bought balls of tinsel, red and green ribbons, tissue paper, 'not to be opened until Christmas' tags, etc., in order to have them in readiness for next time. Next I took my list and decided just what I would give to each person this year. I haunted the after-holiday sales and purchased gifts and materials to work with.

"All through the long summer days, while the other girls were boating and driving, I resisted all their persuasion to join them, and sat on the piazza embroidering and crocheting, comforting myself with the thought of the good time I would be having while they were working themselves into nervous prostration and going through the last throes of delayed preparations. On November 25, exactly one month ahead of time, I sent the last parcel by registered mail, and in a few days I had the return cards showing they had reached their destination before the surprised recipients had begun to dream of Christmas.

"To be sure, it seemed rather of a cut-and-dried affair, and was entirely lacking in enthusiasm and pleasurable excitement. It was like preparing your Thanksgiving turkey and plum pudding on the Fourth of July. However, I threw both arms around myself and danced deliriously around my room in the joy and relief of the moment. I felt that I had a right to view the laggards and drones of the world with a haughty and scornful air. I swelled with pride as I thought how jealous and envious every one would be of me.

"Alack and alas! According to my usual luck my joy was short-lived. The next day I went over to my chum's, feeling all the inward superiority that accompanies the virtuous sense of duty well done. I found her bent over a list of names with her face tied in a hard knot, and as I entered she looked up with a gasp of relief. 'Oh, you are just the one I want to see,' she exclaimed. 'You have such good taste and judgment, I do wish you would go over my list with me and help me with my Christmas shopping.'

"I submitted with as good grace as I could summon, and for the next few days I lived in a whirl of excitement. The stores were filled with such charming things that my efforts appeared flat and stale, and I began to feel dissatisfied with every gift I had made, and I wished that the shops had seemed as gay and alluring before my money was all gone and I had no one to buy for.

"Finally, owing to my indefatigable efforts, May's shopping was done, and once more I was ready to go around and enjoy myself, but I could induce no one to go with me, for all my friends were madly shopping and writing lists and checking off names, and no one seemed able to spare a moment to me.

"One morning, as I was moping dejectedly around, I received a telephone message from my aunt to come over at once. I hurried over in joyous anticipation of a matinee or some other treat, but to my consternation auntie said in honeyed tones: 'My dear, as you were wise enough to get your Christmas shopping done so far ahead of time, I feel free to call on you to assist me. I am going to let you use your own judgment about everything. Here is a check for the amount I can spend, and a list of thirty persons to be remembered. I can depend entirely on your taste, so just go ahead as if it was your own shopping.

"The next day when I reached home after a fruitless morning down town, in which I had succeeded in making just three purchases for auntie, I found a letter from some cousins in the country saying they were coming to town for a few days to do their Christmas shopping, and as I had been through the ordeal and knew just where to go and what to get, they would depend on me to take them around and advise them what to purchase.

"Before I had pulled myself together from the shock, my married sister, who always puts everything off until the last moment, floated breezily in, and with the air of bestowing a long-wished-for favor on me, announced that, as the children all had colds and needed her attention, she would allow me to do the Christmas shopping for her family.

"I will draw a veil over the misery of the next few weeks, as there is no use of going into the sickening details. Suffice it to say I might just as well make up my mind once for all that whatever I go into will work contrary to the established rule. I hope that I have learned one lesson, however, and that is to keep the secret of my cleverness and my triumph over it within my own breast, instead of allowing the world at large to profit by it."

SOME WASHINGTON HOMES.

The announcement that the new million-dollar mansion Mrs. McVeagh, wife of the Secretary of the Treasury, is building as a Christmas present for her husband, will be occupied this season, recalls to society that there are many homes with sentimental histories in the fashionable northwest, says the Washington correspondent of the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Across Dupont Circle is the house of Larz Anderson, who thinks so much of his equine prize winners that he has built a $300,000 marble stable to shelter them in.

Nearby is the palatial residence of the late Thomas F. Walsh, the Colorado millionaire, now occupied by Mrs. Walsh and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beale McLean. On the low marble wall which runs around the base of the portico is a gold ore stone taken from the mine in which Thomas F. Walsh got his first "pay dirt."

Baroness Hengelmuller, wife of the Austrian Ambassador, has a mirror room in the spacious embassy fitted up as an aviary where her beloved pet birds enjoy life.

Another real life room is the "monkey-room" of Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth. This room has been especially furnished with trees, swings and poles to accommodate her two pet monkeys.

REDONDO BEACH.

REDONDO BEACH, Dec. 7.—Decidedly increased activity as compared with that of the previous thirty days is shown in the amount of business transacted over the wharves of Redondo Beach in November. In that period fifty-two ships came to this port. These vessels handled cargoes of lumber totalling 12,500,000 feet billed to local dealers. In the same month steamships brought in 2720 passengers and carried out 1500 passengers. Three thousand five hundred tons of merchandise was landed and 1000 tons of it carried out.

Two large shipments of hardwood ties for the Santa Fe arrived this week from Muroran, Japan. The steamship Hoquiam brought 4000 and the Ethel Lane 6500. Capt. Guhl of the latter vessel reports hard luck on the passage. Two days out from Honolulu his vessel sprang a leak owing to the shifting of the cargo in the heavy weather encountered. The craft was compelled to put back to Honolulu all pumps going. There the heavy cargo had to be completely unloaded before repairs could be made.

RHEUMATISM
WEAK KIDNEYS & THIN BLOOD

Not only is the blood the great nourishing source of our systems, but equally as important is its work of removing the waste of oxodized tissues which have been consumed in force and bodily heat. This waste is filtered out through the kidneys. When, however, the kidneys become weak and unable to perform their regular duties, the waste is allowed to remain in the circulation, soon forming uric acid which destroys the greater portion of nourishing elements of the blood and leave it weak and acrid. This imperfect blood deposits into the different muscles and joints the uratic impurity with which it is contaminated. Then the pains and aches of Rheumatism commence. The gritty formation which uric acid causes collects in the joints and produces the aches and stiffness which always accompany the disease. Likewise the muscles are coated and lose their elasticity, while the continual irritation to the nerves produces swelling and inflammation of the flesh.

SSS

S. S. S. cures Rheumatism in the only way it is possible to overcome the disease; it cleanses the blood of all uric acid poison and strengthens the kidneys so they are enabled to properly filter out the waste. S. S. S. is not only the best of blood purifiers, but a fine tonic. Book on Rheumatism free to all who write.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The poultry market is a very uncertain quantity. More than enough turkeys were brought in for the Thanksgiving trade. The holdovers have been a serious factor on the market in the past two weeks. Yesterday several of the dealers in a last determined effort to clean up the birds on hand offered them to the trade at low as 20 cents a pound, live weight. They moved freely at that figure to the retailers who figure that even three weeks feeding to Christmas will see them ahead of the game by their purchase at the low quotations. Ducks and geese are not overplentiful. The demand for broilers and hens is particularly good and quotations are firm.

The first rains of the season are arriving. They are sold only in bulk. The grading is very good and the quality is better than last year. A large shipment of alligator pears arrived from Mexico. They were the largest that have ever been received here and are quoted at $5 per dozen or higher in lesser quantities. A few local pears are coming in and are selling at $2 on account of their small size.

Egg receipts were 108 cases. There was a good demand and case count sold fractionally below 42 cents, the last established quotation. Quotations on all grades remained unchanged.

Ladie butter sold freely at 26 cents, or above the market quotation by a cent. Other varieties moved in normal manner. Receipts were 12,888 pounds.

Arrivals of cheese were 2822 pounds. The demand for the commodity was limited to Northern fresh and eastern twins.

Potatoes continued very firm particularly with only 228 sacks reported in. Best sellers were Highlands with a few Salinas also moving well.

There were no changes in onions and no receipts were reported adding firmness to the market. There were no reported bean arrivals and the market on beans was good. Receipts of sweets were 93 sacks. The demand for sweet potatoes was very good and higher prices were the rule.

Guavas from San Diego county are still arriving in quantity. They are selling at 5 cents a basket. Strawberries were plentiful and sold as low as 7 cents. Raspberries and blackberries were few. There was no change in cranberries of which a car was received yesterday.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE.

The market on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange was in a reactionary mood Wednesday morning, and prices sagged all along the line, except Palmer Oil. Associated was off a shade, California Midway showed quite a little decline, Consolidated Midway was neither strong nor lively. Mexican Common was strong in the morning, but closed weak in the afternoon.

Palmer Oil, however, showed another gain of three or four points over Tuesday's market. Union Oil and the Associated issues were active, but not strong. There seemed to be plenty of orders to take up such stock as was on the market.

The bonds were quiet and there were no new quotations made on the bank stocks except that All Night and Day Bank showed considerable demand. Since leaving the 410 assessment, due and payable 5th of December, it has strengthened up somewhat. The shares are selling assessment paid, and the bids on them were 72, offered at 75. There has been considerable trading in these shares offboard.

SAN FRANCISCO STOCKS.

Market Inclined to Weakness Throughout the List—Believed That Comstocks Are Due to Rise.

[Special Service to The Times by R. F. Taylor, 112 West Third street Los Angeles.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—The market was inclined to weakness throughout the list. Consolidated lost 2%, Florence 2%, Atlantic 1, Kewanas 1; the balance of the Goldfields unchanged.

In the Tonopah list Jim Butler was offered at 25 with no bids; Belmont was off 5%, West End 3, Montana was up 3, Macnamara was offered at 21 with no bids. The Bullfrogs, Rawhides, Round Mountain, Pittsburg, Silver Peak, Nevada Hills, unchanged. The Comstocks were again on the downward path, Ophir losing 2%, Mexican 4, G. & C. 1, Hale & Norcross, Yellow Jacket 2, Belcher 2, Sierra 2, Union 3, Choller 1. It is the opinion here that the Comstocks are due for an upward movement.

MARKET DROPS ON THE REPORT.

GOVERNMENT FIGURES SEND PRICES DOWN QUICKLY.

News of Largest Acreage Ever Seeded to Winter Wheat in United States Has Immediate Effect in Chicago Pit, But the Close Rules Weak.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—With the government report today showing the largest acreage ever seeded to winter wheat in the United States, the market here took a decided trend downward. The closer was weak at a net loss of ½@⅝c. Corn finished ¼@⅜c to ½ off; oats at ⅛@¼ decline, and hog products unchanged to 17½ up. May wheat ranged from 96⅜@97⅝, with last sales 97⅜ down at 96⅜. May corn fluctuated between 37⅝@38⅜ to 38⅝, closing easy at 47⅞, a net loss of ⅛. Cash corn was weak. No. 2 yellow finished at 52@52½. May oats sold from 34¼@34⅜ to 34⅝, and in the end was ⅛@¼ net lower at 34⅜. Pork closed 15@17½ rise; lard was unchanged to 2½ higher, and ribs were dearer by 2½@5.

Cash quotations were as follows:

Flour, steady; No. 2 rye, 81; feed or mixing barley, 60@72; fair to choice malting, 88@88; flaxseed, No. 1 southwestern, 2.43; No. 1 northwestern, 2.56; timothy seed, 10.00; clover, 14.75; mess pork, 18.00@18.25; lard, per 100 lbs., 9.87½; short ribs, sides (loose,) 9.50@10.00; short clear sides (boxed,) 9.75@10.00.

Total clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 585,000 bushels; primary receipts were 1,625,000 bushels, compared with 1,656,000 bushels the corresponding day a year ago; estimated receipts for tomorrow, wheat, 11 carloads, corn, 253 cars; oats, 234 cars; hogs, 27,000 head.

SHARES AND MONEY.

PRICES MOVE IRREGULARLY.

HALTING UNDERTONE REFLECTS ABSENCE OF DEMAND.

Heavy Opening Followed Immediately by Smart Rally and Then Relapse Marks Day in Stock Market—Wall Street Pleased by Conservatism of President's Message.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Prices moved irregularly in the stock market today and while net changes were up the halting undertone reflected a condition born largely of an absence of investment demand. A heavy opening was followed immediately by a smart rally but before noon the list was again under pressure and prices made new low records for the movement. In the latter session practically all the lost ground was recovered and then the market relapsed into extreme dullness which continued to the end. Further digestion of the President's message appears to have convinced Wall Street's sober element that the recommendations contained therein are entirely in accord with the conservatism so often expressed by the administration and for the best interests of the financial, commercial and industrial world.

Bullion amounting to almost $860,000 was received by the Bank of England from an undisclosed source. Foreign exchange here indicated a further transfer of loans to London. Local trading for that market was insignificant with some buying of United States Steel and Amalgamated Copper. An official statement giving the condition of the State banks as of November 10 last, show that these institutions have increased their loans and discounts since September by about $5,000,000, while total deposits during the same period have increased over $40,000,000. Total resources of the banks increased from $561,828,000 to $610,142,000. The bond market was easy. Total sales par value $2,029,000. U. S. Bonds were unchanged on call.

Boston Copper Market.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury building.]

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 7.—The local market, Calumet and Arizona were weak on account of the deal made with Superior and Pittsburgh. There was little support to Lake and North Butte but the reaction did not extend far and at the close the buying of both stocks was good. East Butte is the wonder of the traders, very little stock coming out and aggressive buying appearing every time the market turns strong. Hancock rallied from 21 to 22 with no sales between and should be picked up every time it is weak as the stock is so scarce that it can easily have a four or five point rally when the market turns.

Cities and Towns of Los Angeles County.

PASADENA.

CHERRY BLOOM SKIES CALM.

AMBASSADOR SPEAKS OF THE JAPANESE SITUATION.

Stops in Crown City While on Way Returning to His Station—Committee of Tournament of Roses Strives to Increase Membership to Thousand.

(Office of The Times, 24 S. Raymond Avenue.)

PASADENA, Dec. 8.—Patrick J. O'Brien, Ambassador to Japan, accompanied by his wife and maid, arrived at the Maryland late last night on his way from Grand Rapids, Mich., to his post of duty at Tokio.

"There is nothing significant about my visit," said Ambassador O'Brien last night. "I have been back home in Grand Rapids attending to some private business matters and now I am on my way back to Japan. I left there October 18. I spent a few days in Washington, of course, where I went to see the President and Secretary of State. I shall go to Los Angeles tomorrow morning and stay there for a couple of days. Then I will spend two days in Santa Barbara and will sail on the Manchuria December 13 directly for Tokio.

"I left everything lovely in Japan. That country is advancing very rapidly and our relations are very friendly. Regarding the rumors sometimes current in this country regarding any possibility of war or unfriendly relations, I will say the Japanese officials take no notice of them at all."

Ambassador O'Brien was appointed to his present position July 1, 1907. For two years prior to that time he was Minister to Denmark. For many years he was a prominent railroad attorney in Michigan.

GRATITUDE FOR BUSCH.

At a meeting of the directors of the Board of Trade held last night a resolution was unanimously passed to take suitable steps to recognize the magnificent park which Adolphus Busch has built in the city and which he has practically given to the city. A committee was appointed to suggest some suitable memento which shall be representative of the citizens of Pasadena.

The matter of providing suitable sign boards and other conveniences for people who want to visit Busch's famous sunken gardens was discussed.

BUSCH EXPECTED SUNDAY.

Adolphus Busch and family will arrive in the city Sunday morning for their winter sojourn at their beautiful winter home "Ivy Wall." Mrs. E. A. Faust, daughter of Mr. Busch, accompanied by her two sons, arrived yesterday to get everything in readiness for the arrival of her parents. Mr. Busch is reported in better health this year than for many years. In the course of his absence his agent, E. H. Lockwood, has expended a large sum of money making additions and improvements in the famous Busch's Sunken Gardens.

MUST HAVE ONE THOUSAND.

"One thousand members or bust" was the watchword adopted by the Membership Committee of the Tournament of Roses Association last night. Four weeks ago the committee went to work and it has succeeded in getting 750 members, which is the most remarkable record ever made by the association.

"It simply shows what a concentrated effort can do," said Chairman Ogier, "but the fight must not be stopped until we have secured the entire 1000." The queen voting contest will close next Monday night and by that time the committee expects to reach the acme of its desires and be able to announce that 1000 enthusiastic Pasadenans have paid in their $5 each and have agreed to become the boosters of the coming Tournament of Roses.

Of all the members only 417 have cast their votes for the "Rose Queen" who is to occupy the position of honor in the great rose parade and be the guest of honor at the afternoon sports. The votes now stand: Miss Ruth Palmer 17,000, Miss Grosse 16,500, Mrs. Gerlach 7200, Miss Stockley 1000.

STRIKES ANOTHER SNAG.

The subcommittee of the Board of Trade Water Committee which has been assigned the arduous duty of trying to find an abundant water supply for Pasadena has struck another snag. A week ago L. B. Eaton appeared before the general committee and stated that he and his partners own Big Rock Creek which runs down the north slope of "Little Baldy" and sinks beneath the desert sand and out near Palmdale and that they have enough water to supply Pasadena forever, which can be brought to the city for the small sum of $2,000,000. The committee will visit the water site a week from next Saturday and partake of a turkey dinner at the expense of Mr. Eaton. Now comes a man named Adulphus M. Barley of No. 1447 North Raymond avenue and contends that he and his fellow ranchers in the Antelope Valley have prior right to the Big Rock Creek and that Eaton and his partners have no rights in that stream. Barley says that if Pasadena makes an effort to divert that water from the Antelope Valley it will meet with a lawsuit.

This apparently shuts off the last hope for securing additional water outside of the Owens River. The Narrows was considered, but there was such a positive protest made by the ranchers around El Monte that that source was abandoned. For several weeks the Big Tujunga Basin occupied the attention of the people, but just when it was thought there was some possibility of getting water from that source up jumped a half-dozen different outfits each of which claims to own the Big Tujunga in its entirety. A dozen others have sent word that they will interpose lawsuits if any attempt is made to get the water from that source.

Beginning May 19, 1911, and continuing for nine days Pasadena will entertain 500 librarians, members of the American Librarians' Association, who will journey to Southern California for their annual convention. Word to this effect was received yesterday morning by Miss Nellie Russ, librarian in Pasadena, who with Miss Alice Calhoun and Purd B. Wright of the Los Angeles library, have been active Pasadena boosters. It has been twenty years since the association has held an annual meeting on the Pacific Coast. At the meeting last summer which was held at Bretton Wood, N. H., it was decided to hold the next meeting in California but the exact location and time was left to the Executive Committee. Nearly every city in Southern California has made active efforts to land the meeting and Miss Russ is being congratulated for her success. The convention will be held at the Hotel Maryland which is considered ideal for such a meeting. By that time the new out door-indoor theater will be completed and there will be ample room for all meetings.

MUSICAL CONTEST.

The Crown City band will play a concert in Central Park this afternoon. It will be the first concert of the season and will be attended by many people because the concert will be a sample of the music which the band can play and will be compared with a concert to be given next Sunday by Gregory's Italian Band. A secret committee of three women has been appointed to judge the music of the two bands and select the best one, to which contract will be let for forty concerts to be given twice a week until next May.

NOT SPEEDING.

Dr. H. A. Fish, who was arrested several weeks ago and charged with speeding his automobile down Los Robles avenue, was tried before Justice McDonald yesterday morning and found not guilty. Dr. Fisk owns the machine which was driven by Harvey Bissell a year ago when Miss Agnes Claypool was killed on the Eagle Rock road. Several weeks ago he was "trying it out" on Los Robles avenue when he was seen by Dr. Newkirk who stated that Fisk was doing some reckless driving.

MERCHANTS EAT TONIGHT.

The annual dinner of the Merchants' Association will be held at Hotel Maryland tonight. Dr. F. D. Fox has been selected as the toastmaster. Several set speeches have been arranged and the "storekeepers" will have a jolly time.

MUST KILL HIS CATS.

J. F. Harwood, who lives at No. 877 North Euclid avenue, is fond of pretty cats. He has a number of prize winners and thinks nearly as much of them as some people seem to think of their children. But that does not hinder them from fighting in the middle of the night just when the hard-working people are trying to get a few hours' sleep. A few days ago one of the tabbies was poisoned and died. Harwood's wrath knew no bounds and he charged one of his neighbors with the act. Yesterday morning when he opened his front door after a night of "fierce fighting" on the part of the cats Harwood found a notice written on a piece of cardboard advising him to either kill the cats or get out of town.

CLUB LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Frank Ogilvy Wood of "Woodhurst," Alhambra, gave the second of a series of elaborate luncheons at the Valley Hunt Club yesterday. The table was attractively decorated with roses and asparagus ferns and at each place was a calendar favor suggestive of the opening of the new year. Covers were laid for Mmes. Albert Sherman Hoyt, Adelbert Fenyes, Edwin Mason, Edward H. Strafford, Isabel B. Winslow, Henry H. Sinclair, David D. Van Slyck, William Grant Fitch, Hampton L. Story, Stanley Wood and Geffory Purcell of San Gabriel.

A pretty wedding of last night was that of Miss Prisilla Merrill and L. A. Maginnis which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Merrill, No. 80 South Marengo avenue. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Gilbert Blue. Following the wedding the bride and groom left for San Francisco.

SAN PEDRO.

SAN PEDRO, Dec. 7.—The City Planning Committee, recently appointed by Mayor Alexander, visited San Pedro today as guests of A. P. Fleming, secretary of the Harbor Commission. Those in the party were Rev. Dana W. Bartlett, F. W. Blanchard, C. F. Edson, Mrs. O. C. Bryant, Miss Florence H. Mills, Mrs. W. R. Dickinson, M. S. Gregory, C. H. Randall, J. D. Radford, T. B. Comstock, E. O. Edgerton and Purd B. Wright. The visitors were taken for a launch ride over the inner and outer harbors. The first session of the committee was held on the outer end of the breakwater and the following officers were chosen: Dana W. Bartlett, chairman; Mrs. O. C. Bryant, vice-chairman; Miss Florence H. Mills, secretary, and C. F. Edson, treasurer. These officers, with A. P. Fleming, constitute the Executive Committee of the Commission.

LONG BEACH.

LAY MURDER TO APODACO.

FORMAL COMPLAINT ISSUED BY PROSECUTOR.

LONG BEACH, Dec. 7.—Sam Apodaco, the Mexican now in jail serving a term for embezzlement, must stand trial on a charge of the murder of J. S. Ranous. A formal complaint was issued yesterday by the District Attorney, and Apodaco will be arraigned as soon as his present sentence expires. Although the evidence against him is purely circumstantial, it is a strong chain which the accused will find hard to weaken. It has been built up link by link by the police and looks convincing.

Ranous, who was a small rancher, disappeared from his home in the northeastern part of the city on the evening of September 15, and with him went a sum of money amounting to perhaps $100. Apodaco who worked for him, did not report the disappearance for ten days, during which time he collected sums of money belonging to Ranous, and for which he is now serving sentence.

It was found he had bought a revolver from a pawnbroker on September 15 and returned it next day with the story that it would not work. Examination showed that one chamber had been discharged. Search for the body of the missing man was carried on for a month and a great deal of territory was gone over without result. A son-in-law said to a Jap a big manure pile on the place and in this the body much decomposed, was found. An autopsy showed that the old man had been clubbed to death, and probably shot also. Apodaco's actions were suspicious, and none of these have been satisfactorily explained.

LARCENY CHARGE LAID.

Chester Fredericks, a young man who has given the police considerable trouble, was arrested in Anaheim today on a charge of larceny. He is alleged to have rented a gun from a local hardware store and later sold it in Anaheim. The police also believe that Fredericks can furnish some information about the disappearance of a horse and wagon belonging to a local grocer, which has never been found, and they assert that it is not the first time he has been mixed up in similar affairs.

ROCK SAVES AUTO PARTY.

A large rock lying on a desolate bluff forty miles south of Long Beach saved the lives of a party of five autoists Sunday. The rock is at a place called Arch Beach in Orange county. Sunday J. F. Pratt of this city drove over to Orange and with a girl friend and two other couples went to the beach. In making a turn for the homeward drive, Pratt placed his machine on the "high" for a stiff climb, but the machine reversed and started backward at high speed down a ragged and dangerous bluff. It sped down for 100 feet when the rear wheels struck the welcome boulder, turned the auto sideways and landed it in a shallow ditch. But for this the auto and its freight would have plunged down two hundred feet of bluff into the ocean. The machine was wrecked and Pratt walked to Orange for another to bring his guests safely home.

Long Beach Royal Arch Masons last night elected as officers L. F. Johnson, high priest; E. P. Dewey, king; H. C. Stuart, scribe; W. S. Stevens, treasurer; H. H. Williams, secretary; Richard Loynes, trustee.

Mrs. Samuel Liggin, who came here recently from Oklahoma, with her ten-year-old daughter, was taken into custody last night on insanity proceedings. She has shown signs of mental breakdown for some time but last night became violently insane. When the officers went after her she quieted, but on the way to the station escaped and ran a block before she was caught. Family troubles and the fear that her divorced husband in Oklahoma would kidnap their only child are supposed to have caused her mental misfortune. Today a telegram was received from a brother in Oklahoma asking that Mrs. Liggin be taken to a sanitarium and stating that he would pay all bills.

The Seaside Hospital Association, which recently for the third time was denied the privilege of building upon a site it had purchased after the City Council had given it a permit, will take the matter into court and force a damage suit against the city unless the association is allowed to proceed.

The Civic Improvement Association at a meeting today decided that during the winter it will form the organization into a lyceum, for the purpose of bringing to the city speakers who are authority on the subject of city planning and beautification. The first speaker will be Ernest F. Braunton of Los Angeles.

The Realty Board last night discussed the question of consolidation but the majority decided against any such plan, special attention being given to the alleged broken promises made by representatives of Los Angeles to other cities it has absorbed. The only result of the discussion was the appointment of a committee to seek information and enlightenment on the subject.

Seeking to avoid a collision with two little children who were crossing the street Mrs. Robert H. Martin this morning swerved her auto sharply to the left on Locust avenue and, losing control of the machine, it ran across the street, crashed against the curb and collided with a tree. Mrs. Martin was thrown out but escaped serious injury. The auto, however, was wrecked.

The Sheriff sale of the Al D. Meyers property on the bluff opposite Bixby Park scheduled for today was postponed until February 1, by agreement of both sides, the Union National Bank, plaintiff, and the Pacific Sugar Corporation, of which Meyers and others are defendants. Since the original judgement Meyers has sold the property and W. Greer Campbell, the new owner, is at present in Liverpool and will not return until some time in January.

"Hotel del Coronado" is best.

The Meanest Man.

Nobody seems to be able to keep the title of "Meanest Man" for very long. The man who sat in the last seat of the last car in order to save interest on his money until the conductor got around to him was displaced by the man who induced a brood of chicks to get under a feather duster and set the old hen on another nestful of eggs. Now a surrogate on Long Island has ruled that a 16-year-old girl who wanted $17,000 a year from her father's estate for her education can have but $8000, which he declares is all that is necessary for any girl of her age. Just think of it!—[Chicago Inter Ocean.

"THE TIMES" SPECIAL HOLIDAY BOOK SECTION.

NEXT Sunday The Times will print a special Holiday Book Section, devoted exclusively to the books and book news of the fall of 1910.

It will give reviews of all the important books published this autumn, including works of fiction, religion, poetry, drama, science, travel, biography, belles-lettres, etc.

There will be an abundance of news of the writer folk, their lives, methods of work, homes, habits and plans for the future.

The reviews will be departmentized and arranged in order of their importance, the object being to facilitate the purchase of holiday books for the reader or gift-giver who has not time for personal investigation. A warning will be sounded against the poor and worthless books.

There will be an important list of the best juvenile books for children of all ages.

No one should attempt to do his holiday shopping without this book section. It is arranged to facilitate the selection and the purchase of holiday books of every description.

GO AHEAD ON HALL.

Pomona City Trustees Proceed With Work Taken From the Contractor Some Time Ago.

POMONA, Dec. 7.—Work on the long-delayed completion of the new City hall is being resumed by the City Trustees, who have taken the matter in hand, under direction of Architect H. Alban Reeves of Los Angeles. Wood-workers and plasterers are now finishing the main council chamber at the front of the building on the second floor. This will be the most ornate apartment in the structure, with heavy pilasters, paneled ceilings and roof lighting.

The local lodge of the Knights of Columbus has elected: W. J. W. Wilkinson, grand knight; Leon Lucas, deputy grand knight; J. F. Beckerer, financial secretary; P. J. McGough, recording secretary; F. W. Balfour, treasurer; J. J. Kaufmann, warden; M. C. Kennedy, chancellor; N. F. Wilkinson, advocate.

The funeral of Mrs. C. E. Weaver, mother of Mrs. L. E. Fellows, of the Pomona Tavern, was held at Todd's Undertaking Chapel today. Mrs. Weaver was a sister of E. A. Padgham, formerly of this city, but now of Long Beach.

The newly-elected officers of the local lodge of Knights of Pythias are C. W. Guerin, chancellor commander; K. K. Fritz, vice-chancellor; E. W. McIntyre, prelate; F. W. Niedermeyer, master of work; R. A. Burke, keeper of records and seal; George W. Cobb, master of finance; E. L. Downing, master of exchequer; E. L. Brown, master-at-arms; J. A. Gallup and E. E. Armour, guards; W. A. Vandergrift, trustee.

Pomona Masonic Lodge has elected James Wilkinson, worshipful master; Edwin Wilton, senior warden; C. R. Hutchings, junior warden; Charles M. Stone, treasurer, and A. F. Snow, secretary. The lodge now numbers nearly 300 members.

WORKING ON BOULEVARD.

Steady Progress Noted on the Construction of Highway Running Easterly From Glendora.

GLENDORA, Dec. 7.—Work is progressing steadily on the foothill boulevard between Glendora and Claremont. The cement part is completed and the grading is finished from Glendora east to the hill from the San Dimas Wash to the Mesa, where a large force of men is engaged. The 13 per cent. grade encountered will be reduced to a 5 per cent. The first three courses of crushed rock have been laid to the crest of the Shuler Hill, two miles distant, and oiling is now being done. It is expected that there will be two miles of completed road at the close of the week.

A well-attended meeting of the Glendora Woman's Club was held yesterday at the Glendora Operahouse, the president, Mrs. R. F. Blankenship, presiding.

A feature of the programme was an address by Miss L. Barnaly, president of the Shakespeare Club of Pasadena, on "Federation Work." Mrs. Victor Warmsley spoke on current events. Mrs. I. J. Mandeville rendered piano selections.

ALHAMBRA.

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 7.—The report of Building Inspector R. Myron Woolpert for November shows that twenty-one building permits were issued with a total value of $44,681. Five of these permits were for residences in the Ramona Park district, each of which will cost $4000.

San Gabriel Valley Chapter No. 100, F. & A. M., has elected the following officers: Charles W. Allen, High Priest; Neal Sorenson, King; Ralph B. Clapp, Scribe; O. J. Chandler, Secretary, and Oscar F. Easley, Treasurer.

VENICE.

VENICE, Dec. 7.—"The Rapids" is to be built as a new thrill for the Venezian resort. It will be located just south of the Windward-avenue pier and north of the railroad trestle, with a frontage on the broad walk. It is to be constructed at a cost of $40,000 by the Western Amusement Company of Los Angeles, and will be completed and ready for dedication April 1. In its construction 225,000 feet of lumber will be used. Work was commenced today in clearing the site and building operations will be started just as soon as the Williams Lunch Counter and some other minor affairs can be removed. In finish and equipment this latest feature of seaside entertainment and amusement will not be unlike the scenic roller coaster, there being mountains and valleys. There will be thousands of electric bulbs used in the illumination by night. Passengers will be given a half-mile ride by boat. This will be carried up an incline, through grottoes and down the rapids into an artificial lake.

SOUTH PASADENA.

SOUTH PASADENA, Dec. 7.—Special evangelistic meetings will be held at the Methodist Church, beginning New Year's night and continuing two weeks. Prof. John G. Hill of the University of Southern California will give evangelistic Bible messages the first week and during the second week Rev. John Oliver, the pastor, will preach.

Oneonta Park was the scene of an extensive grass fire yesterday, quite a number of vacant lots being burned over. Fire Marshal Ledgerwood and his aides prevented the fire from spreading.

The annual election of officers of the Masonic Blue Lodge took place in this city last evening. Officers chosen are: Hartley C. Pucker, master; W. L. Coe, senior warden; Raymond Wilder, junior warden; John N. Hunt, secretary; William C. Brainerd, treasurer. The appointive offices will be announced later by Hartley Pucker.

SANTA MONICA.

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 7.—A church federation to embrace the bayside communities, Sawtelle and Palms is to be formed. This conclusion was reached at a meeting held last night, while a banquet was being enjoyed by more than forty of the religious workers. The scene of the gathering was the Vollstadt Cafe on Third street. Committees on organization, nomination and other preliminary details were appointed and a meeting will be called for an early date, when the completion of permanent organization will be effected.

Having played twenty-seven games without a defeat, the managers of the Santa Monica baseball team are to offer a bonus of $10 to the first organization of Los Angeles amateurs or semi-professionals that comes to the beach and scores a victory. The game next Sunday afternoon is to be with the Hoegees.

BURBANK.

BURBANK, Dec. 7.—Burbank Union High School is to debate with South Pasadena High School Friday evening. The debate is to be held at South Pasadena. The question is: "Resolved, that suffrage should be an educational qualification." Burbank has the affirmative and South Pasadena the negative.

A Present for Ma.

Happened in Missouri: Father and son were talking about Ma's approaching birthday. "We ought to get her something, Pa," said she worked hard all summer, doing the chores, cutting stove wood, and tending the chickens, but, to save my life, I can't think of anything to get her," said the son. "That's right. We ought to get her something. Suppose we get her a new axe," said thoughtful Pa.—[Oskaloosa Herald.

TACK THIS UP

Prescription That Breaks Up the Worst Cold in a Day.

Every winter this prescription is published here and thousands have been benefited by it. "Get two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine compound. Then get half a pint of good whiskey and put the other two ingredients into it. Take a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of this mixture after each meal and at bed time. Smaller doses to children according to age. Shake the bottle well each time." But be sure to get only the genuine Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes in a tin screw-top case. Any druggist has it on hand or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. Many other pine extracts are impure and cause nausea.

Medicines Made From Roots and Herbs.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they depended upon medicines made from the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that standard remedy which is made from roots and herbs for woman's ills, had its origin in this way. For thirty years it has been redeeming its promises written on the label of every bottle by curing thousands of women of feminine ills. It's a good honest medicine.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

SAN DIEGO.

LUDE THE BEAR IN DENSE FOG..

CONTRABAND CHINESE MAKE LANDING IN NIGHT.

Orientals Came From Mazatlan and Were Taken Close to Shore With Gasoline Boats — Former Deputy Sheriff of Esmeralda County (Nev.) Waives Extradition.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 7.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Although the revenue cutter Bear was sent here to head them off, it was learned today that two boatloads of contraband Chinese from Mazatlan, Mex., were landed between La Jolla and Del Mar, the boats getting away and the Chinese successfully eluding the immigration officials. According to reports the smuggled band contained thirty-two Chinese. Federal immigration officers had received word that the Chinese were on their way to some United States port. Gasoline launches were used, both vessels being able to make fast time. The men transferring them were able to keep out of reach of larger vessels. The Chinese were landed under cover of a heavy fog one night early this week.

WILL TO FACE CHARGE.

Eddie Worth, former Deputy Sheriff and Assistant Assessor of Esmeralda County, Nevada, voluntarily left San Diego this morning in company with Sheriff for Nevada, there to face an indictment charging him with the embezzlement of $400 of public funds. It is said that he had been in San Diego the past year and when arrested immediately waived extradition and agreed to go back to Nevada for trial on the charge.

BRYAN'S BODY IS FOUND.

The body of W. D. Bryan, the fisherman who disappeared Thanksgiving day, was found floating near the mouth of the bay. Bryan, while fishing, fell into the boat. He was a prominent Mason and a member of the G.A.R.

FOR AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL.

Assemblyman-elect E. C. Hinkle has in preparation a bill for founding a State Agricultural and Forestry school in San Diego. He will ask for an appropriation of $...,000. Senator Wright has expected to push the measure in the Senate.

The proposed school is to become a permanent institution and an auxiliary to the Panama-California Exposition. The site is to be in Balboa Park, owned by the city. Permission to locate it there is to be secured by legislation.

Assemblyman Hinkle also plans a redistricting scheme wherein San Diego county under the new census apportionment will be given two Assemblymen. As it now is the county outside the city is joined to Imperial county. As there can be but eighty Assemblymen San Diego county's population, 47,000 is sufficient, Hinkle says, to entitle it to two Assemblymen without Imperial county. What he is to do with Imperial county is a puzzling block. A population of 47,000 is not sufficient to allow the county a representative in the lower house unless it must be tacked on to some other county.

At the conference of Southern California legislators called for Los Angeles next Thursday, Assemblyman Hinkle will take up this question. If he succeeds in the reapportionment of Riverside's representation he will propose that Imperial be added to that district.

RAILROAD RELICS FOUND.

Some old railroad passes made out to Gen. R. V. Wilson, a former federal judge of Ohio, were found on a desk here. Seven are annuals and two are trip passes. They have value except as relics. One was issued for the year 1854 by the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad. Another was issued in 1865 and 1866 by the New York Central Railroad line of which were good from Cleveland to Buffalo on the steamers, Atlantic and Arctic. They were issued in 1865, by Theodore D. Dale, of The Cleveland, Columbus & Cincinnati pass was signed by L. M. Bennett, president. If the owner of the passes will find the passes will be sent to the Santa Fe museum in Los Angeles. They are now in possession of a local newspaper.

CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED.

The new Union Congregational Church at Chula Vista will be dedicated tomorrow. Services will begin at 10 o'clock in the afternoon and will continue to 9 o'clock. Rev. W. B. Hinkle will deliver the dedication sermon. George W. Marston will preside over the meeting.

Building licenses were issued to Otis Booth, $20, and Bertha M. Sterler, Los Angeles; Fred O. McKee, 49, and Mrs. Nancy Hyde, 49, of Webster Grove; Samuel M. Shaffer, 43, and Mrs. Olivsira, San Francisco.

BRIDGE BIDS OPENED.

Bids for the construction of five reinforced wood and steel bridges across creeks and rivers on the coast highway for a bridge over Bonnie Brook in Sweetwater Valley, have been under advisement by the Board of Supervisors. Following are bids: Santa Margarita River, C. Mercereau, $7940; Knight & Hyde, $7765; Mercereau Construction Company, Mercereau Construction Company, $9100; Young Construction Company, $10,250. LEGISLATION.

RANCHERS SEEK NEEDED REFORM.

LAW AMENDMENTS PROPOSED FOR FARMING INTERESTS.

Regulation of Waste Flow From Artesian Wells Is Come-back at Santa Ana Gun Clubs, Which Are Said to Be Extravagant—Policy Maximum Increase.

SANTA ANA, Dec. 7.—Assemblyman Clyde Bishop of this district, may be called upon to put measures through the next Legislature of particular interest in this county. The Orange County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company wants the State law so amended that it may write policies of a maximum of $6500, instead of $4500, as the law now provides.

Some of the farmers west of the river, in the pumping plant region, want the law amended to further regulate the waste flow of artesian wells. The present law prohibits the wasting of water, but has a clause excluding those wells the flows of which are used to propogate game. This law lets the gun clubs out, and the farmers assert that the gun clubs waste more water from the underground supply than all other artesian owners combined.

Bishop may also be called upon to take sides in a measure said to have been planned by the gun clubs. This is a State law preventing hunting on public highways. At present, much of the available hunting grounds of the duck lands are in the hands of clubs, and farmers and other hunters not rich or lucky enough to be in a gun club, hunt along the roads, oftentimes between preserves. Those hunters will fight the proposed legislation.

SUES FOR FLOOD DAMAGES.

As an aftermath of the flood of last New Year's Day, E. L. House, a Sullivan street rancher, today brought suit for $6825 damages against the Pacific Electric Railway Company. House's complaint alleges that until the flood occurred, his place was not damaged by the overflow of the Santa Ana River. He alleges that the pile-bridge of the railway company caught brush washed down the stream, and turned the stream out of its regular channel. This water held back by the embankment on which the tracks are laid, forced the water to higher ground and let it come down on his ranch.

House asks $5000 damages for land washed away by the flood, $2000 for ten acres of celery destroyed, $500 for five acres of alfalfa, $250 for berry vines destroyed, $250 for trees destroyed, and $75 for vegetables destroyed.

TWO ELECTIONS PENDING.

Two elections to be held in the lowlands section in February promise to be hard-fought and exciting. They will be for directors of the Newbert Protection District, formed to control the flood waters of the Santa Ana River, and the Talbert Drainage District. A full board is to be chosen by the protection district and two out of three directors by the drainage district.

The most important will be the protection district election, since the board will have the execution of plans for the permanent channel work.

Detective O'Rrourke and Constable Noonan of Long Beach, were here today looking for J. B. Sterling, a cornetist, wanted at Long Beach for jumping a board bill.

WANTED FOR BURGLARY.

Burglary warrants were issued today by Justice Smithwick for Harry Bancroft and Henry C. Sanders, arrested in San Diego with fountain pens in their possession stolen from P. I. Bird's book store at Orange. They will be brought here for trial.

The Board of Supervisors today set apart $150 for the use of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Supervisor T. B. Talbert, who is going to Puerto, Mex., with W. T. Collins of Los Angeles, to look at land, was given a leave of absence from the State. Walter Helwig's bid of $65 for pumping plant machinery in West Orange was accepted.

GARCIA'S LIGHT SENTENCE.

Loreto Garcia was today found guilty of beating his wife. He said he was drunk. Owing to the fact that Garcia has a wife and five children dependent upon him, Justice Smithwick gave him only fifteen days in jail. Smithwick told Garcia that another appearance in court would probably mean six months in jail.

Garcia had planned to run away with his step-daughter, aged 13. He said his threats along that line were part of his drunken misconduct.

HOPE FOR STATE AID.

Ventura County Supervisors Adopt Resolution Favoring Improvement of the Rincon Beach Boulevard.

VENTURA, Dec. 7.—Steps were taken yesterday by the Board of Supervisors by which it is hoped to secure the building of the Rincon Beach boulevard by State aid and out of the fund of $18,000,000 recently voted for the State good roads.

A resolution was adopted asking that money be provided by the next Legislature out of that road fund to build the road as a public necessity. The road would extend along the beach in this county and westward to the Santa Barbara county line. The distance is about twelve miles. The way lies along the beach and between the Southern Pacific tracks and the ocean.

The road would be one of the shortest and best along the coast and would do away with the dangerous Casitas Pass for general travel. It would be a level or tidewater highway the entire distance. Some time ago private capital in Santa Barbara county surveyed the road with a view to building it and making of it a toll road. But the people of this county were aroused against a pay thoroughfare and the supervisors refused to grant a franchise.

COLTON.

COLTON, Dec. 7.—The funeral of A. Hulbert, who died suddenly of heart-failure at his terrace home yesterday morning, will be held at Knopsnyder's undertaking parlors tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Jesse A. Hungate will officiate. Mr. Hulbert leaves a widow, a daughter, Miss Gladys, and a son, Floyed Hulbert.

Rev. W. D. Hynsen of Redlands delivered an address at the Presbyterian Church this evening on "The Influence of the Teachings of Calvin." Vocal solos were rendered by Prof. Lanterback and E. W. Thomas. There was also a clarinet solo by Harry Kaiser.

Mrs. Seth Hartley was in charge of the programme of the Woman's Club yesterday. Prof. Joseph Daniels of Riverside delivered an address on "Art," the subject of the afternoon. Violin selections by Miss Dorothy Armstrong were accompanied on the piano by Miss Phoebe Armstrong.

"Hotel del Coronado" leads all.

BUYS LAND, SEEKS WATER.

Los Angeles Man Purchases Property and Intends to Bore for Aqueous Supply.

ELSINORE, Dec. 7.—E. S. Gerling of Los Angeles, of the firm of Loud and Gerling of Pomona, which owns a large acreage known as the Leach ranch in Elsinore, has recently bought several hundred acres adjoining of railroad land. Gerling has been here recently with surveyors and is ready to begin improvements. The land will be cleared and probably planted to lemons and other citrus fruit. Gerling expressed himself as willing to spend $10,000 in getting plenty of water.

It is probable that he will be successful in getting a good supply as new wells in that vicinity indicate an abundance.

Graham and sons have just completed one of the best wells in the valley for M. B. McIntire. It is believed that it will easily furnish a continuous supply of 100 inches.

M. Laird in that vicinity and F. C. Lillie are putting down wells and Lillie and F. C. Graham are now in Los Angeles looking up pumping plants. Mr. Benson, who has recently put down a successful well, is in Los Angeles buying a plant.

HAPPY AFFAIR.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Clayton entertained Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 6, at their home on Lindsay street, in honor of the sixth birthday anniversary of their little son, Pemberton. About twenty-five little people were present and enjoyed the festivities.

SAN BERNARDINO.

REVIVE PLAN FOR HOSPITAL.

SUPERVISORS TAKE UP A NEW LOCATION QUESTION.

Will Call a Bond Election at Once on the Proposition of Taking the Meggison Ranch, Situated Between the County Seat and Redlands—Noise Disturbs Patients.

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 7.—The County Hospital proposition has again been revived by the Board of Supervisors. They will call a bond election at once to place before the voters a proposition to take over the Meggison ranch, located between this city and Redlands. Meggison has made a new offer, agreeing to take over the present hospital grounds and buildings for his ranch on an exchange basis of $25,000. The necessity for a change of location appealed to the several grand juries of past years, who found that the present hospital is too close to the Santa Fe railroad yards. Continuously throughout day and night the noise from the yards is such as to prove a constant torment to patients in the institution. If the deal is closed the county will maintain a farm on the ranch, and erect there also a building for the Detention Home.

RAILWAY PETITIONS.

Petitions are in circulation for the building of a private electric railway to link Upland, Bloomington and the Ontario section with this city. The move is gaining popularity and support. Its revival with so much enthusiasm behind it is due to the activities of the Southern Pacific in pushing the Upland line toward Riverside. Rialto folk and the residents of the western addition of this city fear that the activities spoken of mean that their section is not in line for immediate electric connection so far as the Southern Pacific is concerned.

SAFE BLOWN OPEN.

The safe of the Upland Feed & Fuel Company at Upland, owned by J. M. Hartley, was blown open last night. The robbers secured $26. They seemed to work with a "noiseless" explosive, for although two discharges were necessary, the first to blow open the outer door and the second to wreck the inner one, no sound was heard by people living in the vicinity. The robbery was discovered this morning when the proprietor opened the store for the day's business.

GIRL ASSAULTED.

Miss Clara Martin, 15 years old, a High School pupil, while on her way home last night, was attacked by a Mexican in Lugo Park. Her assailant seized her by the throat, and when she struggled loose, he tried to trip her. The girl's screams brought Mrs. Joseph Reggio to her aid. The Mexican escaped.

The San Bernardino County Teachers' Institute will be held in this city for the first three days of the week commencing the 19th inst. Many noted educators will be here during the institute, including Job Wood, deputy State superintendent of public instruction, and Dr. A. E. Lange and Dr. Babcock of the University of California.

GREAT CREAMERY DAY.

Dairy Butter Subject to Discriminating Taste of Experts Submitted for Prize Award at Exchange.

Butter from nearly every county of the State in small wooden packing boxes, littered the lobby of the Produce Exchange building yesterday morning. It was sent in by the creamery men in competition for the prize award of the California Creamery Operators' Association which will convene this morning in the assembly room of the Exchange.

All day long three competent judges with a little gimlet, passed from one square of butter to another, tasting, smelling and testing for pack. The winner will be named this morning.

J. H. Severin, secretary of the association, arrived several days ago from his home in Sacramento and has charge of the testers. The formal opening will find Mayor Alexander on hand with an address of welcome. William H. Saylor will respond. He is editor of the Pacific Dairy Review of San Francisco. President of the association, C. C. Ridgeway of Porterville, will speak on "The Golden Rule in the Creamery Business." Louis M. Cole will give an idea of the business in creamery lines in Los Angeles, and A. C. Smithers will also speak.

The prize essay of the winning student of the University Farm will be read by the secretary, after which the actual business of the convention will be taken up. C. L. Mitchell, United States dairy expert on the Pacific Coast, and Prof. H. A. Hopper will announce the score of the buttermakers competing in the prize contest.

Friday will be a day of many addresses. Among the speakers will be J. P. Shields of Sacramento; H. A. Hopper, W. H. Russell, president of the Dairy Exchange; C. L. Mitchell, J. R. Murphy of Fresno; J. C. Needham of Modesto; P. W. Anderson, secretary of the State Dairy Bureau of San Francisco, Leroy Anderson of the State College of Agriculture, Berkeley; H. B. Rawl, chief of the Dairy Division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Dr. L. M. Power.

Following these papers, the annual election of officers will take place. The Los Angeles creamery operators have prepared a number of pleasure jaunts. Tomorrow afternoon they will take the delegates, expected to number at least 100, about town and to Pasadena in automobiles. A theater party for the evening is scheduled.

SHORE EXHIBIT PAYS.

Chamber of Commerce Decides to Continue Atlantic City Display. More Autos Wanted for Excursion.

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday renewed the appropriation to maintain for another year the Los Angeles exhibit at Atlantic City, which has attracted wide attention. Secretary Wiggins has just returned from an inspection of the exhibit, during which it was overhauled and re-arranged.

More owners of automobiles are being sought to register for the trip to the Newhall tunnel December 19. There is no difficulty to get them, but owners of machines are requested to get in touch with Secretary Wiggins.

Final arrangements were made for the trip to the west coast of Mexico, and the secretary is now ready to give full information and register reservations for the trip.

As it appeared that Los Angeles was being discriminated against in the matter of freight rates between this city and the Owens River Valley, the transportation committee reported that the question is being satisfactorily adjusted. Residents of the newly developed territory will be able to ship to this city soon, in competition with other localities.

DOCTORS IN CONVENTION.

Many Delegates Attend Semi-Annual Meeting and Hear Interesting Papers Read by Local Practitioners.

The first session of the forty-fourth semi-annual meeting of the Southern California Medical Society, was held yesterday afternoon on the mezzanine floor of the Hayward Hotel.

About 150 delegates are in Los Angeles. The meeting is scheduled to last two days, and papers of general and specific interest are to be read.

Yesterday a joint meeting with the Southern California Health Association was held. Papers were read by Dr. Stanley P. Black of Pasadena, on "The Relation of Hydrophobia to Public Health," and a paper by Dr. W. A. Edwards of Los Angeles, treated of "Acute Poliomyelitis."

The annual election of officials for the coming year will be held today.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS ELECT.

At the annual meeting of the Knights of Columbus yesterday evening, Walter J. Goldsmith was elected to the office of Grand Knight succeeding John F. Burke. A majority of the other officers of the society were re-elected. J. F. McElheney was made Deputy-Grand Knight, William J. Hanlon, Chancellor; Thomas F. Conway, Recording Secretary, Thomas P. White, Financial Secretary; T. J. Cunningham, Treasurer; Hughie J. O'Brien, Warden; E. J. McCurdy, Inside Guard; John McGonigle, Outside Guard, and Arthur Mullen was elected to the expired trusteeship of Dr. William Maloney.

AGED WRITER BURNS TO DEATH.

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) Dec. 7.—Mrs. L. H. Jenkins, a writer 72 years old, was burned to death, and her daughter, Miss Eva Jenkins, aged 40, narrowly escaped the same fate today when fire partly destroyed the boarding house of Caleb S. Thompson in Montgomery street.

WORTH KNOWING.

Simple But Powerful Prescription for Rheumatism and Lame Back.

This was previously published here and cured hundreds. "Get one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound and one ounce of Toris compound. Then get half a pint of good whiskey (or sherry wine if it is preferred) and put the other two ingredients into it. Use a tablespoonful of this mixture before each meal and at bed time. Shake the bottle each time." Good effects are felt the first day. Any druggist has these ingredients on hand, or will quickly get them from his wholesale house.

MRS. THOS. DAVIES.

Denver, Col. (Special).—"We have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in our family for the last sixteen years as a medicine and stimulant. We use it because we prefer it to any other. It is the greatest family medicine in the world—a whole medicine chest in itself." Mrs. T. Davies, 2312 10th St.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain. Its palatability and its freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach. For fifty years it has been the standard of purity and excellence. When taken at meal time it stimulates the mucous surfaces and little glands of the stomach to a healthy action, thereby improving the digestion and assimilation of the food and giving to the system its full proportion of nourishment. It is invaluable for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children; makes the old feel young and keeps the young strong and vigorous. There is no time in life when it will not help. Recognized as a family medicine and prescribed by physicians everywhere.

When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, be sure you get the genuine. It is sold IN SEALED BOTTLES ONLY—never in bulk. Look for the trade mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Price, $1.00, a large bottle. Write Medical Department, The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y., for an illustrated medical booklet, containing testimonials and rare common sense rules for health, and doctor's advice, both sent free.

SUNNY MONDAY

Sunny Monday soap is just as pure as it looks. It is white, made from the purest materials and contains no rosin—starts dirt like magic—washes woolens without shrinking—does not fade colors—works in any kind of water—and contains a marvelous dirt-starter which saves time and rubbing. Sunny Monday will double the life of your clothes and save you half the labor of wash day.

Danger From Christmas Displays and Decorations

To the Public:—Your attention is hereby respectfully called to the fact that the introduction about premises of Christmas greens, harvest specimens and other inflammable materials, such as cotton to represent snow, and the like, introduces an additional hazard not contemplated by the underwriters in issuing policies of indemnity covering the usual fire hazard; and in this connection we refer you to one of the conditions of the standard form of fire insurance policy, wherein it is stipulated that:

"Unless otherwise provided by agreement endorsed hereon or added thereto, this company shall not be liable for loss or damage occuring while the hazard be materially increased by any means within the control of the insured."

In addition to the danger to property from displays referred to, the danger to life in crowded stores or places of meeting by reason of a panic occasioned by fire, even though it be small and easily controlled, is so great that the underwriters, who have made a study of such hazards, would only be partially fulfilling their duty should they fail to give warning.

Electric displays where motors are used and where electric currents are shunted or broken on different circuits for advertising purposes will not be approved unless the device for motive power and for the shunting and breaking of currents on different circuits are installed in accordance with requirements of "National Electrical Code."

"WHO'LL TRY IT?"

NINE MEALS IN SEVEN DAYS, "DOPE" FOR MENTAL WORKERS.

Buffalo Man's System of Dieting and Massaging the Nerves—Elijah G. Harris Eats Only When Day's Toil Is Done and Then Substantially, Giving All His Attention to Careful Mastication.

IN THESE days of high cost of living, it is refreshing to hear millionaires like Horace Fletcher and John D. Rockefeller say we eat too much; when the meat trust sends the price of beef a notch or two further skyward it is pleasant to know that Bernard S. Shaw is a vegetarian and that Upton Sinclair stoutly maintains (and strongly practices his theories) that the proper dinner of mankind is such and such only as his long-armed ancestors plucked from the trees—namely fruits and nuts.

Many smile at these theories as the hobbies of men of wealth, and go on gulping down their food at a two forty rate, regardless of kind, quality or nourishing value. The abuse of the digestive organs by fast and indiscriminate eating goes bravely on and we live fast, we eat fast; we die fast, it is hurry from the cradle to the grave and the distance between the two seems to be shortening with the human race with each decade. A European gentleman sets aside from one to two hours to eat and enjoy his dinner. He makes of it a ceremonial, a sacrament, so to speak. The average man on this side of the Atlantic seems to consider twenty minutes thus spent time wasted. He gulps it down in ten and spends the remainder of his time studying the stock markets or the financial column and then wonders why his stomach complains and his digestion is not good. It is, therefore, quite out of the usual and a means of gratification to find a man of neither wealth nor position who has the courage to live and practice in his daily life his theories of living and eating.

To the casual observer seeing Elijah G. Harris of Buffalo, N. Y., walking down the street with his quick, springy step or spinning by on his "wheel" he would say, "there goes a man of twenty-five." A closer scrutiny reveals here and there a thread of silver in his jet black locks, but a second look into his face brings the conclusion that his is one of those peculiarities of human nature which causes some men to grow gray when not out of their twenties and yet we are told that Elijah G. Harris was, ten years ago pronounced an old man upon whom the winds and storms of time had left their impress heavily.

What, then, is this elysian fountain of youth which has brought back young manhood from old age and made a man of forty-two look to be one of thirty. He will tell you by correct living and eating. Mr. Harris has lived on nine meals a week for ten years while doing hard work, and instead of starving to death as some people would fear, it is hard to find a man of stronger mind and muscle than he is.

EATS WHEN WORK IS DONE.

He believes in eating only when the day's work is done. In this way he is enabled to direct all of his available energies toward the work in hand during the day, and thus accomplish more thoroughly whatever he undertakes. The meal is then begun with a free mind, and the satisfaction of having completed his day's tasks, adds zest to his appetite and relish to his victuals. He eats his food slowly, and masticates thoroughly. The bill of fare is composed of natural foods, uncooked as far as possible, because he considers that they furnish the best nerve and tissue foods and give the vital force needed to best maintain the human system. Nuts, cereals and dates furnish the neutratives, vegetables and fresh fruits the refrigerants. Milk is served in abundant quantities. One might judge from this that his bill of fare lacks variety, but those who have partaken of a daily meal at his table have counted from twenty to thirty different kinds of food, from which to satisfy the appetite, each chosen because in his opinion they give a balanced vital force and nerve nourishment.

The natural expression of the vital power of the man, inspires us with faith and confidence in his theory and we are led to inquire further into his study of the subject. His is an assertive personality with the rare combination of a modest and retiring disposition. Rockefeller and Fletcher make their theories, the hobbies, but Harris' is his bread and butter and he has the supreme satisfaction of having made good against many odds, the greatest of which is prejudice. This puts him beyond the pale of an idle dreamer and classes him more with the discoverers of his age.

When asked what brought about his belief in the one-meal-a-day diet and what his purpose in following it was, he replied: "As a lad I was always interested in the human system and made it a study even as a very small boy, my ambition was to become a doctor but my parents dissuaded me from my purpose, saying that there were better fields for me in some less arduous profession of life. About twelve years ago my wife became suddenly ill and lay from May until October in a delirious condition, baffling every physician as to the cause and cure of her malady. I remembered then, with bitterest heart-ache and pangs of conscience, that early in life I had allowed myself to be dissuaded. It was then, during those long, weary months of constant watching beside the ebbing life of one so near and dear to me, that I determined, if possible, to arrive at the root of the cause of these extreme cases which no human skill seemed able to reach."

Reduced in fortune by the long drain of sickness, saddened by the loss of his life companion, he set forth on his mission of discovery; educated as he had been in the school of adversity and the university of "hard knocks," his task was both difficult and arduous. He eagerly devoured every book which could give him light upon the subject and finally evolved his theory, which can best be explained in his own words.

"It is founded entirely upon common sense and a complete understanding of the mechanism of the human body. In the first place, I hold that disease is cellular, hence if each cell is in its normal condition, health is certain. Long years of improper living and over-eating of the less nourishing foods produce congestion throughout the system, just as a water pipe becomes clogged up after long years of service and the logical conclusion in each case is to remove the congestion and restore normal circulation. Upon this theory I evolved my system of dieting and of massaging the nerves which are the channels of communication to the brain or the master architect of the body. When they become deadened from congestion we may become diseased or in fact very ill and they are unable to communicate it to the brain and then when they give way we wonder why it is that it takes so long to get well.

"The key to all health is to extract every bit of flavor from our food while eating, then the human chemist and cell builder will grind, analyze and chemically utilize the food elements to the proper action of functioning of one's cellular and organic activities. This cannot be done by hurried eating. It is, therefore, much better to await until the day's work is done before attempting to feed the stomach, we are then in a mood to eat and enjoy with relish our food and to take time to masticate it thoroughly."

On Saturday he quits work at one and eats a noonday meal. The afternoon is devoted to pleasure and recreation. He is very athletic and plays as hard as he works, ever keeping those sunny blue eyes of his on the lookout for the best and the most convenient way of getting the most out of play, work and life with the least wasted energy.

Sunday is his day of rest and he recruits his strength for the week before him by again eating two meals. The other five days he partakes of one meal only.

Harris was married in 1907 to Miss Sarah Wright of New York City, who is a faithful and enthusiastic helper in her husband's life work.

The visitor who enters their home on any evening at the hour of the daily meal, will find one or more people at their table who is breaking the shackles of a habit fixed by centuries and is partaking of three meals in one. A new and novel sensation to them and incomprehensible to those who have not given it a trial. But it is towards Harris we direct our attention and really we wonder how one small man can eat so much, but when we suddenly remember that it is the first food he has partaken of in twenty-four hours, twelve of which have been devoted to constant and exhaustive labor, we wonder why he does not eat more. With vivid recollections of times when we missed a dinner and were so hungry we could eat anything in sight we ask;

"Does it ever seem long between meals, Mr. Harris?"

And as he pours a generous quantity of honey over his wheat, for he uses only natural sweets, he replies,

"Often, by nine o'clock in the morning I feel almost like picking up a dry crust of bread from the ash barrel and eating it ashes and all, but long study and experiment on myself in this matter has proved to me that the ninety to 100 foot tons of energy which is required to digest that in my stomach does not leave enough energy for the very best results from my work and I have an ineffective and unsatisfactory day's record when night comes."

"But do you not feel uncomfortable after such a hearty meal?" we ask.

"No, because I eat it slowly and masticate it thoroughly so that my food amounts in quantity to little more than some men eat for dinner but I have gained all the nutrition out of it."

TWO MEALS FOR SOME.

"Do you advise one meal a day for men of all professions?"

"No, the laboring man who is burning up a large amount of muscular tissue requires two meals a day, but the mental worker who wishes to get the most effective results should eat but one. My work is, in the main, mental. I read through my fingers on the nerves, just what the condition of the patient is and what changes are taking place as I work."

As he proceeds with his meal and we note the relish and extreme satisfaction which he gains from the homely occupation of eating a meal of victuals, we find ourselves wondering if, after all his theory is not correct and the colossal thinkers and men of power in the next generation will be those who eat one meal a day.

PROSPERITY IS CLEW.

When Negroes Begin to Freely Spend Money, Police Become Suspicious and Secure Confessions.

Prosperity proved too much for Jesse Daniels and Edgar Washington, negro boys, for they were arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective Rico and charged with breaking into the office of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company, Broadway and Franklin street, and securing money.

The charge was not made until after the detective had given the boys a rigid examination. Suspicion was first directed towards the boys when they were found to be spending money freely. They were asked where they got it, and after trying to evade the question several times, they finally admitted they had broken into the office of the company early in November. They said they secured $145 from one of the desks.

ACTION FOR DAMAGES.

A suit for $298 damages was filed, yesterday, in Justice Stephens's court by Sam Handler against Edgar Anderson. The suit was brought to force the latter to pay Handler for injuries sustained, when he was knocked down and run over by an auto driven by the defendant Anderson. The accident occured September 26 at the intersection of First and Central avenue. Handler alleges that he was crossing the street when Anderson's machine ran him down.

HORSE'S KICK CAUSES DEATH.

Fred W. Hughes, 40 years old, who was kicked in the abdomen by a horse last week, died in the Crocker Street Hospital yesterday afternoon. A post-mortem examination showed that blood-poison had set in. The accident occurred in Huntington Park, where Hughes lived. The body was taken to the undertaking rooms of Peck and Chase.

AMERICAN ARMY.

Maj.-Gen. Wood deplores the unpreparedness of the army in case of war, among its most serious defects being the shortage of field artillery and ammunition. There is a great lack of reserve seacoast ammunition and at the present rate of appropriation by Congress it will take more than fifty years to obtain a reasonable supply for the coast defense and a still longer time to obtain the necessary field artillery and ammunition.

If the regular army and organized militia at war strength were called to arms today, said Gen. Wood, there would be a shortage of more than 60 per cent. in the field artillery necessary to equip them. This force would represent only a portion of the men called to arms in case of war with a first-class power.

There is, however, a good deal of activity on the part of army officials to secure for the army the best there is in the matter of equipments and arms, and of other things that make for an army's success in time of war.

A board of officers is at work at the school of musketry at the Presidio of Monterey, Cal., for the important purpose of formulating a report upon the proper equipment of combat or ammunition-supply trains for squadrons of cavalry and battalion of infantry, and upon other questions pertaining to the problem of supplying small-arms ammunition to troops on the firing line.

This board was detailed last summer, and it consists of Maj. George W. McIver, Ninth Infantry; Captain Merch B. Stewart, Eighth Infantry, and First Lieutenant William H. Cloptan, Thirteenth Cavalry.

The board is going thoroughly into the subject, and will probably obtain samples of vehicles for ammunition supply from manufacturers, with a view of making practical tests to ascertain their suitability. It will be fully two months before the board will be ready to make its report.

A field artilery school of fire will be established at Fort Sill, Okla., for the instruction and training of officers and enlisted men of the field artillery of the regular army and of field artillery officers of the militia in methods of handling field artillery troops and in directing their fire. It is expected to have the school in operation some time next summer.

Capt. Dan T. Moore, Sixth Field Artillery, who is now on temporary duty at the War Department, has been detached from duty with his regiment at Fort Riley, Kans., and ordered to proceed to Fort Sill for duty in connection with establishment of the school.

In the endeavor to secure the most satisfactory pistol, the severest tests ever given pistols were recently carried out at the Springfield (Mass.) armory with the latest models of the Colt and Savage types. Each arm was fired between five and six thousand times. The tests were conducted as a part of the procedure which the army has been following for some time to ascertain which type, if either, is suitable for adoption for the military forces in place of the present Colt revolver. The report of the test at Springfield will be carefully considered by the ordnance officers, after which, it is expected, some final action will be taken in the matter. Already reports are in hand from a number of troops of cavalry which used the pistols for a year.

Economy is also being kept in mind by the armory officials, and as the result of improvements in the methods of manufacture, a reduction of 61 cents has been made within the last several months in the actual cost of producing at the Rock Island (Ill.) arsenal the Springfield rifle of the latest model. This has been effected without reducing the workmen's wages in any case. In fact, 258 of a total of 334 employees, or more than 20 per cent. of the employees at the arsenal, have had their day rating increased.

This reduction in the cost of manufacturing the rifle, together with a reduction of 50 cents per rifle last year, has resulted in an actual saving of $84,474 in the manufacturing cost of rifles for which orders have been given the Rock Island arsenal since July 1, 1909.

The Rock Island arsenal, during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1910, assembled over 29,500 magazine rifles, caliber .30, model of 1903, chambered for model of 1906 ammunition, and of these over 28,000 were targeted. During the same period the Springfield armory, Massachusetts, manufactured over 47,700 of the same rifles.

Firings are to be resumed at the Sandy Hook proving ground in January for the purpose of ascertaining the ability of reinforced concrete parapets to withstand modern artillery fire. It is proposed to surround the Island of El Fraile, at the entrance of Manila Bay, with such a wall, and the engineers wish to know how thick to make it and the best manner of constructing it. The rotatable turrets, each containing two fourteen-inch guns, will be mounted on this island.

Some months ago an attack was made at Sandy Hook against a twenty-foot reinforced concrete wall. After a few shots from a fourteen-inch gun, that gun was put out of action by development of a defect in one of the gun levers. The attack was continued with a twelve-inch gun, the projectiles from which pierced the wall at the highest velocity. The engineers have built a thicker wall at Sandy Hook, and they are now waiting for the concrete to become hardened. This will have taken place by January, when also the fourteen-inch gun will have been equipped with a new lever and ready for use.

During the firing of the shots from the twelve-inch gun in the last tests, it was calculated that the blow delivered was sufficient to penetrate an armor plate twenty-two inches thick.
